Little Nations At UN Session Hit Veto Abuse

Spanish Dictator Also Criticized

Flushing, N. Y., Oct. 24—(UP)—The United Nations General Assembly is wasting no time in coming to grips with the most controversial international issues of the day. In today's first operating session, two important issues, the big power veto and Franco Spain, were raised.

Speaking for the small nations—which are out to abolish or shackle Big Five veto powers—Mexico and Belgium lashed into what they call the abuse of veto power in the Security Council. Both the Mexican and Belgian delegates charged that the way the veto has been handled has done much to tarnish the prestige of the Security Council.

Belgium Blasts Franco

In calling for action against the regime of the Spanish dictator, Belgium agreed with United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie, who opened debate today. Lie asked the United Nations to take action to restore liberty and democracy in Spain.

A New Zealander was elected chairman of the United Nations Social, Humanitarian and Cultural committee, August Berendsen.

Petrillo Calls Strike Against Record Makers

Chicago, Oct. 24—(UP)—It looks as though there will be a musicians strike against the electrical transcription companies this Sunday. President James Petrillo of the AF of L Musicians union says his men will quit recording on Sunday if the industry doesn't agree to 50 per cent wage increases. Industry officials, representing such companies as RCA, Decca and Capitol, say they won't agree.

British Workers Laud Greek Election Policy

London, Oct. 24—(UP)—The representatives of six and a half million British workers have given their approval to Prime Minister Atlee's controversial policy in Greece. The Trades Union Congress has voted down an attempt by Electrical Union delegates to censure the government for its actions. In answer to the charges by the electrical workers, Atlee said the British in Greece were not trying to decide how the Greeks should vote. He said they were merely seeing that the method of arriving at a decision is "just and fair."

Union Head Sees End To Shipping Walkout

New York, Oct. 24—(UP)—The Masters, Mates and Pilots union has offered new proposals to the east and gulf coast shippers, and the chairman of the union negotiation committee, William Ash, predicts that an agreement may be reached before tomorrow.

Ash has hopes of reaching an agreement in conferences now under way. He says the union is ready to introduce some new ideas in the discussion of a demand for union security. The union negotiator says he believes the operators will agree to the new proposals. The issue of union security has been the chief obstacle to settlement of the strike.

Von Papen Offers Aid To German Diplomats

Berlin, Oct. 24—(UP)—The ace trouble shooter of Hitler's diplomatic corps is anxious to put his talents to use for the new Germany. Franz von Papen, recently acquitted by the Nuernberg tribunal, says he'd be willing to use his diplomatic experience to help Germany regain a place as a respectable member of the family of nations.

At present von Papen appears worried about the possibility that he will have to face a German denazification tribunal soon. He is living at the home of a former soldier who was in his regiment in the last war, a man who is now the chief of German criminal police in Nuernberg.

Student Union Directors Approve Travel Agency

Board Okays Opening of Candlelight Room, Installation of Stage Lights in Memorial Hall

The Graham Memorial Board of Directors announced yesterday that the setting up of a travel agency in the union, the re-opening of the Candlelight Room, and the installation of permanent stage lights in Memorial hall were among the approved projects of the student union for this fall. The board also approved the 1946-47 student union budget.

Funds were voted to be used to set up the travel agency in the campus organizations room on the second floor of the student union building. Bob Watson, head of the office, is prepared to secure reservations and plane or train tickets for students, as well as to give them a complete list of changes, times, and prices to any point in the United States. He will also handle travel schedules of foreign students who wish to go abroad.

Jones Named Manager

Johnny Jones, third year student and secretary-treasurer of the student body, was named by the board as the new manager of the Candlelight Room. Jones said that among the projected additions to the club would be a stage and dressing room.

The board voted to give $500 toward the installation of permanent stage lights in Memorial Hall. Harry Davis of the Playmakers will be in charge of the project.

Another project approved by the board was the student union handbook, which is now being edited under guidance of Roland Giduz, managing editor of the Daily Tar Heel.

Plans are now underway to purchase a clock for the Main Lounge of Graham Memorial and another piano which will be kept permanently in the building so that the small piano may be circulated about the campus.

Vote Against Fountain

The board voted against installing a soda fountain in the Candlelight room.

Director Martha Rice announced plans to include several entertainment programs for married students and their wives. She also stated that efforts were being made to find barbers to open the barber shop on the ground floor of the student union building.

Vocational Experts To Hold Conference Here Next Week

By Darley Lochner

Miss Fannie Mitchell, placement director of Duke university, will head the list of vocational experts who will lead the "Keys to a Career" conference to be held here next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

Planned to aid women both in choosing vocations and finding openings in careers already selected, the conference will present Miss Helen Warren, merchandising expert from Woodward and Lothrop department store in Washington, Miss Leah Parker, National Girl Scout executive of New York city, and Miss Olive Walsler, personnel advisor for the national YMCA. In addition to the visiting conference leaders, local experts in the various vocations open to women will also be present.

