Indian Navy Revolt Seems Near Finish

Street Fighting Still Continues

New York, Feb. 22.—There were street battles in Bombay where British Tommies and Indian police tried to halt frenzied mobs.

However tonight the back of the Indian mutiny may now be broken although the fighting continues. Responding to a plea for peace from one of Ghandi's lieutenant's, leaders of the mutineers approved a resolution to surrender to the Indian people. The resolution is regarded as the first step in the unconditional surrender British authorities are demanding.

Two Halves of Tanker Discovered in Pacific

Los Angeles, Feb. 22.—Half the broken hull of a Russian tanker has been sighted drifting in high seas in the North Pacific, with part of her crew clinging to the deck. The ship apparently broke in half Sunday. Since then, the after half has been adrift with at least 23 persons including some women. Some 16 persons were seen on the forward part, which now is lost. The coast guard in Ketchikan, Alaska, says an American ship is standing by to rescue any survivors, while others are en route to help.

420 Victims in German Mine Explosion Lost

New York, Feb. 22.—All hope has been abandoned for the 420 victims of another disaster—A mine explosion in Unna, Germany. Fifty-nine survivors and 11 bodies were brought to the surface of the coal shaft yesterday, but a second series of explosions blocked further rescue work. Work has begun to seal the 25-thousand foot tomb with concrete.

Stalin Outlines New Goals for Red Army

Moscow, Feb. 22.—Russian Premier Joseph Stalin tonight outlined the peacetime objectives of his powerful Red Army.

In an order of the day marking Red Army Day, Stalin hailed the Russian Military Machine as the best in the world. He said, there is no place for complacency in the Red Army and urged its officers and men to perfect in peacetime the lessons they learned in war.

While Russia becomes strong, Stalin says it is the job of the Red Army to watch the safety of the workers of the Soviet Union.

Generalissimo Greeted Stalin on Army Day

New York, Feb. 22.—While Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek sent a congratulatory message to Stalin on Red Army Day, 20-thousand Chinese demonstrators in Chungking staged an anti-Russian, anti-Communist parade. The students, called on the government to "get tough" with Russia in the Manchurian occupation. They also smashed the offices of the Communist New China Daily.

USSR Paper Attacks Canadian Government

London, Feb. 22.—The official Soviet government paper, Izvestia, has launched a new attack on Canada.

Stanbach Chosen By UCP to Run For Council Post

Bud Stanbach has been nominated by the United Carolina Party to run against Frank C. Williams in the special election for a ROTC representative to the Student Council.

The election, to be held Tuesday, Feb. 26, in Lenoir Hall, was made necessary by Jim Burdin's resignation.

Stanbach entered Carolina in July, 1944, as a member of the V-12 unit. He transferred to ROTC in July, 1945. Before coming here he attended high school in Philadelphia, where he was outstanding in sports and student government.

He is a member of the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity and a representative to the Interfraternity Council.

House Urges Responsibility Of Individuals

"That kind of love is never free. It always costs something," said Chancellor R. B. House in answer to the question, "Are social standards as to drinking and free love set by fraternities?" which a student put to him at the YM-YW supper forum last night. "And drinking seems to be fairly well distributed between fraternity and non-fraternity people."

"It is not a policeman, but the desire for a good life which is the best corrector," he said.

"I have no doubt and I have evidence that drinking does go on in fraternity houses and in men's dormitories and in other places. But in order to enforce this rule 100 per cent we would have to have an incorruptible policeman for every student. Don't try to say fraternities or any other organizations are responsible. It is you who are to choose your own conduct. I think more is done in this community than in any more regimented place I know of."

At this "Town Hall of the Campus" the original question was, "Are fraternities irresponsible?" The chancellor's answer was a definite no, while Walt Brinkley, who spoke as the student representative, said, "Socially, fraternities are on the spot. If one member does something immoral, the rest of the fraternity and fraternities in general are criticized. If a non-member creates a scandal, it is blamed on him alone."

Husbands Leaves For Richmond Job

Ben Husbands, chief of the Veterans Administration guidance center here, left this week to assume his new duties as chief of vocational advisement in the administration's Richmond, Va., office, which has jurisdiction over Virginia, North Carolina, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Mack E. Kelly has been appointed acting chief to replace Mr. Husbands. He helped Mr. Husbands open the local guidance center in January, 1945, was later assigned elsewhere, and returned here last month.

