Phi Gam, Grad Elevens Show Power on Grid

Register Easy Wins In Touch Football

The champions of last year's touch football season, the Phi Gams, unloaded a 28-0 barrage to whip the Sigma Nu No. 1 team yesterday. The Phi Gam No. 2 team did the damage to the Sigma Nu's, while the number one team, supposedly the best one, does not play until Monday, when they meet the KA's. Scoring for the Phi Gams yesterday were Buel, Ellington, and Rice.

The Grads, sparked by Julian Smith, copped their second win in two days as they romped over the Pharmacy team by a score of 26 to 0. The Grads, old heads at the game, loom as a possible threat to last year's champions.

The SAE No. 1 squad showed their strength as they trounced the DKE No. 2 outfit by a score of 14-0. George Whittaker and Blair Gammon scored for the Sig Alphas.

Justice, Rodgers Ready to Go

Ralph Strayhorn, above, will be a big factor in the game with Maryland here this afternoon. Strayhorn, a Carolina lineman from a few years back has returned from the service and is playing bang-up ball. He was one of the outstanding men against Miami last week.

Mont, Wright Lead Visitors' Offense

(Continued from page 1.) All-America recognition, and fills a big hole in his guard position. Another strong point of the Shaugnessey-coached eleven is the flank. Maryland ends are considered probably the Liners' biggest scoring punch, for they have them several deep with good ability all down the line.

Williamson Out

Carolina's chances will be dampened somewhat by the absence of big Ernie Williamson in the line, the tackle having reinjured himself in the Miami tussle. He will definitely miss action, and Stan Marczyk, a tackle on the same side, is ailing from an ankle injury suffered against Miami and will be able to see only limited play according to latest reports.

A crowd of near 20,000 is expected to be on hand to watch the Tar Heels in their second home appearance of the season. The first was against VPI when the visitors made two touchdowns in the second half to tie the UNC gridders 14-14.

As for Coach Snavely's opinion of the game this afternoon, the silver-haired Carolina mentor expressed fear that the Tar Heels might be "down" after spanking Miami 21-0. He said that Maryland would be on the rebound and tough to handle. "We'll have to be at our best to win this game," he declared.

Maryland, whose headquarters on the trip have been in Raleigh, worked out in Chapel Hill yesterday afternoon to polish off their attack and defense, and the Tar Heels held a light practice themselves in heavy equipment.

The lineup:

Carolina	Maryland
LE—Romano	Davis
LT—Marczyk or Hendrick	Goodman
C—Highsmith	Fehr
LG—Strayhorn	Kenney
TR—Hazelwood	Fritz
RG—Varney	Bishop
TE—Hartig	Simler
QB—Hartig	Mont
LH—Justice	Shisack

Red Sox Top Cards, 6-3, To Take Lead in Series

Dobson Gives Four Hits in Crucial Tilt; Teams Return to St. Louis, Play Sunday

Boston, Oct. 10—(UP)—The strong right arm of ex-Army sergeant Joe Dobson carried the Boston Red Sox to a 6-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals here today in the crucial fifth game of the World Series.

The Red Sox now hold a 3-2 advantage over the Cards as the two teams leave Boston and head back for St. Louis, where they will play the sixth contest Sunday and a seventh, if necessary, on Monday.

The big righthander allowed only four hits, fanned eight, and gave up one free pass. On the other hand, his mound opponent, southpaw Howie Pollett, just didn't have it and lasted less than an inning. Lefty Al Brazle relieved and was charged with the loss, finally going out for a pinch-hitter in the eighth after which Johnny Beazley set the Sox down in a one-inning stint.

Ted Williams, who hasn't been hitting up to his press clippings so far, had the honor of blasting Pollett out. After second-baseman Don Gutteridge, replacement for the ailing Bobby Doerr, and Johnny Pesky shook the Red Bird ace up with a pair of singles, Williams finished him off with a sharp single to right that brought home Boston's first run. That was Ted's contribution to victory, Brazle stopping him the rest of the way with two strikeouts and an infield pop.

But Brazle couldn't stop the rest of the Red Sox, especially the hunch players manager Joe Cronin had inserted in the lineup—Gutteridge, Leon Culberson, and Roy Partee. Gutteridge's second hit, in the second frame, sent Partee home with the run that put Boston in front for good. Culberson also made two hits, including a homer, the fourth made by the Red Sox in the Series. The Sox scored three more in a big seventh inning to ice the game.

The Cards picked up two in the ninth as a result of Pesky's miscue of George Kuroski's grounder after Stan Musial had walked. After an infield out that should have ended the contest, Harry Walker singled in the two runs but Dobson retired Marty Marion to quell any thoughts of a rally.

Soccer Candidates Undergo Long Drill As Team Takes Shape

Coach Marvin Allen ran his soccer candidates through a hard practice session yesterday on Fetzer field. For the second day in succession the squad underwent a strenuous scrimmage, the result of which emphasized the fact that the team is fastly beginning to take shape.

An unknown Virginia team will invade Chapel Hill next Friday with the same amount of practice behind them as have the Tar Heels. The game should prove interesting since both teams are as yet untried this season.

Nothing definite has been decided in so far as the starting lineup is concerned, and all berths remain open. However, many boys have shown up well and are bidding strongly for initial positions. Fighting for the inside right position are Frost and Magill. The probable starter at the inside left berth will be Baessa, the experienced former L.S.U. star. Showing up well at the right wing and left wing posts respectively are Jackson and McDermut. Three men are struggling for the halfback slots, Stofonik, Johnson, and Shous. Looking good at fullback are Johnston and Van Zandt.

Ranson Schedules Time Trials Today

Coach Dale Ranson of the Carolina cross country team announced yesterday that all cross country men are to report to the Fetzer field house this morning at 10 o'clock for important time trials prior to the Navy meet next weekend.

Scott Cuts Cage Candidates To Working Squad Of 40 Men

Basketball Aspirants To Start Heavy Work Monday For December Opener With Marines

Ending his first full week yesterday as head mentor of Carolina's cage squad, Coach Tom Scott streamlined his crew down to the 40-man working basis he will carry until the schedule season opener with the Cherry Point Marines on December 4.

Beginning with 150 cage aspirants, Scott and his assistants, Pete Mullis and Bo Shepard, have spent the week looking over the squad and eliminating men that were not varsity material this year.

Coach Scott intends to get the men down to strict work Monday, beginning the two month training grind before the basketball schedule starts. The coaching staff plan to stress fundamentals of ball handling and floor play for the first few weeks of practice.

Gridmen to Report

Several prospective candidates are expected to report from the football squad at the conclusion of the grid season. Among these are Jack Fitch, who was a letterman on the courts before the war, and Art Weiner, who is rated one of the brighter prospects.

In addition to four of last season's starters, Johnny Dillon, Bob Paxton, Taylor Thorne, and Jim White, Coach Scott has several new candidates looking good on the courts whom he expects to use to give depth to his outfit. Among some of the promising candidates working out are Jim Hamilton, who played at Kansas State Teachers' College; Sherman Nearman, Charleston, West Va.; Coy Carson, of Asheville; N. W. Cole, a former member of Wesleyan College; Norman Kohler, who played on the freshman team at L.L.U.; and Fred Ryan, from New Jersey.
