Byrnes Sends Warning Notes To Russians

Red Policies Scored In Manchuria, Iran

Washington, March 5.—The United States has sent Russia two notes tonight—one on Manchuria, the other on Iran.

The notes were dispatched shortly after Secretary of State Byrnes told newsmen that Russia was violating wartime agreements by stripping Manchurian cities of their war factories. Although the contents of the notes have not been revealed, it's believed that Byrnes has warned Russia against taking Manchurian industrial equipment out of the country.

The Manchurian situation is expected to come to a head in 10 days time when an inter-Allied reparations commission for Japan is established. There will undoubtedly be sharp differences between the United States and Russia over "war booty in Manchuria."

The other note is expected to support British and Iranian protests to Russia for failing to withdraw her troops from Iran last Saturday. Byrnes sent the note shortly after he received a visit from the Iranian ambassador to Washington.

At the other end of the diplomatic tussle, an Iranian spokesman in Moscow says no agreement has been reached in the discussions between Iranian Premier Ahmad Ghavam Sultaneh and Soviet negotiators. Ghavam will leave the Russian capital for Teheran as soon as he is able to make the trip.

Chicago, March 5.—A nationwide walkout by two of the nation's major railroad brotherhoods has been called for 6 a. m. March 11th. Officials of both the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers and Brotherhood of Railway trainmen says that orders already have been sent to locals.

Anglo-American Union Posed by Churchill

Fulton, Missouri, March 5.—Winston Churchill said today that Russia seeks "the indefinite expansion" of her "power and doctrines" but does not desire war. He called for a permanent Anglo-American military alliance which might some day include common citizenship. Great Britain's wartime leader was introduced by President Truman as he spoke to an audience of college students and rural Missourians gathered to see him receive an honorary degree from Westminster College. Churchill denounced the manner in which communists in Europe have obtained what he called "power far beyond their numbers—and are seeking everywhere to obtain totalitarian control." Pointing to what he called the Soviet "shadow upon scenes so lately lighted by the Allied victory," the former British Prime Minister called for firm and immediate steps. These include establishment of an international armed force by the United Nations Organization to prevent another war. He said it would be wrong to give the atomic bomb secrets to the UNO—that they should be held for the time being by this country, Great Britain, and Canada.

Industrialist Speaks Here

Sherwood to Talk On Big Business

Seeking to give the Carolina student body some variety in speaker presentation, the Philosophy Department and the Daily Tar Heel will present a representative of big business and management to speak in Graham Memorial tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Robert Sherwood, an industrial executive with a wide Wall Street background, will be introduced by Dr. L. O. Kattsoff, who was instrumental in inviting the capitalist to Carolina. According to information received by Dr. Kattsoff, Sherwood will outline the progress which this nation has made under capitalism, why capital has taken its attitude toward labor, the future of labor and capital in the United States, and why capitalism must continue under free enterprise if the future welfare of the nation is to be secure.

Following the introductory speech, the floor will be thrown open to questions. Sherwood, because of his long experience with banking, finance, labor, and economics, will be able to interpret current problems on the national scene.

Sigma Alpha Iota was organized in 1903 at the University School of Music, Ann Arbor, Michigan. At present there are 88 chapters and 16,000 members in the fraternity. The new chapter here at Chapel Hill will be granted a charter in the near future.

Members for the fraternity are carefully selected. They show potentialities of strength, leadership, adaptability, and their reputations in school life are of unquestioned moral and scholastic integrity. The aims of Sigma Alpha Iota are to promote musical activities in the school and to allow the individual to represent the highest possible ideals in school work and general activities. A member, to be eligible for membership, must be either a major or minor in music, have a faculty recommendation, and show excellence in scholastic and musical ability.

Runoff Election For Student Post Scheduled Today

A run-off election for the student government post of secretary-treasurer is being held today and Bob Stockton is the only candidate running because of the withdrawal of Blount Stewart.

