

Graham Memorial Sponsors Informal 'Y' Court Dance Tonight

Director Rice Requests Coeds To Come Stag

Records to Be Played; Bands Scheduled

By Sam Whitehall

The first weekly open-air Y Court dance of the summer session is slated for this evening from 8:30 to 11:30 in the plaza immediately in front of the University YMCA, under the sponsorship of Graham Memorial.

The very latest popular dance melodies will be played for the affair, on recorded discs by the nation's top sweet and swing bands. Facilities of the University Book Exchange soda fountain will remain open for these weekly dances on succeeding Saturday nights, but will not, due to technical difficulties, be open tonight. However, fountain service at the two nearby Scuttlebutts will be available.

Coeds Come Stag

Clarifying the status of the affairs, which have proven exceedingly popular in the past, Graham Memorial director Martha Rice stated, "I would like to encourage all coeds, as well as men students to come stag, and get acquainted. As always these affairs will be completely informal, and if you can't dance, come out and watch the crowd."

"As is the practice at many other schools, double-breaking will be the rule all the way through the dancing. I sincerely hope more coeds will take the initiative in breaking down the heavy stag lines at our dances, by breaking on an equal status with men students. All of our dances this summer will be of this type, and I feel sure they will be much more enjoyable this way."

Orchestras and Combo's

On Saturdays during the summer when classes are scheduled local dance bands and "jazz combo's" will be booked for the occasions.

Tonight's dancing will be under the direction of Bob Colepaugh, Graham Memorial office assistant. Several different types of dances are scheduled for the future on the weekly dance slate. Popularized by former student

Old Well Once Gave Spiked Water . . .

Traditional Landmark Is Modeled After Temple of Love; Also Provided Students With Bath Water in Old Days

By Arnold Schulman

Over a century and a half ago the old well in front of South Building was more than just a traditional landmark of the campus. It was only a country well then, with a chain and windlass, but it furnished all of the water that the students used.

When a warm bath was desired in that day the more energetic beavers would draw the water from the old oaken bucket, then heat it over a wood fire built behind Old East. It is also reported that after the trustees passed regulations condemning the practice of keeping a barrel of whiskey in one's room, some of the students found it necessary to drink the water, too.

Whiskey in the Well

One incident in particular that has been verbally recorded from the time the new temperance society was formed concerns the senior who was being pursued by Dr. Swain, then president of the University.

According to the legend, the boy, afraid to be caught with the whiskey threw a half-empty bottle in the well as he ran past. The temperance boys, for the next two days formed a con-

Overseas Relief Drive Launched In Community

Local Residents Urged to Aid Starving In Nationwide Emergency Fund Campaign

Chapel Hill's appeal for contributions to the nation-wide Emergency Fund Collection for overseas relief, headed by Secretary Henry A. Wallace, was launched today following a final organization meeting last night when workers were given final instructions.

Between now and next Wednesday house-to-house canvassers are scheduled to give the residents of every home an opportunity to buy tickets to "a banquet you will never eat, that a family overseas may not starve."

The plan is to wind up the intensive phase of the campaign by next Wednesday, and canvassers have been asked to try to turn in reports before then. Workers who have not completed their calls, however, will be given more time.

E. Carrington Smith, president of the Chapel Hill Merchants Association, is making a special appeal to the business men, and W. T. Huntley, local merchant, heads up a special gifts committee. Guy B. Phillips and William H. Poteat are heading up the appeal for the University faculty and students. Hubert Robertson is presenting the appeal to the Negro citizens.

Walter Baucom is serving as treasurer, and the Bank of Chapel Hill is serving as a central collecting agency.

Vesper Services To Be Sponsored By Local Churches

During the summer session all churches of Chapel Hill will cooperate in sponsoring an interdenominational Sunday evening vesper service in Hill Hall. This service will feature a short devotional talk by various students on the campus and by local ministers and church leaders, preceded by a short organ recital by Monte Howell.

Mr. Howell, recently graduated from the University with highest honors in music, is well known for his Sunday evening organ recitals at the Episcopal Church through the winter and spring terms.

