Delay Expected For GI Checks

Bradley Explains Application Rush

Washington, Oct. 5—(UP)—Veterans attending school under the GI Bill of Rights may have a delay of a month or longer before they receive their subsistence allowances.

The Veterans Administrator, Gen. Omar Bradley, says it will be at least November 10th before they receive their subsistence checks. He explains that the agency is swamped with applications and the necessary processing will delay the mailing of the checks.

Bradley also had a few words to add to the controversy between himself and former American Legion Commander John Stelle over the on-the-job training program. Stelle had criticized the establishment of a ceiling over on-the-job training payments. At the recent Legion convention in San Francisco, Bradley had defended the action. Today he called the affair a "personal vendetta."

Army Transport Nears End of Lengthy Flight

GENEVA, Oct. 5—(UP)—The Superfortress Pacusan Dreamboat is nearing the end of its 10,000-mile non-stop flight over the top of the world. The plane was about an hour ahead of schedule as it roared across the snow-capped Alps of Switzerland and Italy. Ahead of it lie the blue waters of the Mediterranean and its final destination—Cairo. If the fuel supply lasts, the B-29 that took off from Honolulu yesterday may go 600 miles beyond the Egyptian capital. But the way things look now, the Dreamboat is expected to land at Cairo around 1:50 a. m. tonight.

Shipping Conference Delayed Until Monday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—(UP)—Shipping negotiations have been broken off till Monday with the rival parties still deadlocked. The government conciliation service, which has been trying to bring about a settlement, describes the situation as "quite confused." The striking unions are the A. F. of L. Masters, Mates and Pilots and the C. I. O. Marine Engineers. They've cut their original demands by about half, and are now asking wage increases of 18 and 17 per cent respectively. The shipowners have offered 12 per cent. Negotiations are to be resumed Monday.

Elder Statesman Hull Said to Be Improving

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—(UP)—Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull appears to be gaining in his fight for life. The aged statesman, who suffered a stroke Tuesday on the eve of his 75th birthday, is reported still in serious condition but showing improvement. He spent a more comfortable night than usual last night, and Bethesda Hospital officials report that he has shown continued improvement throughout the day.

Government of Sweden Sets Russian Treaty

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 5—(UP)—All the conflicting reports on a trade agreement between Russia and Sweden now have been silenced by an official announcement. The Swedish Foreign Office says that the talks between the two countries have been concluded successfully, and that the government has authorized a Swedish delegation to sign an agreement with Russia. The details of that agreement will be revealed soon.

Inflation for Sure: Juke Box Costs Rise

New York, Oct. 5—(UP)—Here is a new inflationary note: Juke box enthusiasts may have to pay double to hear their favorite crooner and dance band. A juke box industry official says it may soon cost a dime, instead of a nickel, to hear a record. He blames higher material costs.

Jayvees Squad Nips Navy 'B' Outfit, 38-13

THOMPSON FIELD, Annapolis, Md., Oct. 5—A deceptive University of North Carolina Jayvee squad, paced by the swift jaunts of Floyd "Chunk" Simmons, defeated an outclassed Naval Academy "B" team, 38-13, here this afternoon.

Carolina took the lead in the first frame when Simmons ran 31 yards to the Navy one-yard strip. He scored on the next play to put the Tar Heels in front. The try for the extra point failed.

In the second period, Howard Horton dashed across for Carolina from the 12-yard line. Navy's initial marker came in the second quarter when Doris counted on an end run. The half ended with the Tar Heels holding a slight edge, 12-7.

Carolina's jet-powered offense smattered the Tars in the final two stanzas as the Tar Heels amassed 26 points to Navy's six. A 22-yard toss from Gregory to Cook added six more for Carolina shortly after the opening of the final half. The southern visitors tallied again on Purcell's end run, but Navy scored again on a quarterback sneak to put the count at 24-13 as the third quarter ended.

Two line bucks handed the Tar Heels a decisive margin in the final period. Horton and Fleming counted for the final scores to hand Carolina the game, 38-13.

CPU Will Discuss Soviet-U. S. Status

The Carolina Political Union will discuss relations between Russia and the United States at its meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Grail room. As a joint topic the controversy between ex-Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace and Secretary of State Jimmy Byrnes will also be mentioned.

Bob Jones and E. B. Jeffress will introduce the discussion.

A treasurer to replace David Pittman who has left school to join the service will be elected at tonight's meeting. All members of the Union who have returned to Carolina are invited to reaffiliate with the organization. Visitors are also welcome.

WNC Club To Hold Dance this Month

First social event of the Western North Carolina club will be a square dance to be held sometime during October. Only members and their dates will be invited.

Plans for the dance were made Thursday night at the first meeting of the fall season. Other social events will be held at various times during the year.

The Western North Carolina club is open to all students who are residents or former residents of that section of the state. The next meeting will be October 17, said Norman Pless, club president.

Shakespearian Dr. Taylor Advises Laughing at Self

By Jane Mears

Thumbs lodged in his vest pockets, one foot planted on a chair, Professor George Coffin Taylor lectures on Shakespeare and philosophizes on any aspect of "human nature that comes into his head. Known on campus to be indefatigable, forceful and enigmatic, he instructs a class of 80 in a tough, stimulating course.

