Working Setup For UNO Posed By Vandenberg

Michigan Solon Addresses Senate

Washington, Feb. 27.—One of the founders of the United Nations Organization—a man who has watched it from its birth in San Francisco to the first meeting in London—has a formula tonight for making it work.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg—a Republican from Michigan—has made a full dress report on the recent conference at London, on what he calls "37 vital days." And Vandenberg has come to the conclusion that peace depends on mutual understanding of Russia's Communism and American Democracy.

"We must," he says, "speak as plainly as Russia does on all occasions. We must state our ideals as vigorously as Russia. And," Vandenberg continues, "we must draw a line behind which we will not compromise our ideals."

Speaking to a packed Senate chamber and crowded galleries, the Senator from Michigan emphasized that the United Nations must be made to succeed because it cannot fail in an age when—as Vandenberg put it—"War may be waged in minutes instead of years and when the first casualty list may be the last."

Pauley's Statement Is Expected Today

Washington, Feb. 27.—President Truman's choice for Navy Under-Secretary will have to wait until tomorrow to give his prepared statement on why he won't withdraw his nomination. The Senate Naval Affairs Committee recessed this evening without giving Pauley a chance to read his explanation. However, Pauley was forced to sit by while United Airlines President William Patterson, gave some sensational and damaging testimony. Patterson said that Pauley—and other members of the Democratic National Committee—sought party funds from him in a manner he considered illegal.

Wage-Price Policy Defended By Heads

Washington, Feb. 27.—The new wage-price policy—especially the price angle—was the subject of testimony today by the two top guardians of the nation's economy. Both Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles and Reconversion Director John Snyder challenged estimates that the new policy will boost living costs 10 per cent. They assured Congressional committees that inflation can be licked if everybody cooperates.

The Senate, meantime, acted to hold prices of basic foods in line by approving a bill authorizing increased federal subsidies for meat and flour. But the Senate was not so kind to the government's price enforcement agency. It jolted OPA plans for extra price enforcement officers by halving funds which the agency had requested to combat the threat of inflation.

Golden New President Of Woman's Government

Goerch Elected Speaker by Wide Margin; Laird, Craig Are Named to Legislature

Final tabulations of the voting in the coed elections Tuesday reveal that Fran Golden won the election for president of Woman's Government Association with a total of 343 votes. Ann Robinson, who will automatically be vice president of WGA, received 304 votes. Out of approximately 740 undergraduate coeds 650 voted in this election. This is the highest percentage of voters in elections held by the coeds. Fran Golden carried McIver, Spencer, Smith, Kenan, Carr, and Alderman according to election returns. She received a greater majority of votes in Kenan than in the other dormitories. Ann Robinson carried Smith and the "Y."

Sibyl Goerch defeated Jerry Atkins for the position of speaker of the coed senate with 361 votes to Miss Atkins' 261. In the race for president of the Woman's Athletic Association, Jeanne Driscoll won with 349 votes. Jean Roddey received 280 votes.

The elected candidates for two WGA representatives to the student legislature were Nancy Laird with 337 votes and Eleanor Craig with 311 votes. The other candidates, Penny Durham and Betty Washburn, received 299 and 274 votes respectively.

Jane Bentley was elected secretary to WGA with a total of 348 votes. Janet Johnston received 274. Blanche Jacobi received 366 votes to win the election for treasurer of WGA. Kathryn Freeman received 260 votes.

The new vice president of WAA will be Judy Swain, who received 299 votes.

Students Must Pass Physical Examination Before Registration

To be eligible to register for the spring quarter, all students will have to clear the physical examination requirement with the infirmary on one of the following dates: March 1 (Friday), 9:00 a.m.-4 p.m.; and March 2, (Saturday), 9:00 a.m.-12:00 noon. At much expense the infirmary has arranged to give the examinations on these dates, and after these dates the examination for any students will constitute "late registration" for the spring quarter, for which there is a fee of $5.00 to be strictly enforced.

This ruling does not apply to those students who have already had their examinations. However, (about one thousand) students who entered school in January did not receive their examination, and they will receive a card within a few days to that effect, stating the above information.

Summer School Students

All students now in school here, who are planning to attend Summer School, should not apply for applications (only new students do this), but should see the Cashier in the basement of South Building to reserve their room for the summer term, the Admissions office said yesterday.

Council Forms Committee For Elections

Vance Scores Work Of Elections Group

Charlie Vance has announced the formation of a special standing committee of student government to investigate the last campus election, study the present elections bill and recommend to the student legislature possible changes in the methods of conducting elections in the future.

The committee will consist of Ed Emack, chairman, Twig Branch, Archie Hood, Lib Schofield, Allan Pannill, Meadie Montgomery, and Ruth Duncan.

Vance has issued the following statement in regard to the work of the new committee: "The manner in which the recent campus election was held has proved a disgrace to student government. Certainly no one person nor one committee can be blamed for all the inefficiency which seemed to have reached a new height in the secretary treasurer run-off. The elections committee is at fault for not carrying out the provisions of the elections bill. The student body is at fault for not reporting any and all violations of the election rules; such as campaigning within fifty feet of the polls; and the student council is blamed for not lending more aid to the enforcement of the election rules, although it should not be our duty to be a police force.

"We feel that the Election bill itself bears much of the blame because it calls for these off season elections. The very light response in the last election proved that the students do not want to go to the polls every month or so. This light response on the part of the student body adds to the ridicule of calling a campus wide election to fill a post which will again be vacated in two months.

"By appointing a special committee to investigate the

Bomb Defense Is Doubtful

Notre Dame Professor Says Problem Insoluble

No defense against the atomic bomb is known now, "not even in principle, and it is doubtful if any such defense will be developed," Dr. Milton Burton, a member of the Association of Oak Ridge Scientists and of the Federation of Atomic Scientists, said in an address here last night.