Rice Explains Closing Down Of Union Grill

South Building Action Necessary

An explanation of the congested food situation on the campus was given recently as Martha Rice, Graham Memorial director, explained the tie-up in the facilities of the Graham Memorial Grill, formerly one of the top dining halls at the University. University Property B. F.

University Property

Holdup in the reopening of the student eating center seems to stem from South Building. Miss Rice explained that at present the Grill and equipment are the property of the University and not Graham Memorial administration. Formerly it was operated on a basis similar to Lenoir Hall. After the Pre-flight school left early last fall, it was closed, and as yet the administration has not seen fit to reopen it.

Further clarifying the situation Miss Rice stated; "Several years ago as an aid to Graham Memorial, the University came to our rescue and started supplying the maintenance of the building and full time maid and janitor service for us. This was an extremely large item of expense on our budget. In return for this they took over the Grill and its equipment, which they operated until a few months ago."

Urged Reopening

"I have urged along with the Graham Memorial Board of Directors, and we are still urging, the University to reopen it, not only as a cafeteria but also as a snack bar and soda fountain. This would be kept open all day

Dr. Odum Accepts Invitation to Teach One Year at Yale

Professor Howard W. Odum has accepted an invitation to be an instructor at Yale University next fall for one year. The trustees of Yale have founded "a distinguished visiting professorship" for sociology and Dr. Odum is the first person appointed to this position. He has been granted a leave of absence by the University.

While at Yale Dr. Odum will teach four courses, one graduate and one undergraduate, in each of two semesters. He will also give a series of lectures on sociological subjects.

Dr. Odum's appointment to Yale is in recognition of his achievements as a sociologist and of his high standing as a student of regionalism in American social and economic development.

Viennese Musical Scheduled March 7

America's Outstanding Young Artists To Appear in Charles Wagner Production

"A Night in Old Vienna," an attempt to recapture the spirit and flavor of a musical evening when Vienna was at its height, will be presented by the Student Entertainment Committee, Thursday, March 7, in Memorial Hall at 8:30 p. m.

Charles L. Wagner, known as the Dean of American Impresarios, is the producer of "A Night in Old Vienna," to be presented here March 7 in Memorial Hall. Mr. Wagner's handpicked young stars will entertain with various selections from the heart of cultural Europe.

Impresario Charles L. Wagner has picked a handful of America's outstanding young stars to present his production, which includes some of the greatest works of Haydn, Mozart, Schubert and Brahms. Lifting airs, waltzes, czardas and polkas, which sprang from the spirit of the heart of cultural Europe, will be on the program.

Highlights from Martha

The scene will open in the home of Prince Esterhazy, a distinguished patron of the arts. The artists whom the prince has engaged for the evening are scheduled to sing, in costume, highlights from the opera, "Martha," in celebration of its 40th anniversary.

Among the young stars to appear in the production are: Mona Bradford, lovely contralto of Chicago Opera fame; Laura Castellano, lyric coloratura who starred with Bradford in several operas; John Gurney, a bass-baritone of the Metropolitan; Eduardo Rael, a newcomer who has sung for the past two seasons with the New York City Center Opera Company. Richard Gordon, young tenor from the mid-west, makes his concert debut in "A Night in Old Vienna." He doubles as vocalist and master-of-ceremonies.

Giuseppe Bamboschek is musical director. He was general musical secretary and conductor of the Metropolitan opera for years.

UNC Professors Will Participate In Duke Meeting

A large group of University professors will participate in the third annual Renaissance Meeting for North Carolina to be held in the East Duke Building of the Woman's College of Duke University today.

The morning program will get under way at 10 o'clock with Prof. Hardin Craig of the Carolina English Department serving as chairman of a session on Ben Jonson.

Papers to be presented will be by Profs. B. L. Ullman, head of the Classics Department at Carolina; U. T. Holmes, Department of Romance Languages, Carolina, and Ernest W. Talbert and Robert S. Rogers of the Duke English and Latin Departments respectively.

Carrboro Bus Service May Begin Next Week

Plans are being made for bus service between Chapel Hill and Carrboro. Irvin J. Watts, manager of the company which has received a franchise from both towns, says he hopes to begin operations next week.

Service will be from 6:30 a.m. until 11:20 p.m. and will be routed through Westwood and Davie Woods. The fare will be 10 cents with free transfers.