Will Hold Tea

A tea for all coeds in Graham Memorial lounge at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon will officially open the career conference. Miss Mitchell's keynote address, "Placement Opportunities for the University Women", will follow the tea at 5 o'clock. Miss Agatha Adams, chairman of the University vocational and educational guidance committee, will preside at the first session. Miss Mitchell will be introduced by Chancellor R. B. House.

The two concluding days of the meeting will be used for group meetings. Leaders in various vocations will discuss the opportunities and requirements in their fields. Among the vocations to be considered will be photography, languages, library work, laboratory technology, medical technology, hydrobiology, social work, merchandising, journalism, business and industrial personnel positions, educational personnel jobs, YWCA positions and social science research opportunities.

Group Discussion Leaders

Leaders in the group discussions will be Stuart Sechrist, J. C. Lyons, Miss Susan Akers, R. E. Coker, Miss Muriel McLaughlin, Arthur Fink, Mrs. Isabelle Carter, Miss Warren, Walter Spearman, Richard Calhoun, Miss Parker, W. H. Plemmons, Miss Walsler and John Ivey.

All coeds, both graduate and undergraduate, are being sent conference registration blanks. Each woman will be given an opportunity to sign for all discussion groups in which she is interested. Miss Kathryn Cook, head of the vocational guidance department for women, requests that those receiving registration blanks return them to her office, 209 South building, as soon as possible so that more detailed arrangements for the various groups may be completed.

YD Will Distribute Ballot Applications To Absentee Voters

The absentee ballot system of voting, under the sponsorship of the Young Democrat's club, will be available this fall to all qualified students who are residents of North Carolina.

Jimmy Taylor, president of the YDC, stated that there has been 2500 applications for absentee ballots received from the State Board of Elections in Raleigh and that they will be distributed in the "Y" this afternoon to students who want them. If a student has registered in the previous years he does not have to re-register. All necessary is to send in this application to the chairman of his own county board of elections.

"I want to remind all students," said Taylor, "that this is for the general elections and not the primary. I also want to urge all North Carolina residents to get one of these applications as it is the duty of every citizen to vote this November."

There will be a qualified representative at the Y to answer all questions concerning election laws and the procedure of procuring the absentee ballots.

Doctors Ask Five Million To Expand Medical School

The State Medical Care commission yesterday requested the Advisory Budget commission to appropriate $14,742,520 for operation of a statewide health program during the next five years. Over one-third of the grant asked—$5,200,000—would be used to expand the UNC Medical school at Chapel Hill and for erect of a 400-bed hospital.

The Medical commission's action represents another forward move by North Carolina to provide a state-operated four-year school for doctors. Previously the National Committee for Medical School—Hospital Survey had recommended expansion of the Chapel Hill facilities from the present two-year status, and university officials led by President Frank Graham have urged the action.

Nursing School Asked

Dr. William M. Coppridge of Durham, representing the State Medical society, declared that despite the existence of two four-year schools in the state now many doctors had to leave North Carolina to complete their education, and that "few" of

Statewide Student Assembly Deferred By UNC Legislature

IRC to Form UN Committee

Ed York Will Head Campus Organization

With the formation of a United Nations committee of the IRC, the University of North Carolina becomes the 86th campus in the country to be represented in the American Association for the United Nations.

Organized on Oct. 10th this year, the local group headed by Ed York, will meet every fourth Monday during the school year. All meetings will be open to the public, York explained.

According to its chairman, the committee, which is a part of nationwide college project launched last spring, will act as an "information center on UNO activities, thus helping to make world government a living reality to students here."

Planning Special Program

As a part of this program, York's panel is making plans for a special series of forums modeled after the General Assembly, and Security Council of the UNO.

On the committee's immediate agenda is the regular Monday night IRC meeting which will be turned over exclusively to UNO discussion in observance of United Nations week which will last until next Wednesday.

Visitors May See Armory Tomorrow

The Naval ROTC armory on South Columbia street will be open for inspection by visitors Saturday morning from 9 until 12 o'clock in celebration of Navy Day.

Navy Day will be celebrated throughout the nation on Saturday to honor the men who died during World War II, giving their lives in defense of their country.

Captain D. W. Loomis, professor of Naval Science at the University, has issued an invitation to all residents of the Chapel Hill area to visit the armory to view the equipment being employed in the instruction of future officers of the Navy.

Arrangements have been made to show a special film, "Naval Guns in the Pacific" during the hours of the open house. The film will be shown at 9:30, 10:15, and 11:15 o'clock Saturday morning.

JEWISH SERVICES TONIGHT

Jewish Friday evening services will be held at 7:30 this evening in the Roland Parker Lounge in Graham Memorial. Visitors are welcome to attend.

Voting Registration For General Election Will Close Tomorrow

Election officials remind students of voting age that tomorrow will be the last day of registration for the November 5 general elections. Those students who have established legal residence other than Chapel Hill must register at their home precincts, where they may obtain absentee ballots. Local residents may register at the Elementary school or at the fire station, depending upon their home address.