Polls will be open in Kenan Dorm and the lower quad from 1 to 7 p.m., at the Y from 9 in the morning to 5 in the afternoon and at the Med school from 1 to 5 p.m.

Monitors will be stationed near the polls to prevent electioneering within 50 feet of the polls. Illegal electioneering was one of the reasons for the run-over election. This election will be strictly supervised, Walt Brinkley, election committee chairman announced.

Phantoms Join NYU, Harvard, Ohio State, In March 21 Classic

The University of North Carolina basketball team has received and accepted a bid to play in the eastern division playoffs of the NCAA cage tournament in New York March 21-23, it was announced late yesterday afternoon by Chuck Erickson, assistant director of athletics here.

Announcement of the move also came from Norman Shepard, of Davidson college, who is chairman of the No. 3 district committee of the NCAA, and it was in climax to three days of controversy and guessing on the part of the press and fans in North Carolina.

"I'm sure glad we got it," Coach Ben Carnevale said last night, "for the boys all deserved it. They didn't have but one really bad night in 31 games, and it just happened to come in the tournament. The decision whether to accept was left up to them, and they voted unanimously to accept."

"The regular season is over," Carnevale continued, "but after a one-week rest, the boys will be back at work and will be ready to go to the playoffs in New York and do their best. They really want to redeem themselves." See WHITE PHANTOMS, page 4

Indiana Professor Defends Wisdom of Required Courses

By Associated Collegiate Press "But why?" they say. "Why do I have to take that?" A history major wonders why he is required to take chemistry or algebra or physics. A math major wonders why he is required to take English composition. They shake their heads in bewilderment and feel very mistreated.

It may seem strange to some of these students, but the truth is that the powers-that-be are not demons who concoct the required curriculum in boiling witches cauldrons. They have the students' interest at heart.

Problem Is Centuries Old The problem of what really makes a good education is centuries old. Even then educators were attempting to put forth a curriculum which would be perfect, one that would draw out the best in each person.

Noted Tenor Appears Here In Musical

Richard Gordon, tenor star of Charles L. Wagner's "A Night In Old Vienna," which will play here Thursday evening, approached the concert stage via the night club route. At Chicago's famed Palmer House, he earned such a success and built up such a loyal clientele that he was re-engaged for many months.

Gordon is much more than a night club entertainer. He is well schooled, artistic and serious in his music. For three years he was a leading tenor with the Chicago Opera Company, and a guest with the Milwaukee and St. Paul Operas. He has sung concerts of distinction throughout the mid-west and Canada. He has also appeared with the Minneapolis Symphony.

Possessor of a genial personality, Gordon is the ideal Master of Ceremonies in Thursday night's program. Giuseppe Bamboschek, who for many years was general musical secretary of the Metropolitan Opera, will serve as Musical Director to Gordon and his four colleagues in this program of Viennese music. Mona Bradford, contralto of the Chicago Opera; Laura Castellano, New York lyric soprano; John Gurney, basso of the Metropolitan Opera; and Eduardo Rael, baritone of the Boston Opera Company, will also be in the program of musical entertainment.

S&F Prepares For Opening Friday Night

By Posey Emerson

"Pep it up girls, the show's not going on next year, but this week. Come on, we're going through that number again, remember it's not a funeral march."

Memorial Hall is alive with activity this week. Most any time you stop by there you will either watch Patty Harry direct a chorus line, see Chris Rosemond or Brad McCuen direct a skit rehearsal, or hear Billy Sasser play one of his own famous arrangements. Sound and Fury members are really down to business this week for the "State of the Campus," is soon to be told and they haven't a moment to spare. The production is being given Friday and Saturday nights in Memorial Hall.

Committee members can be seen scurrying about attending to a million and one things. If you happened downtown last Saturday noon you would have seen a huge truck arrive from parts unknown, full of scenery See SOUND AND FURY, page 4
