Legislature Elects Officers for Summer

Jim Taylor Named to Be Speaker Pro-Tem; Bill Passed for Coeds to Have Later Hours

By Jack Abernethy

The Student Legislature elected officers for the summer session, adopted a set of by-laws for its constitution, and considered six bills during its second meeting of the summer Thursday night in Gerrard Hall. Officers elected for the current term were:

Speaker Pro-tem, Jim Taylor; Parliamentarian, Bob Morrison; Clerk, Pete Pully (first six weeks only); and four chairmen of committees: Al Lowenstein, Ways and Means; Tom Eller, Rules; Charles Fulton, Elections; and Taylor Dodson, Finance.

Coed Late Privileges

Enthusiastic and near unanimous support came from the floor for a bill to extend coed hours to 1:00 on Friday and Saturday. The bill was passed.

The election of officers was conducted by Charles Warren, who presided over the session. Dave Pittman See LEGISLATURE, page 4

Students Join Air Force Unit At Greensboro

Ex-Reserve Pilots Eligible to Join

Several Carolina students have joined the AAF reserve detachment that has been activated at Greensboro and they will begin flying training in July.

The reserve unit is part of a national army program to give former army personnel, now on reserve status, flying hours to maintain their proficiency and refresher training in related subjects. The Greensboro unit is one of 40 that have been activated throughout the country.

Any Reservist Eligible

Any ex-army pilot who is a reserve officer is eligible to join the unit. As a large number of army pilots are now attending Carolina it is expected that the unit will be filled with students.

Army aircraft to be used for training will be AT-6's, P-51's and AT-11's. Pilots will be expected to get a minimum of 80 hours in a year. Flying schedules will be arranged to suit individuals and it is expected that the bulk of the flying will be done on weekends. No uniforms will be worn while participating in flights.

No training program has been set up yet for crew members other than pilot, but as soon as the pilot program begins to function effort will be made to enable navigators and bombardiers to fly.

Reserve pilots interested in the program should contact Captain Thomas Seymour at Greensboro ORD.

Summer Head Elected By Dorm Council

Mackie Reminds Group of Policies

Meeting for the first time under the new Constitution, the Interdormitory Council this past Thursday, elected for the summer session as President Bill Callahan, Asheville; Vice-President, Don Witter, Winston-Salem; and Secretary-Treasurer, Louis Mitchell, Ahoskie.

This plan of electing officers for the summer session was suggested by regular Council President, Jimmy Wallace in a letter read by Dean E. L. Mackie, who called the first meeting to order. Wallace also said that when he returns this fall he will call for regular dormitory elections the first few weeks of the term.

Statement by Mackie

After elections had been completed, Dean Mackie made a statement that the Interdormitory Council should strengthen and invigorate its policy in regard to the disorder created in the dorms. He said that it was each student's responsibility to keep his end of the bargain in regard to the others around him and to respect the University's property as well. The Council was told by Dean Mackie to take action in any case of violation and co- See INTERDORM, page 4

Campus Drive Planned For Food Relief Funds

Room-by-Room Canvass for Funds Planned; Woestendiek Chairman of Campus Committee

Plans for the food relief drive on the Carolina campus took shape this week as the committee in charge of the student division collection prepared for an intensive campaign for funds scheduled to start Wednesday.

McArver Gets Marvin Smith Scholarship

Gastonia High School Graduate Selected

James Hugh McArver, 1946 graduate of Gastonia high school, has been awarded the Marvin B. Smith, Jr., Memorial Scholarship at the University.

Announcement was made by Dean D. D. Carroll of the School of Commerce, chairman of the scholarship committee. McArver was selected from among a number of applicants sent in by high school principals throughout North Carolina.

Each principal was asked to choose his most outstanding student aspiring to business who would need outside financial aid in order to go to college.

The Marvin B. Smith, Jr., Scholarship fund was set up by J. Harold Smith of Greensboro in memory of his son, a University graduate of 1926. The scholarship is for a four year term and yields $300 per year. McArver will enter the University in September.

Daily Tar Heel Places Delivery Complaint Box In Y Secretary's Office

In an effort to perfect circulation, under the present set-up Daily Tar Heel Circulation Manager Clifford Hemingway yesterday placed a complaint box in the secretary's office of the Y (telephone 6761).

According to Miss Marie Blaylock, YMCA office secretary, the office is open daily from 9 to 1 o'clock, and 2 to 5 o'clock. Complaints will be picked up there before each of the Wednesday and Saturday morning deliveries.

Delivery complaints may also be left in the Managing Editor's office (telephone F-3146) between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock every Monday and Friday afternoon.