Only exception from tomorrow's deadline is made to students who become 21 between tomorrow and the day of election. These may register at any time prior to November 5.

Students, to be eligible to participate in the election, must be 21 years of age, and have resided in this state since November 5, 1945 and in their precinct since July 5, 1946. Those listed on the primary registration books are not required to register again.

Chemistry Sorority Celebrates Birthday

Alpha Chapter of Theta Psi Epsilon, honorary chemistry sorority, entertained chemistry major transfers at an open house in the Alpha Chi Sigma room at Venable hall Tuesday night.

The event was also held to celebrate the second birthday of Theta Psi Epsilon which was organized in 1944 by several interested coeds majoring in the field of chemistry. Membership in the organization is confined to those women chemistry majors who have an average of "C" or better in their studies. The group meets each Tuesday evening and has as its guest speakers various professors and graduate students who are doing chemical research.

Purposes of the group are to promote an interest in chemistry among students, to foster mutual advancement in academic, business, and social life, and to provide opportunity for personal contacts between women who have chosen the same field of study.

Pledging ceremonies for new members of the sorority will be held next Tuesday evening at 6:45 o'clock in the Alpha Chi Sigma Room, Venable hall.

Officers of Theta Psi Epsilon are: Mary Lloyd Brown, president; Jean Chesson Couch, vice-president; Mary Kellam, treasurer; Connie Smith, recording secretary; Bettie Washburn, corresponding secretary; and Laura Powers, historian.

UNC Professors Attend Princeton Conference

Dr. Sturgis Leavitt of the romance languages department and Dr. Glenn Hayden of the music department attended a conference last week on "The Humanistic Tradition in the Century Ahead" at Princeton, N. J. in connection with the bicentennial celebration of Princeton University.

James B. Conant, president of Harvard University, Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, Baron Lindsay of Balliol College, Oxford University, and Archibald MacLeish, former librarian of Congress were numbered among others whom Princeton invited to attend.

Third of Student Body Gets Flu Inoculation

Almost one-third of the enrollment—2,162 students—yesterday volunteered for vaccination against influenza. Dr. E. McG. Hedgepeth, University Health service director, reported that the mass operation went "smoothly," with rapid operation at both inoculation centers.

Vaccination will continue today from 9 a.m. till 1 p.m. and from 2 to 5 at Memorial hall and the Infirmary.

WESLEY TO MEET TONIGHT

There will be a meeting of the Wesley Foundation in the east parlor of the Methodist church tonight at 8 o'clock.

Group to Consider Joint Sponsorship With Other Schools

By Barron Mills

The Student Legislature last night steam-rolled through an amendment to refer to a committee the possibilities of sponsoring the North Carolina State Student Legislature either here on campus or at the State Capitol in Raleigh.

The State Student Legislature was previously sponsored by State college, which used the facilities of the State Capitol. However this year a letter from a faculty member of State college to Bob Morrison, speaker of the Phi Assembly, stated that there was not need for such an assembly this year and therefore the college would not sponsor it.

Wallace Gives Reason

Legislator Jimmy Wallace stated that this decision was reached by the State college group because last year the Student State Legislature voted to include representatives from Negro colleges in the state against the wish of some of its State College delegates.

The passed amendment for sponsoring the State Student Legislature included that the committee would make investigation of all possibilities of sponsoring the legislature jointly with several nearby Universities so that there would be less dissention between this university and State College. Wallace stated that President Graham suggested the joint sponsorship.

Committee Will Plan

The investigating committee will also allot the number of delegates each university may send, make arrangements with the administration, and send letters to the various schools.

The original bill for the conference called for representative delegates from the various student organizations on campus. Don Shropshire stated that the delegates should not be selected in this manner since the main purpose of an assembly of this type was mainly for "actual participation in parliamentary procedure and that every organization on campus was not interested in this. He advocated that it should be up to the Debate Council to select the delegates as in former years.

Shropshire's statement brought a howl from many of the legislators and his attempt to get the selection in the hands of the Debate council was defeated.

Winston Broadfoot, chairman of the rules committee, proposed an addition to the by-laws of the legislature. His proposal, a statement also in the constitution, was to require all legislators to be a resident of the district from which they were elected. It was pointed out that there are now eight delegates in the legislature who do not live in the districts from which they were elected. The proposal was adopted.

WNC Club to Hold Dance at 9 Tonight In Coed Gymnasium

The WNC Club mountaineers will stage a square dance in keeping with their native customs tonight from 9 until 12 o'clock in the Women's gymnasium. Members of the club will call the figures which will include everything from the "shoo fly swing" to the "Georgia rang tang". The best dancers will be selected for a demonstration team for the Sadie Hawkins day dance. A band of hillbillies led by Garland Cates will come from Swepsonville to play for the event.

Admittance is by membership card only. Each member may bring a date and one guest who may also bring a date. Special guests will be Chancellor House and Martha Rice, Graham Memorial director.

Although the dance is informal coeds are requested not to wear blue jeans.
