

Dolphins To Swim At Ga. Tech Today

Will Remain For Southeastern AAU's To Be Staged In Atlanta Tomorrow

Carolina's record-shattering Blue Dolphins left last night for Atlanta, Georgia, where they will engage Georgia Tech in a dual meet this afternoon. This will be the second time that the Blue Dolphins have met Georgia Tech in a dual meet, the score of the first one having been 60-15 in Carolina's favor.

The Dolphins will remain in Atlanta to compete in the Southeastern AAU Invitation Meet to be held Saturday afternoon and evening. The preliminaries will take place in the afternoon and the finals in the evening. This will be much the same type of meet as was held here in the Bowman Gray Memorial pool last week, in which the Dolphins put on a fine show to garner 40 points. An additional team, however, representing the Jacksonville Naval Air Station will be competing and Coach Casey says that they have little information on the strength of the sailors.

The Dolphins will again be without the services of Co-captain Ben Ward, but are certain to be the team to beat in Atlanta.

Football Team Will Continue Drills Next Week

Workouts are continuing for the 90-odd candidates who reported for winter football drills last Monday, and the first week will come to a close with drills this afternoon.

Most of the work has been on fundamentals of the game and conditioning work, with stress on kicking, passing, running and blocking.

The practice sessions are to last for three more weeks, when a layoff will be in effect until the first week in April.

Chi Psi Visitors

Visiting the Chi Psi Lodge this week are Brothers Paul Nord and Jun Gugert, both of whom are former lieutenants junior grade in the Navy and are planning to return to school next quarter. Both Nord and Gugert left the campus in the spring of 1942.

Local Ringmen Go To N. Y. To Meet Army

Bos Beckwith Out, Stancil Fills In

As is the case of all other North Carolina Tar Heel teams, the Blue and White boxers will take to the road this week-end, as they travel to West Point, N. Y. meeting Army's powerful and unbeaten leather slingers Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Coach Jule Medwin and his outfit will be the definite underdogs to the rolling Pointers, who have bowled over three competitors in Penn State, Maryland, and the Coast Guard Academy.

Although Carolina will be without the services of Bos Beckwith, who is unable to compete, the following boys will carry the hopes of a Tar Heel victory: Gordy, Roth, Lodge, Lenz, Mallard, Richardson, Stancil, and McGee. Ed McGee, who fought in the 175-pound class last week, will be back in his heavy slot with Stancil filling in the 175 in place of Beckwith.

Conference Cage Tournery Tickets Almost Sold Out

By United Press

The Southern Conference basketball tournament, which opens in Raleigh on February 28th, is already a virtual sellout. In fact, so many mail order requests have been received that officials are advising those who have not already written for tickets to hold off doing so, at least for the time being.

J. L. Vonglahn, director of athletics at North Carolina State, says that it is doubtful that enough tickets are available to fill the requests already received.

"B" Courtmen Meet Fort Bragg Tonight

The Jayvee Baby Phantoms of Carolina journey to Fort Bragg tonight to play and will return to Chapel Hill to battle Granby High, of Norfolk, Va., Saturday night.

Probable starters for the Jayvees will be Leach and McSpaden at guards, Nimitz and Holt at forward slots and Bailey at center.

The Jayvees have won six games thus far in the season while losing one. Their six wins include two thrillers over the Duke JV five.

Girls' Cage Team Takes Dunn Stars By Score Of 34-23

The Carolina girls' basketball team opened its season last night with a sparkling 34-23 victory over the Dunn All-Stars. Carolina started off slowly, not really starting to hit the basket until well into the second quarter. The game was marked by rough, fast play, and Carolina used few substitutes until they were well in the lead.

High scorer for Carolina was Joyce Fowler who dropped in 17 points, using a hook shot. Although she was missing the basket regularly in the first half, she got her eye in the second frame and contributed largely to the victory. High score for the Dunn All-Stars was Johnson with a total of 11.

Dunn collected the most fouls, Naylor of that team being disqualified for committing four personal fouls.

Viola Hoyle played a brilliant game as a forward for Carolina, blocking several passes, unusual for that position in a girls' basketball game.