Present circulation status calls for delivery to all fraternities and sororities in town, and all advertisers. Men's dormitories having halls are given door-to-door circulation, while an adequate number are left at each entrance of sectional dormitories.

In addition, a large pile is left in the YMCA lobby, Lenoir Hall, Graham Memorial office, and the Carolina Inn desk. Town students only are requested to pick up copies in these locations.

Complete town and door-to-door delivery will be provided for shortly after the beginning of the fall term. In the meantime, townspeople other than students may subscribe to the Daily Tar Heel by mail, by writing the Subscription Department, Box 1080, Chapel Hill. All regular deliveries and mailings are completed before 8 a. m.

Faculty members may subscribe and receive office delivery to all campus buildings only.

Linker Will Preside At ROA Meet Monday

Temporary officers of the newly formed Reserve Officer's Association will be elected at a meeting next Monday night at 8:30 p. m. in Graham Memorial. Robert W. Linker, active in reserve affairs before the war, will preside at the meeting.

Major Pinckney M. Bernstein, officer in charge of reserve affairs for North Carolina, will be on hand to answer any question relating to reserve officers.

The committee, headed by Bill Woestendiek, Daily Tar Heel editor, is composed of Dewey Dorsett, president of the student body, Bill Callahan, newly-elected president of the men's Inter-dorm council, Liz Barnes, head of the women's Inter-dorm group, Whit Osgood, president of the Interfraternity council, Jim Chessnut, president of the UVA, and Bob Kinsman, representing the AVC.

Starting Wednesday, a group of solicitors will solicit funds from students in all dormitories, fraternities, and sororities by selling tickets "to a banquet that they will never eat." The money collected from sale of the tickets will be turned in to Bill Poteat, acting secretary of the YMCA in his office in the Y.

A booth will be set up outside the Y Wednesday to accept contributions from students desirous of helping the starving peoples of other nations.

The drive in Chapel Hill is but a small part of a nation-wide campaign to collect funds to aid in fighting the famine that faces a hungry world. The drive in the community has been on for over a week with local citizens soliciting from door-to-door.

Student Union Will Produce Summer Show

Summer School students with entertainment talent are urged by Graham Memorial leaders to report for the summer revue, a specialty-variety show.

Bud Imbrey and Jack Dube, co-directors for the production, hope that new Carolina students "will not exhibit any shyness or hesitation in making their ability available for this big summer show."

Deadline on Monday

Entries should be handed in to the Graham Memorial office by Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. There is a need for all sorts of artistic talent—singers, comedians, dancers, vaudeville acts, magicians, skits, and anything amusing.

Entrants should turn in the following information: name, address, and specialty numbers, or a description of what they can do. Those chosen for participation in the show will be informed a few days after the Monday deadline.

A prize is to be awarded to the entrant who has the best act. Presentation of the production will be in Memorial Hall at some date as yet unannounced, but it is the hope of the co-directors that it will be given before the end of the first summer session.

Veterans Meet Tuesday Night All Ex-G.I.'s Invited To Policy Discussion

A meeting of all veterans on the campus has been called for 7:30 p. m., Tuesday night, July 2, in Gerrard Hall by the University Veterans Association. Every veteran is urged to attend this meeting whether they are members of the UVA or not.

At the meeting a complete statement of policy and objectives will be submitted, after which a discussion of the objectives and how each veteran may aid in obtaining them will take place.

Major problems that are to be discussed at the meeting are: the rising prices brought about by the lifting of price controls, the urgent need for better and increased housing facilities, the need for increased educational facilities to care for veterans now unable to enroll, the need to raise teachers' salaries, and a consideration of the need for increased subsistence allowances.

OPA Rent Control Starts On July 1st In Orange County

Ceiling to Be Amount Charged March 1, 1945; Local Program Will Be Under Durham Office

By Sam Whitehall

Climaxing two years work by the University administration, city aldermen, University Veterans Association, and the American Veterans Committee, the State OPA Rent Control office recently placed all of Orange County under absolute rent control. According to this decision, all room and home rents must be rolled back to the level of March 1, 1945, sixteen months ago, by midnight next Monday, July 1.

"Rents will be 'frozen' at the level of March 1, 1945, on all dwelling units including homes, apartments, hotels, rooming houses, tourist homes, trailer camps, and any room or sleeping quarters rented. It will be illegal for a landlord to collect any additional rent over the amount sixteen months ago," stated State OPA director, Theodore S. Johnson.

