Carolina Tallies Twice In Final Quarter Rally

By Irwin Smallwood

A valiant aggregation of Tar Heels, kept constantly in the hole during the first period and a half, gave the Blue Devils of Duke University "Justice" when they hollered for mercy in the second half of their annual clash here in Kenan stadium yesterday afternoon. As a result the Tar Heels walked off with undisputed honors in the Southern conference and gained their first victory over Duke since 1940 by a score of 22-7.

It wasn't an all-Charlie Justice affair, however, for Jack Fitch, the star wingback from 1943, entered into the scoring picture for the first time this season when he scampered into the end zone for the winning touchdown. And substitute End John Tandy caught a touchdown pass in addition to throwing a telling block in Fitch's run.

Nevertheless, as has been the case so many times this season, the Carolina Choo Choo kept the Tar Heel attack on its toes and played the major role in two of the touchdowns. The first was a pass from Justice to John Tandy and the third was a 16-yard run off tackle by Justice.

Come From Behind

Carolina demonstrated again its power to come from behind and win. It wasn't until almost midway in the second period that the Snavelymen ever got out of the hole, that being when the Tar Heels drove from their own 22 to the Duke 38 on a long pass from Justice to Fitch, who ran 15 yards after catching the aerial.

Dukesters 'Had It' In Colorful Clash

By Jim Pharr

Packed stands, two wonderful bands, a riot of color, a sluggish first quarter, with a couple of disastrous Carolina fumbles, and the powerful Tar Heel offensive machine finally getting into gear to pile up two quick touchdowns—all add up to the fact that the Duke Blue Devils, "had it" in Kenan stadium here yesterday afternoon.

The excitement of the "big game" became evident a half-hour before game time, with the stands filled to the brim. The Carolina and Duke cheerleaders came on to build up the cheering that started long before the kickoff.

Lath "Tarzan" Mariff was the hit of the Tar Heel rooters, leading Rameses around the field during the game and at half-time, and proving himself an all-around booster to the team.

The Carolina band showed a new wrinkle as the players came back on the field just before the game, forming a line.

This threat, which found Carolina in Duke territory for the first time, ended four plays later when Justice punted, but it had the Tar Heels back on the track that led to a touchdown about five minutes later.

Tandy Scores

The Carolina drive that put the Tar Heel gridders back into the ball game started from the Duke 32-yard line, where George Clark had punted out of bounds from his own end zone. Justice took the ball on the first play and scampered 11 yards for a first down, but five yards were taken away on a penalty for too many times out. Walt Pupa drove through center to get back six, Justice passed incomplete, Pupa lost four yards, and then on fourth down Justice went back and tossed a perfect aerial to Tandy on the Duke three, from where the Tar Heel end went over for a touchdown. Bob Cox came in and kicked the extra point from placement to tie up the ball game, 7-7, with 13:05 gone in the

"The only thing we know about being ambassador to Great Britain is what we read in the newspapers," said Mrs. O. Max Gardner, wife of the present Undersecretary of the Treasury, who attended the Duke-Carolina game with her husband today.

"I'm going to apply for a job as caretaker of John Morehead's planetarium and then I'll be sure of having a good permanent job right here in Carolina," O. Max Gardner himself added jokingly, as Morehead appeared to greet the undersecretary.

Morehead, donor of the Morehead-Patterson bell tower, and the proposed planetarium, urged Gardner to accept the appointment if and when it was offered to him. "I did the same job for four years in Stockholm under Hoover, and it was a great experience," Morehead advised Gardner.

Almost Like '06

"This team is almost as good as he one on which I played with Wallace Winborne and Bob Reynolds back in 1906," Gardner said. Reynolds is former senator from North Carolina, and Winborne is now a leading state supreme court justice. "In 1906 we didn't even play Duke, which was a little college called Trinity, but we did beat Virginia, our biggest rival,"

SP Will Convene This Afternoon

Nominations for all posts in the coming elections, now but two weeks away, will be in order at a mass open nominating convention of the Student Party at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Candlelight room of Graham Memorial.

At this time candidacies for one men's and student council post, and all legislature posts open due to vacancies and expiration of terms, will be considered. All posts carry one-year terms.

A number of candidacies have already been entered, and nominations may, or may not be closed this afternoon. Party Chairman Chuck Heath urges all students, not affiliated with another party, to attend and vote.

"The Student Party is not only a political force on the campus, but also an organization through which ideas for the improvement of student government may be funneled," said Heath.

A report on the SP petition to the General Assembly next January will be made by the chairman of the bill, Walt Stuart.

CONSERVATIVES MEET MONDAY

John S. Henderson, Sewickley, Pa., coordinator of the REA, with the Westinghouse Corporation of Pittsburgh, will address the Carolina Conservative Club tomorrow night, at 8 o'clock in Gerrard hall.
