Railroad Men Return to Jobs As Strike Ends

House Passes Bill Requested by Truman
Washington, May 25 — The railroad strike is over, and the first union-manned trains are moving out of the stations. The announcement of the end of the 48-hour rail strike came just as President Truman called on a joint session of Congress to enact legislation outlawing strikes against the government.

House Passes Measure
The House-passed legislation imposes strict penalties for work stoppages against the government in time of emergency. It would empower the President to declare a national emergency and seize plants or facilities constituting a vital or substantial part of an essential industry.

He would have authority to call officers, executives and employees back to their jobs under government seizure. Willful violators, either strike leaders or management, would be subject to a fine of $5,000 or a year's imprisonment or both.

Gives Power to Draft
An employee who failed to return to his job would be considered as voluntarily quitting and would lose his rights under the national labor relations act, or under the railway labor act. If re-employed, he would lose his previous seniority rights.

The President would also be provided to draft into the army any person — management, worker or union leader — who failed to return to his job within 24 hours. The legislation would be effective for the duration of hostilities and for six months thereafter unless terminated earlier. All profits that accrue from government operation would be turned over to the federal treasury.

This legislation, aimed at the nation-wide train and coal situations, was exactly what President Truman had asked for in an unprecedented appearance before a joint session of Congress.

House Committee Votes To Ease Price Controls

Washington, May 25 — The Senate Banking Committee has voted to remove all price controls from meat, poultry and dairy products on June 30.

Senator Bankhead Is Seriously Ill

Washington, May 25 — Senator Bankhead of Alabama is reported seriously ill at the naval hospital at Bethesda, Maryland. The 73-year-old democratic leader of the Senate cotton bloc suffered a slight stroke during a stormy session of the banking committee yesterday.

No Agreement Reached In Soft Coal Dispute

Washington, May 25 — A conference between mine workers President John L. Lewis and Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug broke up without agreement tonight only four hours before the expiration of the soft coal no-strike truce.

Lewis arranged to meet with other officials of the United Mine Workers at 9 p. m. (EST). Krug said he would meet again with Lewis tomorrow.

Norman Cordon Comes To Campus To Give Concert

Opera Star Appears Here Monday Night

Cordon to Present Versatile Program

By Gwendolyn Gamble
Norman Cordon, bass baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Association and alumnus of Carolina, will present a varied program of classical music, folk songs, and negro spirituals in a concert scheduled for Monday night at 8:30 in Memorial Hall. According to Blount Stewart, publicity chairman of Phi Mu Alpha, tickets are still on sale in the Y and at Ledbetter-Pickards for the concert. Tickets may also be obtained at the door tomorrow night.

Cordon's program will be divided into six parts, including two songs by Handel and Mozart and an old English folk song, "Westron Wynde"; "Evening Star" from "Tannhauser" and "Varlaam's Song" by Moussorgsky; four songs by Brahms; a group of Negro spirituals, "I Wanta Be Ready," "Deep River," "Li'l David," "Stan' Still Jordan" and "Didn't My Lord Deliver Daniel"; all arranged by H. T. Burleigh.

Cordon's accompanist, Archie Black, will present two groups of piano selections including Intermezzo in A major and Intermezzo in C major by Brahms, and Prelude in E flat major by Rachmaninoff and Gavotte in F sharp minor by Prokofeff.

Cordon, a native of Washington, D. C., moved to Charlotte when he was eight years of age. He later attended Fishburne Military School, where he played a saxophone. He studied music at Salem College and attended the University where he became a member of the Carolina Glee Club. Paul Weaver, the director of the Glee Club during Cordon's freshman year here, told him that he had the ability to become a success. See NORMAN CORDON, page 4.

Degree Candidates To Attend Meeting

All persons planning to receive degrees at commencement are asked to attend a meeting Tuesday at 5 p. m. in Memorial Hall. Dr. J. C. Lyons, faculty marshal, will explain details of procedure. He has asked that all degree recipients be present since this is the only time such instructions will be given.

Above is Norman Cordon as he appears in the role of King Henry in the opera "Lohengrin."

Woestendiek Gets Backing Of DTH Staff

The Daily Tar Heel staff this weekend again overwhelmingly endorsed Bill Woestendiek as their choice for DTH Editor. In a poll taken of the 37 members of the publications editorial staffs, Woestendiek received 34 votes to two for present Editor Robert Morrison. One staff member, Carroll Poplin, declined to cast a vote in the poll, which includes all names listed on the news, sports, and editorial staffs shown on the masthead.

A similar vote, taken last weekend, against the orders of Editor Morrison who stated "If I allowed it, I would certainly win it as I could include as staff members anyone I wanted," revealed 20 votes for Woestendiek, nine for Aenchbacher, one for Carroll Poplin, and none for candidates Bill Johnson and Bob Morrison.

This week-end's re-vote was taken since candidates Bill "Scoop" Johnson, Carroll Poplin, and Gene Aenchbacher, were eliminated in Tuesday's general election, leaving Morrison and Woestendiek in the race, which comes before the vote of the student body tomorrow.