Taylor frankly invites all who did not expect to turn out a high caliber of honest work to quit the course. "You shouldn't take Shakespeare if you just want a course at 11 o'clock in the morning," he warned. He is very interested in people and even though he may not remember your

Circulation of DTH Risked In Exposing Lena the Hyena

By Sam Whitehall

So stupendously horrible that the editors of the Daily Tar Heel debated for hours the advisability of exposing LeRoy Bannerman's likeness of Lena the Hyena to the gaze of the unsuspecting public, it was decided late yesterday to run her picture only if a telegram was sent to Dogpatch warning Mammy Yokum of her impending peril. Earlier in the day there was an attempt by University physicians to ban publication of Lena's picture until such time as the new medical school is completed.

A hurried call, however, to both Duke and Wake Forest's Medical Schools revealed that enough physicians could be rushed to Chapel Hill to handle the thousands of expected casualties. In addition authorities at Fort Bragg agreed to rush a battalion of air-borne medics to the aid of this beleaguered hamlet.

Decided It Was Safe

Encouraged by the magnificent cooperation of the state medical profession the editors decided it was safe to run the accompanying engraving of LeRoy Bannerman's drawing. Through the use of a top-secret Army gadget designed to shield the eyes against the flash of atomic bombs newsmen were able to handle the revolting Lena with a minimum of casualties. Since ordinary students are not so privileged a special bulletin will be put out by South Building with directions on how to proceed to the nearest aid stations.

All students are warned that any person exhibiting such symptoms as

IRC Will Discuss 'State of Nation'

"State of the Nation," a discussion of the economic conditions and war losses of England, Russia and America will be discussed by the International Relations Club on Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Roland Parker Lounge of Graham Memorial. All interested persons may attend the meeting.

The purpose of the discussion is to find the relative economic strength of nations in terms of war and peace in manpower, material, present and past state of industry, and the peak of wartime production.

"The much battered theme of political aspirations and alliances will be excluded and the original outline rigorously adhered to," says Betty Ann Green, president.

The IRC has undergone a thorough change of policy and personnel, one of its chief aims being to bring to the campus the less known but equally important current events of the day.

Yack Space Contracts Will Close On Monday

Presidents of all campus organizations must sign contracts for space in this year's Yackety-Yack Monday afternoon in the Yack office from 2 to 5 o'clock, business manager Jean Huske stated yesterday.

It is essential that the contracts be signed Monday if the organization is to have picture space reserved in the annual.

Graham, House Join Plea For Numerous Changes

Officials Term Large Amount of Asked Budget 'Urgent' to Fill Present Needs of University

The University has asked for permanent improvements valued at $13,737,950 as its share of $30,663,950 recommended by officials of the Greater University for permanent improvements at Greensboro, Chapel Hill and Raleigh, during the 1947-49 biennium. Of this amount the officials representing Carolina termed $7,819,800 worth of requested structures and equipment as "urgent."

Largest items among those described as an absolute necessity were: Extension to the library, $1,425,000; construction of a new commerce department building, $1,162,500; utilities expansion, $1,835,000; construction of four new dormitories comprising 500 rooms, $2,000,000; educational training and high school building, $250,000; new language class building, $382,500; an addition to Lenoir dining hall, $234,000; shop building and garage, $210,000; and addition and alteration of medical building, $200,000.

Medical School Expansion
Recalling the recent expansion of the two-year medical school to a full four years, Chancellor Robert B. House, representing the University, pointed out that although the budget contains an item of $200,000 for additions and alterations to the medical building, "all other items connected with expansion of the medical school are hospital items which should come before you (Advisory Budget Commission) in your later hearing on the total integrated plant of hospitals and medical care."

The University is also seeking an operating budget of $1,897,286 for 1947-48 and $1,817,634 for 1948-49. This constitutes an increase of approximately $707,000 annually due for the most part to a recommended 20 per cent increase in professors' salaries.

$21,000,000 Necessary Improvements
Representatives of State College, Woman's College, and Carolina told the Commission that improvements costing over $21,000,000 are absolutely necessary if the schools are to expand sufficiently to care for current and anticipated increases in enrollment.

State College has asked for improvements totalling nearly $8,000,000, while Woman's College sought around $9,000,000 for the biennium. Among the speakers appearing before the Advisory Budget Commission was Dr. Frank P. Graham, President of the Greater University, who pointed out the State's obligation to provide the best in educational facilities for its youth.

Carolina Dames Plan Social Hour Tuesday
The first Fall meeting of the Carolina Dames will be Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. All student wives are invited.

Tuesday's meeting will consist of a social hour at which officers of the club will be introduced.

Baptist Student Union To Meet This Evening

"As I See Religion," in terms of its place and effect on the University campus this year, will be the subject of a discussion by student leaders at the weekly Baptist Student Union meeting in the Baptist church at 7:45 tonight.

Dewey Dorsett, president of the student body, Don Broad, president of the YMCA, Don Shropshire, president of the Phi senate, and Bill Woestendiek, Daily Tar Heel editor, will all deliver brief talks on the subject as they see it.

A Welcome Sight . . .

Pictured above is a "demountable," one of the thirty houses the Chapel Hill Veterans Housing Commission is securing to sell at no profit to student veterans. Officials of the commission announced that 15 of the 30 houses are still available. Applications should be sent to John Foushee, head of the housing commission appointed by Mayor Robert W. Madry.
