Little Caesar Calls for New Strike Against Radio Station

Music Union Leader Calls Illegal Strike

Chicago, May 28—Music Czar James Petrillo has called a strike against radio station WAAF of Chicago—openly defying the federal "anti-Petrillo" law. Violation of the law means a possible one thousand dollars fine, one year in jail or both. The President of the American Federation of Musicians says he expects to be prosecuted and will take the matter to the Supreme Court. United States Attorney Albert Woll has called a conference with station attorneys to investigate Petrillo's action.

Senate Holds Recess Honoring Sen. Glass

Washington, May 28.—The Senate recessed shortly after 11 a.m. (EST) in tribute to democratic Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, who died early today at the age of 88. Glass will be buried Thursday in his native Lynchburg, Virginia.

Barkley Plans Fight For Labor Measure

Washington, May 28.—Senate Democratic Leader Barkley has served notice of a fight to the finish to preserve the work-or draft phase of President Truman's emergency strike measure. Barkley says he will keep Senators in session over Memorial day to speed up action on the strike bill. Republican Senator Wilson of Iowa says he will offer a substitute measure tomorrow which would empower the President to seize vital facilities before a strike actually occurs.

Transportation Strike Paralyzes Rochester

Rochester, N. Y. May 28.—A day-long city-wide strike of 48 thousand CIO and AF of L union members brought transportation in Rochester to a dead stop and closed business down to a snail's pace. The demonstration is in protest against the city's drive to prevent the unionization of city employes. Late today, the union workers gathered in down-town Washington Square for a mass demonstration.

Flood Toll Heavy In Eastern States

Philadelphia, May 28.—Flood waters are taking a heavy toll in several eastern states tonight. Three persons are reported to have been killed in a landslide which demolished a home in Richards, Pennsylvania, and six others are believed to be missing. The rampaging waters have inundated large areas throughout the state, leaving thousands homeless.

No Agreement Reached In Soft Coal Dispute

Washington, May 28 — A White House conference tonight failed to break the coal deadlock. The two-day-old strike of 400,000 coal miners in the government-operated pits still is on. Earlier this evening John L. Lewis and Coal Administrator Krug hurried to the White House to confer with Mr. Truman, but that meeting has failed to bring an end to the strike. Lewis emerged from the 30-min-

Ray McKinley

McKinley Led Miller's Band In Army Life

The new band fronted by drummer-scat vocalist Ray McKinley is formed of ex-GI sidemen who played with Glenn Miller's famous Army Air Corps unit which went under McKinley's direction after the loss of Miller in a flight to France in December, 1944.

It was McKinley who originally aided Miller in forming the service orchestra and who served as Miller's assistant during the band's earlier years. At the end of the war, McKinley took the nucleus of his present orchestra from the many musicians connected with the overseas dance unit.

McKinley's entrance into the Army came some nine months after he began his band-leading career with a group that found time to make such hits as "Hard Hearted Hanna" before dissolving. Prior to his first major role as a leader, McKinley had become famous through his boogie antics with Will Bradley and Jimmie Dorsey.

After a brief stretch with the Dorsey Brothers Band, McKinley joined Jimmie Dorsey. His cymbals and scat vocal were heard on the Dorsey platter hit "Dusk on Upper Sandusky."

In 1939, McKinley joined a partnership venture with Will Bradley, the band going under Bradley's leadership. It was during this time that McKinley and Freddie Slack combined to record such eight-to-the-bar specialties as "Down the Road A Piece." McKinley also vocalized the Bradley interpretations of "Scrub Me Mamma" and "Beat Me Daddy Eight to the Bar."

In 1942 McKinley began his

Popular YWCA Secretary Leaves Carolina This Week

By Joan Blase

The fact that Kay Ferrell, popular secretary of the YWCA, is leaving Carolina this week is sad news for hundreds of students who have quickly become her good friends and have caught her contagious enthusiasm for campus activities.

The YWCA has become an alive campus organization, actively participated in by a majority of the coeds, largely through Kay's hard work and behind-the-scenes guidance since her arrival here late in 1944.

"Since I have been here and have seen the big changes come about with the boys leaving and then returning, it has seemed that women's government and the coed student body have always been the most stable part, holding things together, and keep working toward improvement of the standards of Carolina." Kay has also noticed that the coeds are taking a larger part in campus activities, believing that this campus gives an opportunity for a student to be hyper-active or in a state of inertia, the choice being left to the individual.