Di Nominates New Officers Morrison, Shropshire Are New Presidents

Bob Morrison has been elected president of the Dialectic Senate for the summer term and Don Shropshire was elected president for the Fall term. Morrison, editor of the Daily Tar Heel, was elected by acclamation at an executive session Wednesday night and Shropshire, a recently elected student legislator, defeated Al Lowenstein for the position.

Other officers elected for the summer term are Eddie Black, president pro tempore; Arthur Budlong, clerk; David Pittman, critic; Dan McFarland, sergeant-at-arms; and Russell Johnson, representative to the Council for Religion in Life.

Officers elected to serve with Shropshire for the Fall term are Tom Eller, president pro tempore; Gay Morenus, clerk; Eddie Black, sergeant-at-arms; Clifford Horton, treasurer; Dan McFarland, CRIL representative; and Al Lowenstein, representative to the Debate Council.

Three new senators, John Zucker, Elwood Mintz, and Jim Doddo, were initiated Wednesday night, after they had received the approval of the Senate and the membership committee.

University Laundry Stops Term Service

The University Laundry Department announced that there will be no laundry pickups after tomorrow until the first summer session. Laundry refunds for the closing collegiate year will be made during the examination period.

The Daily Tar Heel will suspend publication next Saturday.

Presidency, Editorship To be Voted on Tomorrow

Men Graduate Students Will Cast Votes On Representatives to Student Council

By Jo Pugh
Deciding votes will be cast tomorrow in Gerrard hall from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. for president of the student body and editor of the Daily Tar Heel. A large number of voters are expected to cast ballots in the run-off elections, according to Fred Bauder, elections committee chairman.

University Veterans Required to Report To Vet Administration

All veteran now enrolled in the University, both those under Public Law 246 (GI Bill) and P. L. 16, are required by the Veterans' Administration, according to instructions just received by the University from the Veterans Administration, to report to the VA Education Offices by Monday.

Place: NROTC Armory. Hours: 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. including Saturday, May 25.

Each veteran must know his C-number. Unless a veteran reports so that his training status may be determined, subsistence checks may be suspended until his status has been re-established.

Satterfield Band Returns to Campus In Concert Tonight

Johnny Satterfield, who brings his new band to the campus tonight for a free concert in Memorial Hall from 9:00 to 10:30 o'clock, features a library sparkling with original arrangements of favorite melodies as well as his own compositions.

The Satterfield orchestra was originated at UNC in 1940, and played for many campus affairs until joining the Army Air Forces in 1944. Reforming his band here last November, around a nucleus of the original group, Satterfield stayed in Chapel Hill until taking his entire aggregation on the road at the end of last quarter.

In a statement last night Satterfield said:

"Since the reorganization of the band in early November, we have looked forward to presenting in concert the original work that our arrangers did during off-duty hours while they were in the service. Some of this music is especially for concert dance band, not designed primarily for dancing. We will play this music for the first half of the program and standard well-known dance tunes for the last half.

"We hope that the concert will in some way clear our great indebtedness to Miss Martha Rice whose cooperation in providing the band a rehearsal hall has been of immeasurable help throughout the entire year."

DON'T FORGET TO VOTE MONDAY!

Dewey Dorsett and Bill Crisp are candidates in the run-off for president of the student body. Bill Woestendiek and Robert Morrison are to be voted upon for editor of the Daily Tar Heel.

For member-at-large of the Publications Board, there will be a run-off between Tookie Hodgson and Eddie Allen.

Women's Legislature
Women living in dormitories will vote between Joan Miller and Sandy Sanders for women representative to legislature.

Men graduate students will vote for the first time on their representative to the Men's Council. Candidates are Pete Pully and Stan Walker.

At a recent meeting of the University Party, Bill Woestendiek, student party candidate for editor of the Daily Tar Heel, was given the party's full support.

UP on Woestendiek
"Believing that Bill Woestendiek is without question the better qualified of the remaining candidates for the Daily Tar Heel editorship, and believing that he will be the one that will best serve the student body in that capacity, the University party is offering its full support to him. We earnestly hope that the student body will place him in office this Monday," was the statement issued by Allan Pannill, chairman of the party.

Others Endorse
Woestendiek was also given the endorsement of Pete Pully, Fred Jacobson, Bill "Scoop" Johnson, and Gene Aenchbacher.

Bill Smith, defeated candidate for president, made the following statement yesterday: "I wish to thank all of my friends for their support in behalf of my candidacy for president. See CAMPUS RUN-OFF, page 4."

Book Ex Accounts Closed on June 1 To Men on GI Bill

Veterans' accounts at the Book Exchange will be closed on June 1 and that is the last day that purchases may be made and charged to the Veterans Administration for the spring quarter. It is necessary to do this in order that individual bills may be prepared and the Veterans Administration may settle its accounts before the end of the fiscal year.

Veterans should make arrangements to secure their examination supplies before the accounts are closed.

Veterans remaining in school for the summer quarter will not be required to secure new book permits.
