Tar Heels Prepare To Ambush Indians

Carolina Out to Topple Virginians From Lead in Conference Standings

(SPECIAL TO THE DAILY TAR HEEL)

Richmond, Va., Nov. 8—The University of North Carolina football team, some 42 strong, arrived here this evening by car and bus for its battle here tomorrow with William and Mary before a sell-out crowd of 18,000 fans.

NEWS BRIEFS

Russians Flay British in UN

Charge Warring Against Albanians

New York, Nov. 8—(UP)—A Russian republic has brought new charges against Britain before the United Nations. The Soviet Ukraine charged tonight that Great Britain is trying to provoke Albania into a battle with the Royal Navy—so that Albania can be barred from the UN.

The Ukrainian delegate to the political and security committee said that British ships are, as he put it, "Parading off the Albanian coast." And he added—"I can't help but surmise that the only purpose is to provoke shore fire."

US Reaffirms Faith In United Nations

Flushing, N. Y., Nov. 8—(UP)—The United States tonight promised that it will back the United Nations to the hilt regardless of the complexity of the government in Washington. The assurance was given to the UN tonight by Senator Arthur Vandenberg, the acknowledged leader of the newly-elected Republican Senate in matters of foreign policy. He spoke tonight at a meeting of the General Assembly's budgetary committee. He told the 51-nation committee that it could count on the whole-hearted cooperation of the U. S.

In his speech, Senator Vandenberg re-iterated the U. S. view that 50% of the United Nations expenses is too much for America to pay.

Continued Fight Asked For New Deal Policies

Washington, Nov. 8—(UP)—The newly-formed conference of Progressives has called on New Deal elements to fight any reactionary legislation by the new Congress. Led by two former cabinet ministers in the Roosevelt administration—Henry Morgenthau and Harold Ickes—the Progressives have refused to acknowledge that the Republican landslide was a setback to Progressive forces. As Harold Ickes told newsmen—"The Republican-controlled Congress elected this week can't be worse than the last Congress." The Progressive group has called a major conference in Washington in January to draft a New Deal action program.

World's Largest Plane To Make First Flight

Los Angeles, Nov. 8—(UP)—The world's largest transport plane, the Lockheed Constitution, will get its first test flight tomorrow. The giant ship is capable of carrying 180 persons for more than 5,000 miles non-stop. It will take off from Burbank, California, and fly out over the California desert.

Total Killing of OPA Expected Very Soon

Washington, Nov. 8—(UP)—It will not be long now before all government wage and price controls, except on rents and a few scarce items, are scrapped. High administration sources say an over-all decontrol order will be issued in the very near future. The blanket order is being drafted by Reconstruction Director John Steelman for final approval by the President before it is issued.

Weather Today

Predicted today for central North Carolina: Fair and mild.

Pre-game reports have established Carolina as slight favorites, but most onlookers rate the game as a tossup. It will be the Tar Heels' third Southern conference clash and the sixth for the Indians, who are unbeaten in their five previous loop contests and currently head the conference standings.

Carolina will be relying on its star scatback, Choo-Choo Charlie Justice to turn the tide against the powerful Virginians. One of the outstanding runners in the South, Justice is expected to once again give the fans a thrill with his brilliant broken-field running. In his last two games, he has broken loose for 70, 73 and 90-yard gallops, and his ability to carry the ball may prove the difference between the two elevens.

Backfield Stars

Expected to round out the starting backfield are Hosea Rodgers at fullback, Jim Camp at wingback and Don Hartig at quarterback. Rodgers, with his powerful line thrusts, and Camp, a dangerous threat on reverses, give Carolina a good offensive punch along with Justice's running and passing. Other Tar Heels expected to stir up excitement from their backfield posts are Jack Fitch, B. K. Grow, Johnny Clements, Walt Pupa, Billy Myers, Bill Maceyko, Billy Britt, and Max Spellman, all threats of one kind or another.

At least two changes will be made in the starting forward wall from that which opened against Tennessee. Mike Rubish, recovered from injuries sustained in the Florida tussle, will take over the right-end position, although George Sparger, out since the Navy clash, and Bob Cox, the conversion expert, are also due to see some action. Of the three, only Cox saw activity against the Vols. At left tackle, Coach Carl Snavely is expected to call on Haywood Fowle, who performed well last week in his initial appearance of the campaign. Ernie Williamson, who has been troubled with a knee injury since the Miami fray, will also play considerably.

