

China Needs Relief Aides

Carolina Students Eligible for Work

The Brethren Service Committee's quest for fifty men to go to Honan Province, China, for eighteen months to help alleviate the acute famine there is still on. Each man will be given an intensive six-week training course in the use and maintenance of tractors, and then sent to teach the Chinese farmers how to use the 2,000 tractors UNRRA has sent over there.

To be eligible, one must be male, between eighteen and thirty-six, and preferably mature, having a desire to help. Transportation and maintenance will be supplied, plus a ten-dollar monthly supplement will be paid.

Reclamation Project

The tractors are being used to reclaim 2,000,000 acres of land in the Yellow River Valley flooded when dikes were broken by the Japanese. Four million people of the province face starvation unless this "breadbasket" is re-cultivated quickly.

No provision is being made for men's wives to accompany them, and draft deferments will have to be made by each individual from his local board.

Applications here are being handled through Mr. William Poteat, acting secretary of the YMCA. The group will be divided into three training units, with training dates starting June 1, 8, and 15. The first group is already filled.

and the Grace Lutheran Church, both in St. Petersburg. Included on her program will be Cesar Franck's "Chorale in A Minor." Also featured will be Bach's "Fantasia in G Major," one of the foremost works for organ. Miss Worrall is president of the Women's Glee Club, secretary of the local chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, and chairman of the YWCA campus music committee. She is also a member of the Valkyries, the highest women's honorary society at UNC.

Student Party Plans Activity

The Student Party met yesterday afternoon for the last time this quarter, at which time Chairman Chuck Heath discussed methods of accomplishing the fulfillment of the Party's aims as set forth in the recent campus elections.

In turning over the reins of the Student Party to Vice-Chairman Jim Taylor for the summer session, Heath stated, "I would like to thank all students who worked for and supported the party, enabling us to put into office the men we believed most qualified for campus positions."

The Party made plans to work for: the improvement of eating conditions; obtain more fountain services; improve telephone service; improve circulation of student publications; improve student entertainment; inaugurate an intensive Freshman indoctrination program; try and eliminate physical education for Senior women.

Heath named two members of the Student Legislature, Joe Byrd, 1 Old East, and Don Shropshire, 108 South Columbia, to hear complaints of the student body in regard to campus matters.

TGA Outing Will Be Held

Swimming, Softball Slated at Hogan's

The Town Girls' Association picnic, originally scheduled for tomorrow, has been changed to Saturday instead, according to an announcement by Barbara Cashion, president of the TGA.

Trucks will leave the Y for Hogan's Lake at 5 p. m. and return at 11 o'clock. All town girls wanting to go on the picnic who have not signed for it should see Josephine MacMillan or Barbara Cashion, or sign the list in the Town Girls room in the Y. There will be swimming and softball.

The picnic will close the year's activities for the Town Girls Association, which has been very active this year under the former President Emily Tufts and the new President Barbara Cashion.

Plans announced for next year include redecoration of the room, orientation for new coeds, and programs designed to bring town girls into campus life.

Town girls are especially urged to watch the bulletin board in the town girls' room for announcements of the House Privileges Board, since they, like other coeds, are required to follow its rules.

second by John Gregory. Two successive fielders' choices netted Duke nothing but a Tar Heel on every sack and Coach Bunn Hearn sent Norm Galinkin up to bat for Coleman.

Making his second plate appearance of the season, Galinkin, who broke up Houghton's no-hit effort in the ninth inning earlier in the season, came through again with a ringing single into right to score two runs and tie up the game. The Tar Heels moved into the lead in the next frame on hits by Charlie Cole and Beason, an infield out by Hearn that advanced two runners, and Gregory's blow down the right field line.

After Coleman went out for the pinch hitter in the fifth, Vinnie DiLorenzo took over the hurling chores and gave up one run in the sixth before the fatal eighth sent him down to his third league loss. Houghton gave way to Lee Griffith in the seventh and the Duke lefthander gained his fourth triumph while allowing one hit in three innings. Vann and Stott led the Blue Devil attack, while the six Carolina safeties were divided between six players.

The Daily Tar Heel will suspend publication with tomorrow's issue.

New Officers Chosen By IRC

Green, Morris, Bristow Elected

The International Relations Club at its regular meeting this week elected its new officers for the coming year beginning the term next September. Betty Anne Green, former secretary of the club, was elected president; Joe Morris, retiring president, was elected vice-president; John Bristow, secretary, and Ed Davenport, treasurer.

Taking office, the president stated that every effort would be made "to stimulate interest in world affairs among the students and to bring before them informed speakers to guide their understanding of the international events as they occur today and mould tomorrow's world."

Plans were made for attending the thirteenth annual Carolina Institute of International Relations Clubs to be held this year at the Woman's College in Greensboro, where a number of distinguished speakers will be engaged for the occasion. In the group will be Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, Dr. T. Z. Koo, and Louis N. Ridenhour, atomic scientist and recent author of the popular seller, "One World or None."

Committees will be appointed during the week to start work on plans for the 1946-47 term beginning in September.

John Bristow was unanimously elected to act as chairman of the club during the summer session. The club will be carried on as usual and a number of interesting discussions have already been planned.