Carolina took advantage of a recent ruling to dribble the ball out from the sidelines after it had gone out of bounds.

Players for Carolina were: Joyce Fowler, Ida Prince, Viola Hoyle, Dot Janssen, Meadie Montgomery, Ann Farr, Nancy Helm, Marilyn Carmichael, Lou Hull, Grace Towery, Jane Heilner and Mary Nichol. W. Simpson was the official.

The team will next participate in a playday next Saturday with four other college teams, and their next regular game will be with the College of Charleston.

White Phantoms Travel Away To Take On Maryland Quint

Phantoms Fade Revamped Five In Loop Battle

Cagers Face Tough Week-end Of Play

By Irwin Smallwood

The Carolina White Phantoms attempt to hurdle the first of two tough obstacles slated for this weekend tonight, meeting the University of Maryland in College Park at 8 o'clock. The Tar Heels defeated the Old Liners decisively here a few weeks ago, but the Maryland five has since knocked off Duke's high-flying Blue Devils.

After the skirmish tonight, the Phants will move on to Annapolis, where they are scheduled to tangle with unbeaten Navy tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The Navy tilt combined with the Maryland encounter constitutes probably Carolina's hardest weekend since they took on NYU and St. Joseph during Christmas, for both these clubs were victorious against Duke two weeks ago.

Starting for Coach Ben Carnevale tonight will be the same five that has seen the opening toss for the past several games, with Johnny Dillon and Bob Paxton at forwards, Bones McKinney at center, and Jim Jordan and Jim White at guards.

Held in close reserve will be Don Anderson, Tee Thorne and Red Hughes, with Jim Hayworth and Roger Scholbe coming next in line for action.

For Maryland tonight Gleasner, who starred with the terrific Pre-Flight quint here last season, will be leading the field, and the Liners are rated as having a good chance to upset the Phantoms.

Navy, by virtue of its unbeaten record and recent victory over Penn State's potent five, will hold the favored position over the Tar Heels tomorrow afternoon.

2—Lewis vs. ROTC 2nd Company; Court No. 3—Ringers vs. Marine No. 1; Court No. 4—St. Anthony vs. Zeta Psi. At 5 o'clock the following play: Court No. 1—Kappa Sigma vs. Kappa Alpha; Court No. 2—BVP vs. Whitehead; Court No. 3—Psi Lambda Phi vs. Phi Delta Theta No. 1; Court No. 4—Graham vs. ROTC 4th Company.

Matmen Face Cavaliers In Return Bout Tonight

Tar Heel Grapplers Hold One Win Over Virginia; Meet To Be There

The Carolina matmen will attempt to regain their winning ways tonight at 8:00 o'clock when they tangle with the Virginia grapplers in a return meet at Charlottesville. Coach Quinlan's men took a decisive 24-8 victory in the first encounter, but the absence of both Art Bluthenthal and Bill Kemp from the Carolina line-up is expected to weaken the team in the upper weights.

In trying to fill these vacancies, Quinlan has done some shifting of weights, and the line-up will find Demote Rosemann in the 145 pound slot and once-beaten Dick Seaver shifted to 155. Archie Thompson, who wrestled 165 against Appalachian, will wrestle that same weight tonight, and Bill Crutchfield, a newcomer to the team, fills the 175 pound berth.

In the lower weights, Irwin Smallwood, who has been looking consistently better in practice this week, has jumped into the 121 pound slot, and Dick Johnston will be holding down his regular position at 128.

Tommy Hearn, undefeated 136 pounder, has been nursing a rib injury during the week, but will be ready to go in an attempt to keep his slate clean.

Big Al Crawford will be seeking his fourth pin in as many starts; as yet no one has lasted much more than a minute with the former AAU champ.

The matmen boast a record of two wins and a single defeat as they go into tonight's match, their only setback being at the hands of Duke by a 19-11 count. Following tonight's meet, Coach Quinlan's crew will meet Duke Tuesday night at Durham, and will close the season in Atlanta on the 16th in a meet with Georgia Tech.
