COOMBS PARK, DURHAM, May 11.—Big Bob Houghton, strong right-handed Duke hurling ace, pitched what should have been a no-hit, no-run masterpiece here today, but watched Carolina pinch-hitter Norm Galinkin hit a single to right field with two out in the ninth inning after Duke catcher Ed Little had missed a third strike that would have meant a no-hitter for the ex-GI from Berryville, Va. in a baseball drama that defies words to describe it.

Duke defeated the Tar Heels by a 5-1 margin, and Art Vann slammed a two-run homer in a 10-hit attack on Monk Whiteheart, but the entire story of the game lies in Houghton's fireball magic and the wild finish that broke the heart of every spectator in the packed, tense grandstand.

Ninth-Inning Drama

Players in both dugouts were on their feet as the ninth-inning drama unfolded. Houghton had kept the Carolina batsmen at his mercy for eight innings, facing but 25 men, having hit John Gregory in the back with a slow curve in the fifth inning.

Catcher Rollo Frazier led off for Carolina in the ninth and hit a high foul directly in back of the plate. Little turned, went back three steps, and clapped his big mitt around the pellet for the first out.

Vin DiLorenzo then stepped up to hit for losing pitcher Whiteheart. The Carolina freshman worked the count up to two and two. Houghton, pitching steadily, grabbing the resin at frequent intervals, wound up and whipped a fast ball past the batter. DiLorenzo swung fruitlessly, but the roar of elation that started to sweep the crowd turned into one of dismay as the ball went through Little's glove and rolled to the stands and DiLorenzo raced to first.

Strikes Out Hackney

Undaunted, Houghton faced Hackney, and after the Tar Heel leftfielder fouled off a grounder, threw a third strike by him for what should have been the final out of a beautiful game.

Coach Bunn Hearn then sent up Galinkin, making his first appearance in the Carolina lineup this year as a pinch-hitter for Ryan. Houghton, pitching carefully, got two strikes on the left-handed swinger, but Fate was no longer smiling on the Duke moundsman and Galinkin drilled a line drive into right for a safety.

The game ended on the hit as the stunned crowd watched the wild finish. Galinkin kept right on running around first and the relay to second caught him in a rundown between the bags. DiLorenzo rounded third and raced home to score the Carolina run before Jerry Frye finally tagged Galinkin out by running him down on the basepaths.

Faced 29 Men

Duke Runners Netters Gain Win Duel Meet 14th Victory By 80-50 Count By 7-2 Score

Simmons Leads Way Scoring 18 Points

By Jim Pharr

Durham, May 11.—Duke's cindermen took nine of 15 events to hand the Tar Heel trackmen a 80½-50½ defeat in a track meet held in Duke stadium today.

Chunk Simmons led both teams in individual scoring with a total of 18 points. Simmons picked up first places in the high hurdles, low hurdles, and the javelin, and rounded out his tally with a second place in the broad jump. Mark Burnham and Walter Ward tied for second place in the Carolina individual scoring with first places in the mile, and the broad jump, respectively.

Ausbon took individual honors in the Duke scoring with second places in three events, the 100 yd. dash, the 220, and the high jump and a first place in the broad jump, giving him a total of 14 points. Neighborgall was second for the Blue Devils, with 11½ points.

The Tar Heel runners kept pace with the Blue Devils until the 880 yd. run, when the Dukes pulled away and from then on most of the points went to the Devils. Carolina showed good form in the mile run, taking both first and second places, and in both hurdle events, where they picked up two first, one second, and two thirds.

Meeting of Linesmen

All linesmen for the Budge-Riggs tennis match are asked to meet with Coach John Kenfield tomorrow at 3 p. m. at the varsity courts. The list includes: Harold Maass, Ed Dameron, Tom Wadden, LaMarr Ager, John Dillon, Frank Levy, Sandy Sprintz, Jay Siegel, Dodge Geoghegan, Roy Rowe, Bradley Egerton, Bardon Winstead, Gene Turner, and Jim Gallion.

Blue Devils Break Whitewash Streak

Durham, May 11.—The string of shutouts registered by the Carolina tennis crew was brought to a halt here today when the Tar Heels dropped two singles encounters to the Duke netters while gaining their 14th triumph of the campaign by a 7-2 count.

Although thwarted in the whitewash attempt, the Blue and White racquetmen were not greatly extended in scoring their second win over the Blue Devils and their fourth in Southern Conference play, against a lone defeat.

Four Singles Victory

In the hardest-fought singles engagement of the afternoon, Carolina ace Harold Maass turned in a three-set victory over Bob Chapman, 6-2, 4-6, 7-5. At the number two post, Sam Daniels registered the most decisive triumph by trouncing Bob Bodle, 6-1, 6-0. Stan Gruner gained his 13th win of the year with a 6-2, 6-1 decision over Werner Jakob, and Don Skakle chopped his eighth straight to remain undefeated by defeating Bob McCuistrion, 6-3, 7-5.

Duke's two victories in the singles were made at the fourth and sixth pairings. At number four, Carolina's Jim Nicholson was on the short end of a 6-2, 6-3 score registered by Bob Taylor, who made Duke's only victory against the powerful William and Mary net outfit. In a three-set affair, Dick Swigart lost to the Devil's Hal Landesberg, 2-6, 6-2, 9-7, for his first defeat in eight clashes.

In the only overtime doubles tilt, Maass and Gruner subdued Chapman and Landesberg, 7-5, 5-7, 6-4. Nicholson and Skakle scored a 8-6, 6-2 triumph over Bodle and Jakob, and Daniels and Duke Wilder combined for a 7-5, 8-6 decision against Taylor and Keith Freelin.