As this is the only regular Sunday evening vesper in Chapel Hill all students are cordially invited to attend. The first service will be held tomorrow evening, at 8 p.m.

Board Flays Carolina Mag Management

Meeting for the first time Tuesday with its newly appointed faculty members, the Publications Board appointed Brantley McCoy subscription manager of the Daily Tar Heel.

The Board passed the motion that the subscription manager be paid a salary of $3.00 per week and that he receive ten percent commission on all personally solicited subscriptions.

Lear Reports

J. M. Lear, faculty advisor to the Board, reported on the management of the Carolina Mag during the past year. A number of engravings which were ordered for issues of the Mag and were never published were shown to the Board. Lear declared that the student body "has suffered considerable loss because of the poor management of the editor and business manager of the Mag," and the Board voted to pay no salaries to these two officers.

All business managers of student publications were requested to see Lear to frame budgets for the coming school year.

The Board will meet again next month to consider these budgets and continue a study of fee allocation.

Groups Win Confirmation With Little Opposition

Douglass Hunt Honored for Leadership; Bill Introduced to Lengthen Coed Hours

Highlighting the Thursday night session of the Student Legislature was the approval of new committees appointed by Dewey Dorsett, new student body president. Only opposition registered was against the Student Entertainment Committee appointees.

Jim Taylor, Dave Pittman, and Dan McFarland stated that Dorsett's appointment of Allan Pannill and Coline Smith to the entertainment committee of which they were members during the past year should not have been made "because of the poor performance of that committee." Charlie Fulton and Alex Daxis spoke for the appointees, and they were approved by a vote of 28-10.

The five executive committees approved were: Elections, J. B. Heywood, chairman, Emile Saleeby, Jean Huske, Elwood Mixon, Bill Smith, Ben Townsend, John Surratt, John McDowell, Tom Eller, Gloria Robbins, Andy Williamson; Orientation, Pat Kelly, chairman, Duke Wilder, Tookie Hodgson, Mike Carr, Alex Davis, Bob Kemp, Jim Johnson, Janet Johnston, Ann Cutts, Roland Giduz.

It is to submit its findings at the next meeting. Other members of the committee are Alex Davis, Charlie Fulton, Tom Eller, and Charlie Warren.

Alex Davis introduced a bill to appropriate funds not to exceed $224 to the student council for filing cabinets, case books, stationery, printing of the constitution, rental of robes, and miscellaneous office supplies.

HPB Releases Agreement

The House Privileges Board has released its Summer Session coed visiting privileges agreement to all fraternity houses on campus. Its provisions went into effect last night at 6 p. m. Copies of the agreement have been posted in all fraternity houses, coed dormitories, and sorority houses, for the convenience of old and new students.

The agreement governs the privilege of coeds visiting fraternity houses, and the fraternity conduct in the presence of coed visitors. All fraternity houses and all coeds, both graduate and undergraduate, are responsible to this agreement.

The HPB has the authority to issue the agreement and the duty to see that it is enforced. This enforcement comes through periodic inspections and voluntary reporting by fraternities of any violations that have occurred in the house or on the premises. The signed agreement is a pledge by the fraternity house to uphold its provisions and all members of the Interfraternity Council, HPB, and all Coeds are bound by the Honor Code to report violations of this agreement.

For the benefit of the new coeds and fraternity members who have just returned to campus this quarter, the HPB wishes to call attention to the provisions that affect them:

1. Only those organizations whose houses have been approved by the HPB shall be allowed coed visiting privileges.
2. Approved houses may entertain women students only in the social rooms, hall, porches, and dining halls of their houses.
3. Approved houses shall be open to coeds from 12 o'clock noon until the coed dormitory closing time.
4. There shall be no consumption of alcoholic beverages in the presence of, or by, coeds in the house or on the premises of any organization.
5. Violations of the rules of this agreement by any coed shall be considered an Honor Council offense.
6. Every organization is responsible for any violations of the rules of this agreement which occurs in its house or on its premises. Fraternity members, boarders, and visitors are responsible to this agreement.

The HPB hopes that all coeds and fraternity members will become familiar with the agreement, and it trusts that violations during these Summer Sessions will be held to the minimum.
