Labor Measure Creates Split Among Senate

GOP's, Democrats Assail President

Capitol Hill, May 27.—A fight to the finish is developing in the Senate over Mr. Truman's demands for emergency labor legislation. It has cut clean through party lines with Republicans and pro-labor Democrats lining up side by side to defeat the "draft or work" measure. During the debate, Mr. Truman was accused of bad faith and a "cheap exhibition of ham acting" by Republican Senator Morse of Oregon, and of "Fascism" by Democrat Sheridan Downey of California.

Labor has lined up almost to a man against the President's program to ban strikes against the government. William Green of the AF of L denounced it as "Fascist." And 300 CIO workers from New York made the trip to Washington to lobby against the measure.

Maritime Union Raise Averts Shipping Strike

New York, May 27.—The CIO's National Maritime Union and general agents for 39 Atlantic and Gulf Coast steamship operators reached an agreement tonight providing for a 10 per cent wage increase, thus lessening prospects of a general shipping strike for June 15th.

Coal Production Stops As Miners Leave Pits

Washington, May 27.—Coal production was cut to a trickle today as 370,000 of the 400,000 soft coal miners defied government appeals to return to work. John L. Lewis conferred with Coal Administrator Krug again but failed to reach an agreement for ending the coal walkout.

Rankin Sees No Probe Of Klan Activities

Washington, May 27.—Mississippi's Representative John Rankin says his House Committee on un-American Activities has no immediate plans for investigating the Ku Klux Klan in Georgia.

Ford Has 'Small Error' In 1944 Tax Payments

Washington, May 27.—The Bureau of Internal Revenue reveals tonight that Henry Ford made a slight mistake in his 1944 incomes taxes. He overpaid his taxes more than $508,000.

Stassen Is Preferred By Carolina Students For Next President

Chapel Hill, May 27.—(UP)—Don't bet your bottom dollar on it but the students at North Carolina seem to favor former Governor Stassen for the next President, with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace running right behind him. At least that's the opinion of the 1,157 students, veterans, non-veterans and coeds, who answered the poll of the student International Relations Club. They also thought that the United States should keep the Pacific bases, voted overwhelmingly for a firmer policy with Russia, and declared on a 6-to-5 margin that they thought this country should keep the atom bomb secrets rather than turning them over to U.N. Maybe the other headquarters of the student body, who didn't vote, think different.

Dorsett Wins Runoff By Safe Margin

Student Party Slates Meeting For Tomorrow

There will be a meeting of the Student Party at 2:00 p. m. tomorrow afternoon in the Candlelight Room in Graham Memorial.

On the agenda of the Wednesday meeting will be a plan for the organization of the party for the summer, and a thorough and detailed explanation of the Student Party platform to elected officers to impress them with their obligations to the platform.

Chairman Heath said, "I wish to congratulate Dewey Dorsett on his recent victory and state that the Student Party will cooperate with him. I hope the entire student body will give him its support."

Cordon Initiated Into UNC Chapter Of Phi Mu Alpha

Norman Cordon became an honorary member of Phi Mu Alpha, national music fraternity, Sunday afternoon. At the same time eight students were initiated into the fraternity.

It is the purpose of Phi Mu Alpha to foster good music on the campus; each year the organization endeavors to bring to Carolina nationally recognized artists. This year, Norman Cordon, leading bass baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Association, and alumnus of the University, appeared in a concert last night sponsored by the fraternity. Cordon is a native of Washington, N. C.

Students who were taken into Phi Mu Alpha were Arnold Altwater, David Cline, Edwin Easter, John Bridges, Edgar vom Lehn, David McAdams, Eugene Stryker, and Maurice Weinstein.

Surplus Invitations Are on Sale Today

All people who ordered either leather or paper graduation invitations must pick them up in the Y by 12 noon today. They will be sold to those coming first. All surplus invitations will be put on sale this afternoon.

There is a limited number remaining and the Grail is expecting to close sales either today or tomorrow, depending on how long the supply lasts. The invitations are in blue leather for 35c or white paper for 25c.

Cheerleader Tryouts

Cheerleader tryouts will be held every day through Friday at 5 p. m. at the Bell Tower, announced Devan Barbour, head cheerleader.

Recital Thursday

Virginia Mason and Elizabeth Worrall will be presented in a recital Thursday evening in Hill Hall.

David Hooks as Ergaste and Lynn Leonard as Lisette in the Playmakers production of "The School for Husbands," which has its final performance in the Forest Theatre tonight at 8:30. This performance is being held tonight in place of the one scheduled for last Sunday evening which was rained out.

Fourteen Special Institutes Scheduled for Summer Session

Extension Division Sponsors Conferences For Many Educational Programs and Groups

Fourteen special institutes, conferences and other types of educational programs will be offered by the University Extension Division during the Summer Session here, the first term of which opens June 13 and continues to July 20. The second term is from July 22 to August 29.

Duke Geology Head Talks Here Tonight

"The Oil Fields of Northern Peru" will be the subject of Dr. Edward W. Berry, head of the geology department at Duke University tonight when he speaks at the meeting of the Journal Club at 7:30 p. m. on the fourth floor of New East. The public is invited.