Rent control came about as the result of a recent survey reported to the OPA by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

In the interest of economical operation the Orange County rent control program will be directed by the same executive head as the Durham See OPA, page 4

J. M. Saunders Is Re-elected Alumni Head

When the American Alumni Council, composed of 350 members of colleges throughout the country, meets at Amherst College, Amherst, Mass., on July 10, J. Maryon Saunders, University Alumni Secretary, will preside as president of the organization for the second consecutive year.

At the previous meeting of the Council in July, 1945, Saunders was unanimously "frozen" to his job as president for the following year. His reelection to head the national organization is a fitting tribute to his fine work and to Carolina.

Honor to Eisenhower

Highlight of this year's conference will be the presentation of the American Alumni Council Award of Merit to General Dwight D. Eisenhower by President Saunders. The award, to be given at 12:15 p. m. on July 11, will be broadcast throughout the nation by N. B. C.

Saunders, better known as "Spike" on the campus, is completing his 19th year at Carolina as University Alumni Secretary, having accepted the post two years after his graduation in 1925. During "Spike's" long tenure the Alumni office has steadily grown until See SAUNDERS, page 4

English Group To Hear Taylor Three-Day Meeting Planned by Teachers

Dr. Harden F. Taylor of New York, former North Carolina science teacher whose research and executive abilities eventually made him president of a large industrial corporation, will address the fourth English Institute's Work Conference here Monday night at 8 o'clock in Navy Hall, it was announced by Richard G. Walsler, Institute president.

Other events of the three-day meeting will include a general conference of the fourth English Institute on "Practical Suggestions for Better English Instruction," a demonstration of audio-visual aids especially useful in English instruction, and a series of meetings of all committees of the North Carolina English Teachers.

Headquarters of the conference will be at Navy Hall, and rooms for teachers staying overnight will be reserved in Stacy Dormitory.

Taylor's Background

Dr. Taylor, who retired last year as president of the Atlantic Coast Fisheries and who was recently appointed director of the Survey of Marine Fisheries in North Carolina, is well known in this state. He graduated from Trinity College, now Duke University, in 1913 and was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Science by Duke University in 1930.

Friederich To Be Repaid If Proposed Bill Passes

An attempt to vindicate Dr. Werner Friederich of all charges that he was pro-Nazi was made by Rep. Carl T. Durham when he introduced a bill to pay Friederich for all time lost when he was fired by the OWI, after letters of protest reached its office.

(Reprinted from the Durham Morning Herald, June 27.)

Washington, June 27.—One of the most bitter controversies ever involving any University of North Carolina professor was revived here today with the introduction of a bill by Rep. Carl T. Durham to pay Dr. Werner Friederich of Chapel Hill $2,545 in compensation for time lost when he was fired by the Office of War Information before going to work for it.

Dr. Friederich was employed by OWI and ordered to report to work on April 10, 1945. He was granted a leave of absence as a member of the University faculty but before reporting to work, he was notified by OWI that his services could not be used.

It developed that a group of other faculty members, led by Dr. E. E. Erickson, had charged that Dr. Friederich was a pro-Nazi and to support their charges had submitted a published paper written by him several years ago.

Under these circumstances, OWI refused to employ Dr. Friederich and he was unable to return to his University position until Nov. 1, 1945. The sum which would be appropriated by the Durham bill is the amount of pay Dr. Friederich would have received from OWI if he had been employed by it between April 10 and Nov. 1.

Commercial Executives Take Examinations Today

Institute Closes After Week of Classes; Attended by Delegates from 11 States

By Sally Woodhull

Examinations will be given today to more than 250 commercial organization executives from 11 Southern states who attended the third annual Southeastern Institute for Commercial Organization Executives held at the University of North Carolina this week.

One of six similar training schools being held throughout the country, the institute has been sponsored, with the cooperation of the University, by the State Secretaries Association of the Southeast, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and the Southern Commercial Secretaries Association.

Navy Hall Headquarters

Headquarters for the institute have been Navy Hall, and regular classes, consisting mostly of refresher courses in such subjects as publicity and public relations, management-labor relations, industrial activities, public affairs, and information and finance, have been given to the institute students by instructors from the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, Chambers of University School of Commerce.

In addition to classes, other features of college life participated in by the commerce students were the publishing of a daily newspaper, the "Southeastern Breeze," of which John Baskerville of Lenoir was editor and John Thomas of Wilson was managing editor; a speaking contest in which Arthur Cundy of Rockingham took first place; a bathing beauty contest in which Johnny Dwyer of Fort Myers, Fla., was judged most beautiful; and a stunt night in which first prizes went to George Arrington of Commerce of large Southern cities, and members of the faculty of the New Bern and Opie Shelton of Meri- See COMMERCE, page 4