Taught in Japan

Nagasaki, Japan, was Kay's first place of work after her graduation from Ohio Wesleyan College. Arriving there in 1940 to instruct in English and philosophy at Kwassui College, a

Yackety Yacks To Arrive On June 5, Says Flagler

Transportation Mixup Causes Uncertainty In Time of Shipment from Charlotte Printers

The 1946 Yackety Yack will not arrive until June 5, the last day of final exams, it was learned yesterday by Fred Flagler, editor of the yearbook.

In a telephone conversation with Lassiter Press, Flagler discovered that the books would not be ready for shipment until later

Legislators Requested To Appoint Substitutes For Summer Sessions

In accord with a bill passed by the Legislature recently, all newly elected legislators who are not planning to attend the first or both summer sessions must appoint immediately a substitute legislator to serve during their absence, according to Charlie Warren, new speaker of the Legislature.

Vice-President Warren requested that the legislators notify him of their proxies before June 4, 1946. He may be reached at Steele dormitory or at the Zeta Psi house.

Legislature will not convene this term, he announced, but the first meeting will be held at the beginning of the first summer term.

Veterans to Hear Insurance Man Tomorrow Night

Advice on retaining government insurance and methods of converting it will be given to all Carolina veterans at an open meeting tomorrow evening, May 30, at 8 o'clock in Graham Memorial Lounge by Mr. Alex Worth, Durham insurance man.

The meeting has been arranged by the Veterans Affairs Committee of the local American Veterans Committee, of which James Poindexter is chairman, but all campus veterans interested in problems of government insurance are invited to be present.

Following the talk, Mr. Worth will answer any questions which veterans would like to bring up. He is a veteran of World War I and has been in the insurance field for a number of years.

Dulin Made President Of Wesley Foundation

Bob Dulin has been elected to succeed James Traynham, graduating senior, as president of Wesley Foundation, organization for Methodist students.

Other officers are Franklin Wooten, vice-president; Mary Alice Ashley, secretary, and Gran Childress, treasurer. Dulin plans to appoint committee chairmen in the next few days. These officers will begin their duties next fall.

American Legion Rally

The American Legion will sponsor a Memorial Day Rally Thursday afternoon, May 30, at 6:45 p.m.

Col. S. C. Chambers, veteran of both World Wars will deliver a short speech.

Members of the Marine and NROTC units will participate in the program that is scheduled to last about 30 minutes.

on this week, and that the transportation mixup has caused some uncertainty as to when the printers will be able to make the total shipment. The printers said that the motor trucking companies were reluctant to make partial shipments, and the total Yack order of 3,000 books would not be completed to ship all at once.

Seniors First

Editor Flagler said that every effort would be made to take care of the seniors and other students who will not return to Carolina. Those students who will return to Carolina for summer school are requested by editor Flagler to wait until then to call for their books. Lower-classmen who will return next fall will be able to secure the books then, or will be able to get them this summer by stopping by the Yack office.

Circulation of the Yacks to seniors will begin as soon as the books arrive after final exams.

Those students who have missed terms since November will have to pay an additional $1.50 per term in order to secure a copy of the book. Publications fees started in November and enrollment from then through the present term was necessary in order to pay the total fee. Books will be sold for $4.00 to those students who have not paid registration fees to the University. Navy men fit into this category.

Not Enough for All

Increased enrollment has effected a difficulty in that there will not be enough yearbooks for every student enrolled; consequently those students who have pictures in the Yack and those students who enrolled in November will have priority on the books. The order of 3,000 had to be made at the first of the year on a guess as to how many yearbooks would be needed, and enrollment over the last two terms has exceeded this figure by a little over 1,000.

Editor Flagler said that he was sorry for the delay since he had hoped the books would be ready for circulation this week. Last week he learned from the printers that a shipment might be made this week, but a delay in the shipment of the covers from Kingsport, Tenn. caused an all around delay in completing the book.

Workman Is Elected Chairman of Council

At a recent meeting of the Carolina Workshop Council, Bill Workman, dramatic arts major, was elected chairman of the council for next year. Dee Sweat, art major, was elected secretary and Dick Cox, music major, was named treasurer.

Work on next spring's art festival will begin this fall and a publicity director will be elected at that time. Charles Gaylord is retiring chairman of the council.
