40 Lose Lives In Rail Wreck Near Chicago

Collision Results In Injury of 75

Chicago, April 25—At least 40 people have lost their lives in one of the worst rail disasters in recent history.

The crack-up occurred when the Exposition Flyer, a streamlined train of the Burlington railroad, plowed into the rear of another streamliner—at a speed of 60 miles an hour.

Police and rescue workers are at the scene of the wreck—at Naperville, Illinois, a town some 30 miles southwest of Chicago—still trying to remove the dead and dying from the smashed cars.

The Exposition Flyer which was en route to San Francisco, hit the Advance Flyer, which was en route to Lincoln, Nebraska. Witnesses say that the Advance was pulling into a by-track to let the Exposition Flyer through but didn't get off the main track in time.

The diesel engine of the Exposition is almost completely inside the smashed rear car of the Advance and it's impossible as yet to tell how many people are trapped in the wrecked rear coach.

At least 75 people have been injured but police expect that figure to soar.

Rail Brotherhoods Vote to Strike Soon

Cleveland, April 25—Two rail brotherhoods have voted unanimously to strike on May 18th unless they get some satisfactory concessions from rail operators before then. The brotherhoods say their general chairmen have flatly rejected recommendations made by President Truman's fact-finding board.

U. S. Proposes Watch on Franco

New York, April 25—The United States has proposed that the Security Council set up a special sub-committee to keep a continuous watch on the Franco regime in Spain. The proposal, whereby the Council would keep an eye on Spain so long as Franco stays in power, was advanced by American delegate Stettinius as a modification of the Australian plan for a fact-finding commission to determine whether Franco threatens world peace. However, the American and Australian plans both ran into opposition from Russia. Soviet delegate Gromyko made a lengthy speech to the council, denouncing the policy non-intervention, and the demand for more evidence.

French Want Seat In Peace Discussions

Paris, April 25—The Big Four Foreign Ministers have accepted without argument, a French request to sit in on discussions of peace treaties with the Axis satellites. French Foreign Minister Bidault submitted the request shortly after the representatives of Russia, Great Britain and the United States started their conference in Paris.

Eastern Commission Decides on Jap Food

Washington, April 25—The Far Eastern Commission has decided that no additional food will be sent into Japan—just the amount necessary for the safety of the occupation forces.

Woestendiek, Green Nominated by Student Party

University Party Nominates Publications Heads Nominations Deferred On Yackety-Yack Editor

Tar Heel Sports Editor Wins Nomination Of New Party by Wide Margin on First Vote

The Student Party last night nominated Bill Woestendiek and Betty Ann Green for the posts of Daily Tar Heel editor and Carolina Mag editor respectively. Decision was deferred on a nomination for editor of the Yackety Yack and for members of the Publications Union Board.

Woestendiek, rising senior from Saugerties, New York, was nominated on the first ballot by a wide margin. Miss Green, a rising senior from Lake City, South Carolina, was given the Mag nomination by an overwhelming margin.

Qualifications

Coming to UNC in 1940, Woestendiek worked on the Daily Tar Heel for two years as sports reporter, and night sports editor, before entering the Army Air Corps in January, 1943. He re-entered the University this spring quarter, entering the school of Journalism as a third year student.

Twenty-eight votes were cast in the meeting for Woestendiek as editor, and sixteen against him. As present sports editor, night editor, and news and feature reporter for the Daily Tar Heel, Woestendiek is slated to graduate in June 1947.

One of the founders of the reorganized Student Party and its present secretary, Miss Green has been a contributor to the Mag and is a member of the Daily Tar Heel staff. Secretary of the International Relations Club, Miss Green is a major in journalism and English.

While at Women's College, she was a member of the orientation committee, elections committee, YWCA, a member of the Carolinian newspaper staff, and a contributor to magazine.

In releasing the nominations, Chuck Heath, Student Party Chairman stated, "The UP has already selected some candidates and made their platform behind closed doors without any pretense of representing anyone but themselves."

"We, the Student Party, have opened our nomination to the entire campus. This, we believe to be the essence of representing the majority."

FDR Marker To Be Unveiled At "Decision Point" Today

Warm Springs, Georgia—Site of the "Little White House" during the presidency of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt—is unveiling a marker at what is known as "Decision Point" today.

"Decision Point" is the spot on which the late Chief Executive was persuaded to re-enter politics in 1928. It is located at the south end of the railway station.

There, in 1928, Dr. Neal Kitchens—Mr. Roosevelt's physician—persuaded him to agree to a suggestion of the late Alfred E. Smith of New York. Smith had just been nominated

Aenchbacher Given Nod For Daily Tar Heel Editor

Fred Jacobson Voted Party Mag Candidate; Gene Johnstone Chosen as Yack Nominee

By Jo Pugh

The spring political campaign was given impetus last night when the University Party announced the nominations of Gene Aenchbacher, Fred Jacobson, and Gene Johnstone to run for editors of the three campus publications.

Aenchbacher was nominated for editor of the Daily Tar Heel; Jacobson, editor of the Carolina Magazine; and Johnstone, for editor of the Yackety Yack.

Di Approves OPA Extension

Member Criticizes Lack of DTH Space

The Dialectic Senate went on record Wednesday night as approving the extension of the Office of Price Administration with full power for one year. The bill was introduced by Al Lowenstein and was carried by a vote of 14-3.

After the reading of the bill, Dan MacFarland spoke in favor of the OPA, claiming that a change in U. S. economic policy "would materially affect the economic policy of the world." E. A. Black voiced the only dissent.

Gene Aenchbacher, night editor of the Daily Tar Heel, was before the war a self-help student at Georgia Tech. He came to Carolina four months ago, after five years in the Army Air Forces. He is an active member of the Carolina Political Union and has been a reporter on the Daily Tar Heel since coming here. Aenchbacher is 25 years old, married, and a former major. While serving overseas for over two years, he was publicity officer for his Army air base.

Yackety Yack editor nominee Gene Johnstone was editor of the yearbook in 1945 and managing editor in 1943. He has been a member of the Daily Tar Heel staff and while in the Naval ROTC here was on the Catapult staff. He was also editor of his high school yearbook.

Fred Jacobson, nominated for editor of the Carolina Magazine, was guest editor for the basketball edition published in February. He also edited the yearbook at Riverdale School in New York City and worked two years on the New York Sun.

He is an assistant editor of the Daily Tar Heel. Jacobson returned to Carolina this year after serving over two years in the Army.

Georgia Veterans Make Strong Protest Over OPA Question

(By United Press)

Athens, Georgia—Student veterans at the University of Georgia are protesting congressional action that may lift OPA controls.

President Frank Myers of the vets campus group says: "Our incomes are stable as long as we remain in college. Any further inflation would mean that most of us would have to drop out of school."

The veterans have authorized their executive committee to draft letters of protest to Georgia representatives in Washington.

Myers goes on to say: "Inflation would defeat the purpose of the GI bill of rights. If the OPA has its teeth pulled thousands of veterans all over the country will lose their chance to get an education."

Tri Delt Picnic

The Duke Tri Delta chapter will entertain the Alpha Sigma Tri Delt's this afternoon from 4 until 7 o'clock at a picnic on the Duke campus.
