Russia Snubs UNO Council On Iran Tiff

Reds Balk After Stall Rejected

New York, March 27.—The United Nations faces a grave crisis tonight. Russia has walked out of the Security Council chamber and when she will be back is anybody's guess. Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko packed up his papers, nodded to his assistants, and headed for the door just after the Council refused to postpone discussion of the Iranian problem and got ready to call on Iranian Hussein Ala to state his country's case. The Russians had warned that they would walk out if the Iranian discussions were begun before April 10th. They stuck to their word.

When called on the ambassador from little Iran started off by hurling a direct contradiction to Generalissimo Stalin of the world's biggest nation. Ala says that he knows of no agreement, or understanding secret or otherwise, having been made recently between his government and the Soviet Union.

Generalissimo Stalin and his representatives have said that an agreement has been made between Russia and Iran over the evacuation of Red Army troops from Iran.

Wanted Azerbaijan Oil

Then Hussein Ala revealed that in February, when Iran Premier Ghavam was in Moscow, the Russians asked for an autonomous government for Azerbaijan province in north-west Iran and a Soviet-Iranian oil company in which the Soviet Union would hold a majority of the shares.

Ala was all set to go on when the weary council men cut short his statement and called an adjournment. Ala backed away, looking disappointed. And as he left the chamber he was heard to say: "I wasn't given a chance to get my points across. I hope to give them tomorrow. I can prove them."

Whether Soviet delegate Gromyko will be at tomorrow's session isn't known. In any case, the meeting will go on. The delegates showed clearly this afternoon that Russia's temporary withdrawal will not halt proceedings.

Detroit, March 27.—The new president of the CIO Auto Workers Union has pledged himself to work for the unification of the union.

Speaking to a crowd of cheering delegates, 38-year-old Walter Reuther told them—"I am fully conscious of the tremendous responsibility that you have placed in my hands."

"I pledge to you," he said, "that I will work toward the best unification of this union and a greater UAW."

Reuther edged out R. J. Thomas this afternoon to win the presidency of the nation's largest union by 250 votes.

Spring Term Enrollment Breaks All Time Record

Approximately 4300 Students Enrolled; Registration To Continue Through Week

An all-time record in student enrollment at the University was set when it was announced yesterday that registration for the Spring quarter was approaching 4300, an increase of nearly three hundred over the past Winter quarter. Chancellor House made the announcement after receiving a preliminary report on Spring registration as of 5:00 p.m. Tuesday, March 26, from Edwin S. Lanier, Central Records Director. As registration will continue until the end of the week, it is expected that the total enrollment will be somewhat increased when Mr. Lanier makes another report to Chancellor House on Saturday morning.

In the fall quarter of 1941, a record was set with an enrollment of 4108 students. After that time the enrollment swiftly dropped until it reached 1501 civilian students in the spring quarter of 1944. Then enrollment started climbing, and in the Winter quarter of 1946 it reached 4011, and now, with the spring quarter enrollment it has broken all previous records with a new high of nearly 4300 students.

The General College leads all divisions of the University with an enrollment of 1759 men and 49 women students for a total of 1808. The College of Arts and Sciences is second in enrollment with 449 men and 645 women, totaling 1094.

Other Totals Big

All other divisions have impressive enrollments: Commerce has 415 men and 63 women for a total of 478; Graduate School has 372 men and 161 women for a 533 total; Law School has 106 men and 7 women for 113 total; Library Science has 15 women; the first year Medical School has 38 men; Pharmacy has 88 men and 32 women for a total of 120; and Public Health has 13 men and 77 women for a total of 90.

Separate figures on how many of the students enrolled for the spring quarter are veterans has not been tabulated, but a report to that effect is expected within the next few days.

Registration Continues

Registration for this spring quarter will continue until the end of the week, and on Saturday morning Mr. Lanier will make a more complete report to Chancellor House and to Mr. Teague, Assistant Comptroller.

Union to Hear Piano Concert By Carol Finch

Miss Carol Finch, a highly gifted artist, with a background that is matched by few concert pianists, will be presented in a concert of fine classical music in Graham Memorial Lounge tonight at 8:30.

The second in a series of five entertainers to be featured under the auspices of Graham Memorial on the campus this quarter, Miss Finch has for several years played concert, radio, television, and orchestra engagements.

She was for two years president of the New York Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music sorority for women, a chapter of which has recently been established at Carolina. Other notable recitals given by Miss Finch include appearances at the Brooklyn Museum, and with the New York Civic Orchestra, and the Nassau-Suffolk Symphony.

One of the most promising of the younger American performers, attractive Miss Finch has appeared in public recitals since the age of twelve. Entering the Juilliard School of Music at thirteen, she studied under the famous musicians George A. Wedge and Howard Brockway, and received graduate and post-graduate diplomas in piano there.

At present she is a member of the music faculty at Fairleigh Dickinson Junior College. A few of the numbers included on tonight's bill are "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," Bach-Hess; "Sonata in C Major," by Scarlatti; "Kreisleriana, Op. 16," by Schumann; "Scherzo," by Griffee; and "Concert Paraphrase on the Wiener Blut Waltz," by Strauss-Hughes.

Stately Trees on Cameron Avenue Planted At Request of Wealthy University Alumnus

By Frances Walker

When walking through the University campus up Cameron avenue from New East to South building and on by Memorial Hall, a visitor will notice that the maple trees are in bloom. These stately trees, which offer deep shade in summer and orange flame in the fall, were planted at the request of Paul Carrington Cameron, for whom this street was named.

Old timers who attended Carolina at the turn of the century often heard the name of Paul Cameron, and learned to honor his memory for the things he did for Chapel Hill. Cameron was one of the wealthiest planters of his day. He is said to have owned 1900 slaves. His interests in the University were unceasing, and his efforts to improve it were untiring.

Went to Trinity

Paul Cameron, one of the most interesting personalities in North Carolina history, was the son of Judge Duncan Cameron. He was born at Stagville, Orange county, in 1808. He entered the University at 17, but remained only one year before going to what is now known as Trinity College in Hartford, Connecticut.

Was Sole Heir

When his father died in 1853, Paul Cameron became the sole heir to all the property. He not only managed his own estate but

Chautemps Says France Needs Help

Speaking before a small group of faculty and students, Tuesday night former Premier of France, Camille Chautemps, asserted that he did not want to see France become a satellite to imposing powers, but that she should take her rightful place in the UNO as a democratic power.

The French statesman spoke in Hill Hall under the auspices of the International Relations club and was introduced by Frank P. Graham, president of the University.

Chautemps explained that France, in returning to her place as an international power, needed the help and understanding of America. He traced the histories of the two nations, emphasizing the help in times of crises which each have exchanged with the other.

"It is America's tradition to love France and to enjoy the charm of my country since both are republics born from the same fundamental philosophy," he continued.

M. Chautemps said that a solution to problems arising from French domestic and foreign misunderstanding cannot be solved by ignoring them. "They cannot be overlooked. They must be buckled one by one."