In an attractive folder put out by the Extension Division, the summer program of special activities is described, accompanied by photographs of various phases of University life—living, working and relaxing, and a graphic map of the University village with strategic points emphasized.

Two two-weeks' programs, Production Methods Workshop and the Personnel Management Workshop, begin three days before the Summer Session opens.

Peggy Jurgensen, YMCA's All-Around Girl, Has Good Answer to Every Student Inquiry

By Posey Emerson

Amidst noting that Joe College had moved from Old East to Steele, selling a few tickets to the Junior-Senior dance, telling a crestfallen junior that no corsages were allowed to be given at dances, and locating a baby sitter, Peggy Jurgensen managed to say that she thought Carolina was a wonderful place.

Her official title is secretary of the YMCA which is another name for a Jack of all trades. Recognition of her contributions to campus life was made last week when she was tapped by the Valkyries as an honorary member.

Mrs. Kai Jurgensen, wife of Kai Jurgensen, assistant professor in the dramatics department, is one of those rare individuals who can smile after a day of a hundred interruptions and still see humor in the countless queries that Carolina students can conjure up.

Perhaps this smile comes from the fact that she likes people, enjoys being with them and working with them. At any rate any time you enter the Y office you will undoubtedly be greeted by Peggy's infectious smile and cheerful, "Can I help you?"

Native of Montana

Born in Montana, Peggy attended the University of Montana where she was an English major. In her third year of college she left and came to New York to marry Kai.

During their seven years of married life they have managed to see most of America—and to see it by Greyhound bus which Peggy claims is her favorite way of travelling.

Woestendiek Sweeps Polls For Tar Heel Editorship

Hodgson Takes Publications Board Post; Pully, Miller Win in Respective Races

By Westy Fenhagen

The will of Carolina's postwar student body was felt yesterday when independent candidate Dewey Dorsett was swept into the presidency of the student body and Student Party candidate Bill Woestendiek was landslide into the office of Daily Tar Heel editor. A total of slightly over 1700 students voted in yesterday's runoff election, approximately 600 less than in last week's primaries.

Dorsett, an Army Air Corps veteran, polled a total of 964 votes against 757 for the Student Party candidate Bill Crisp, a margin of 207. Woestendiek rolled up a tremendous margin over his independent rival, Bob Morrison, seeking re-election, with an even 1200 ballots for him against 542 for Morrison.

Seniors to Meet At Memorial Hall This Afternoon
A meeting of all students who will receive degrees at Commencement exercises will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Memorial Hall, Dr. J. C. Lyons, faculty marshal, has announced.

As this will be the only meeting in which details will be taken up for graduation ceremonies and position in the academic procession, it is absolutely essential that all students to receive a degree

Chesnutt Elected As UVA President

Jim Chesnutt was elected to the presidency of the UVA at a meeting last Thursday night. Ollie Beaman will serve as vice-president, treasurer will be John Temple, and Arthur Friedman will be secretary.

Plans were made and committees formed for the veterans to take a more serious part in campus affairs. While not ignoring their social function completely, the UVA plans to devote more time for the benefit of the veterans and the campus at large. The UVA will be active during the summer months and anyone willing to volunteer his services is asked to contact any of the officers. The next meeting will be announced at the beginning of the summer session.

Independent Wins
In the race for member at large to the Publications Board, independent Tookie Hodgson took the nod over SP nominee Eddie Allen, by polling an 854 count to the 702 which Allen rolled up.

In one of the closest races of the day, Pete Pully, defeated last week for the student body presidency, rallied to nose out Stan Walker by 14 votes, the margin being 542 to 528.

Joan Miller grabbed the women's dormitory representative to the legislature position by a bare six-vote margin over Sandy Saunders. Miller received 186 votes to 180 for her rival.

Legislature Vote
After a recount on dormitory representatives to the student legislature, a revised list of winners was released last night by elections committee chairman Fred Bauder. Those now officially named to represent the dorms include for six-month term Bob Kelly, Bob Collins, Bill Jernegan, Bob Giles, Bill Hight, John Surratt, Joe Morris, Joe Byrd, Jack Gale, John Harvey, and Clyde Stallings.

Those elected to represent the dorms for a one-year term include Charlie Britt, Jim Taylor, Jimmy Wallace, Bill Miller, Walt Stuart, Bob Hall, Tom Eller, Larry Berry, Frank Meadows, and Bill Stubbs.

Bauder Makes Statement
Elections committee chairman Bauder expressed his gratitude last night to "all the students and groups who cooperated in making the balloting a success."

"The committee hopes that an unyielding precedent has been set in the conduct of political campaigns by parties as well as independents who in this election leaned over backward to be fair and comply with the election rules."

"Although the vote was the largest in Carolina history, the election was completed with considerable speed and facility."

AVC Meets Tonight

The Chapel Hill Chapter of the American Veterans Committee will meet tonight at 7:30 p. m. in the Presbyterian Church. All members are urged to be present as important topics will be discussed.
