May Introduces Bill For Draft Extension

Washington, March 4—A bill to extend the draft six months beyond the present expiration date of May 15 has been introduced by Chairman Andrew May of the house military affairs committee. However, the proposal would rob selective service of its biggest manpower reservoir—the 18-year-olds—for it would limit inductees to physically-fit men between 21 and 25. May's bill also would ban the drafting of fathers without their consent. Fathers aren't being called up now anyway.

Stockton Only Name on Ballot In Election

The campus wide student election for secretary-treasurer will be held tomorrow with only one candidate listed on the ballot, according to an announcement made today by the chairman of the election committee, Walt Brinkley.

The fact that it is a runoff election between two candidates, one of whom has withdrawn from the race, has resulted in this unusual situation.

Bob Stockton will be the candidate running. The name of Blount Stewart will remain on the ballot but will have a line drawn through it, according to Brinkley.

There will be monitors stationed at the polls to see that the election rules are kept. People breaking the rule will be given one warning after which they will be reported to the student council.

Brinkley has stressed that there will not be any campaigning allowed within fifty feet of the polls.

The polls will be open in Kenan Dorm and the lower quad from 1 to seven p. m., at the Y from 9 in the morning to five in the afternoon and at the Med school from 1 to 5 p. m.

11 Representatives Are Named by Coeds To Senate Positions

Eleven representatives to the Coed Senate and two house presidents were elected yesterday, and a runoff will be held later this week to determine the two senators from Smith.

Jo Ferris defeated Blanche Jacobi for the presidency of Spencer, and Nonnie Morris won over Evelyn Tindel in the race for the top post in McIver.

Senators elected in dormitory balloting were Gloria Robbins and Bettie Washburn, Carr; Jerry Hobbs and Ann Morris, McIver; Betty Anne Green and Peggy Rankin, Spencer; Rosemary Cleveland and Sara Tillett, Alderman; Mary Jim Neal, Archer; Sally Joyce, graduate, and Mona Bensel, undergraduate, Kenan. Fannie Farmer was elected Kenan's graduate representative to the student legislature.

Close voting in Smith will call for a runoff for the Senate post between Helen Morrison, Shirley Small and Sarah Wood.

Coed senate speaker Lib Schofield announced last night that all newly-elected senators will be expected to attend the body's meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial to become acquainted with the senate's work.

WGA officers elected during the past week will not take office until April, following the officer's training program.