Line Positions

Elsewhere in the line, co-captains Ralph Strayhorn and Chan Highsmith will handle their usual chores at left guard and center respectively, Ted Hazelwood and Sid Varney will open at right tackle and guard, and either Joe Romano or Art Weiner will start.

Ramsey, Shipley Voted Writers Club Chairmen

At a meeting held Wednesday evening in the Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial, Paul Ramsey was elected chairman of the Writers Club, a newly-organized club for students interested in creative writing.

The group further decided to restrict the initial meetings to informal discussions of the work of various members. Ramsey also appointed Burke Shipley to serve as co-chairman.

"Membership is open to anyone who can submit evidence in the form of a story that they are seriously interested in writing. Applicants can reach me at Miller Hall," said Ramsey.

Paxton Orchestra Proclaimed 'Up and Coming Band of Year'

By Julia Ross

To the music of the most "up and coming dance band of the year," judges will pick the Carolina beauty queen and her court at the annual Yack Ball November 15. George Paxton and his new dance orchestra have played at the nation's key stellar spots, Editor Gene Johnstone said.

Paxton has been rewarded with return engagements at such band locations as New York's Hotel Pennsylvania, the Sherman Hotel in Chicago, and the famous Capitol Theater in New York. His recordings are always featured in the juke-boxes and on record radio shows.

Other Band Members

Featured performers with Paxton's band include Alan Dale, personable young vocalist, whose inimitable ballads are rated high in the "Battle of the Baritone," and Johnny Bond, featured instrumentalist with the orchestra who doubles on vocals with a bit novelty and comic antics. Rosemary Calvin is the newest addition to George Paxton's band, and her rendition of the hit songs of the day are helping to bring this new band into first division.

Music critics are hailing the band primarily because of Paxton himself, former key arranger for Paul Lavalle,

GEORGE PAXTON

Charlie Spivak, Vaughn Monroe and other bands. Comparing Paxton and his work as arranger with that of Glenn Miller, Larry Clinton, Duke Ellington and other arranger-leaders, critics voice the opinion that music's forgotten men, the arrangers, have now come to be known, and what is more, recognized for their styling.

According to George Paxton, his appearance in Chapel Hill will be marked by the inclusion of his own arrangements of the top musical favorites of the day.

Buyers' Co-op Places Orders

Staple Groceries Bought in Durham

Christened by an unexpected student response, the first buying venture of the Co-op Buying Club was launched yesterday and proceeded under full steam towards the wholesale stores in Durham with a total of 67 cash orders amounting to more than $895.

The orders are being bought in case-lots and include staple groceries and baby-foods, both canned and packaged. They will be individually packed and distributed to students living in town at 402 Hillsboro St., and to those in "Victory Village" at 119 King St. in the village. Pick-up time is between 4:30 and 6 o'clock this afternoon. It was urged that orders be called for during those hours to avoid storage problems.

Permanent Co-Op Goal

With the ultimate goal of establishing a permanent co-op store in Chapel Hill, the Buying Club at present is taking only cash orders for groceries from married and off-campus students. Tom McDade and Henry Saunders, heading the Co-op group, have said that the whole organization is a voluntary body, filling orders for those who desire to buy from wholesalers in Durham.

Both McDade and Saunders emphasized the fact that they were not attempting to hurt the business of or discredit the local groceries. "The Buying Club," they stated, "is merely trying to reduce the cost of living for those participating through experimental group buying in the hopes of creating a co-op grocery store here."

Prefabricated Homes Now Available Here

The thirty prefabricated houses allotted by the government to the Chapel Hill Veterans Housing Commission have arrived. Only 20 of the houses have been signed for, according to John Foushee, president of the group. The other 10 houses will be returned to the government unless applied for immediately.

Several of the "demountables" are on display on a tract of land near the Horace Williams Airport; others are erected in Carrboro near the Fitch Lumber Company.

$3,100 Each

The cost of each surplus house is $3,100. Student veterans applying for the houses must present proof to the commission that they own or have option on a lot.

Veterans interested in the houses should see John Foushee at his office on Franklin Street, next door to Western Union.

Correction on Dismissal Of Classes on Monday

It was incorrectly stated in yesterday's Daily Tar Heel that no twelve o'clock classes would be held Monday, following the Armistice Day address of Major General Anthony C. McAuliffe in Memorial hall, at 10:50 o'clock in the morning.

Classes will be dismissed at 10:40 and no 11 o'clock classes will meet, however, all classes will meet regularly from twelve o'clock, on through the day. Students are requested to be seated by 10:50.