The statement of one organization, he said, that a weapon to detonate an atomic bomb wherever it might be located has been developed has been "greeted with stony calm, not to say derision by the scientists who have been involved in the production of the

Technicolor Film Billed for Tonight In Student Union

Graham Memorial's week-end slate of social activities commences tonight with the showing of the interesting technicolor film "North Carolina, Variety Vacationland."

Martha Rice announced that the movie will be shown at 7:30 o'clock in the main lounge, and strongly urged all students to come prepared to sit on the floor as no seating can be arranged for the affair.

The film, which lasts forty minutes, carries the audience on a short tour of North Carolina's prime points of interest.

Beginners in Bridge Invited To Attend Tonight's Contest

"All types of bridge players are welcome—beginners, average, and expert players," said William B. Woodson, director of Graham Memorial bridge tournaments, referring to the regular Thursday night contract bridge contest, which will be held tonight in the "baby" lounge of the student union beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Novices Welcome

"You do not need any special knowledge about duplicate bridge to play in these tournaments. If you have played at least one rubber of bridge in the Y, you are qualified," he stated further. Winners in last Thursday's tournament were: North-South, Brent and William Woodson, 55½ match points; East-West, Jones and Turner, 48 match points.

Woodson, a graduate student in business administration from Salisbury, is assisted in the tour-namment direction by his sister, Brent Woodson. Miss Woodson is a fourth year commerce student and a member of Chi Omega sorority.

Play commences at 7:30 p. m. sharp and is usually over by 10 p. m. All players who arrive by 7:30 p. m. will get a chance to play. Contest aspirants not having partners may be paired off at the tourney.

Entrance Fee

An entrance fee of 25c per person is charged, the total receipts being divided between the two winning teams as prizes.

Depending upon the number of tables at the tournaments either Howell or Mitchell movements are used. In the Mitchell movement, there are two teams of winners—the high North-South pair and the high East-West pair. In the Howell movement there is only one winning team.

EDUARDO RAEL

Wagner Show Has Mexican As Baritone

When Charles L. Wagner's presentation of "A Night in Old Vienna" appears in Memorial Hall, March 7, the baritone role will be taken by Eduardo Rael.

Of Indian and Spanish ancestry, the young baritone was born in Taos, New Mexico. When he was a child he took delight in participating in Spanish, native and American Indian dances, fiestas, and pageants of the Southwest.

His course of training began when he received a scholarship to the Cincinnati College of Music. After attending the Juilliard Institute of Musical Art, he eventually came to grand opera.

Mr. Rael has played in various stock and U.S.O. camp shows. His voice has reached vast audiences through radio, concert stage, and light opera.

Charles L. Wagner has chosen young Rael for the baritone role in "A Night in Old Vienna," knowing that he is a great addition to the unique attraction. Laura Castellano, Mona Bradford, Richard Gordon, and John Gurney will also be in the production. Giuseppe Bamboschek will be at the piano.

Committee Plans Runoff Election For Wednesday

The run off election for secretary-treasurer of the student body between Bob Stockton and Blount Stewart will be held next Wednesday, according to an announcement of the elections committee. The run off was made necessary because of the nullification of the previous election by the student legislature last week on the grounds that the provisions of the elections bill had not been carried out.

There will be a special meeting of the elections committee today at 2 o'clock in the Grail room at which all political party chairmen, campaign managers, party publicity chairmen, and candidates will be required to attend. According to Walt Brinkley, chairman of the committee, only Stewart and Stockton are eligible to run in this special election.

The meeting of the Graham Memorial Board of Directors scheduled for today has been postponed.

White Phants Face Battle From Terps

McKinney, Dillon Prepared To Play

By Irwin Smallwood

The 1946 edition of the Carolina White Phantoms, sporting a won-lost record of 26 and three, will stake their Southern conference title on the block tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Raleigh's Memorial auditorium, meeting a strong club from the University of Maryland.

Maryland, although twice beaten by the Tar Heels of Ben Carnevale and Pete Mullis, gave Carolina a close call at College Park a few weeks ago, and many are giving the Old Liners a good chance to upset the locals in the initial battle tonight.

However, the Maryland crew will not have the advantage of a home court in the tussle tonight, and the Tar Heels will be out to avenge the close call they had in Maryland.

Light Drills

Coach Carnevale sent the Tar Heels through light, though extensive, drills yesterday afternoon before calling it a closed chapter until tonight. "Their shooting was a lot better today," Carnevale said at the conclusion of the workout. "They are in pretty good shape for the contest with Maryland, but Bones

Phi Assembly Gives Approval To Labor Bill

Voting to uphold the 65-cent an hour wage bill, the Phi Assembly Tuesday night advocated the passage of the Pepper-Hook Bill currently before the United States Senate. Introduced by Al Lowenstein, who urged approval of the bill on the grounds that it would be of great value in improving the present living conditions of the Southern laborer, the Assembly vote lacked one of being unanimous. Several other speakers requested its passage on the ground that it would benefit the common man in general as well as improve Southern living standards.

A bill expressing disapproval of the proposed appointment of Edwin Pauley as Under-Secretary of the Navy was passed. Roy Thompson cautioned the Assembly not to take a stand on every measure before Congress and to use judgment in sending letters endorsed by the Assembly to Representatives and Senators.

The Assembly voted unanimously to notify the Art Department that they will be unable to use the Phi Hall after this term.

Eastern Air Lines Representative

Miss Alice Eckoff, of Eastern Air Lines, will be on the campus today and Friday, March 1, to interview people who are interested in positions with Eastern Air Lines. Appointments for interviews may be made in the Vocational Office, 209 South.
