

Phants Topple Cherry Point By 63-29 Count

---Bobbing in Sports---

with BOB GOLDWATER

With basketball moving into the Tar Heel sports spotlight with last night's opener against Cherry Point, there comes to mind the fact that Carolina will field three different cage outfits this season. The varsity and its new tutor, Coach Tom Scott, have already made their debut. Scheduled to make their first appearance within the next week are a junior varsity, under the direction of a former Phantom court ace, Lew Hayworth, and a freshman quintet, coached by Frank Murray, a physical education graduate student.

Murray's yearlings are the first to get under way, raising the curtain on an eight or ten game schedule tomorrow evening against Durham High. "We've been practicing only one week," Coach Murray pointed out yesterday. "The prospects look pretty good, though, and some of these boys will develop into the Carolina basketball stars of the future."

As for the jayvees, they open their campaign Monday evening against the Lucky Strike club of Durham in the preliminary clash to the varsity encounter with Catawba. According to Coach Hayworth, most of their schedule will be against jayvee quintets of the other teams in the Big Five of North Carolina. About 20 games will be on the slate, when completed.

Incidentally, Carolina came within three points of sending two teams to New Orleans over the Christmas vacation instead of just one. Had the White Phantoms topped Oklahoma A & M in the N.C.A.A. tourney in New York last March, they might be accompanying the Tar Heel gridders southward to oppose Kentucky, winner of the National Invitational tournament last Spring, in the Sugar Bowl cage classic a few days prior to the grid battle. But the Aggies, led by seven-foot Bob Kurland, downed the Carnevale-coached combination by a 43-0 margin and now, minus their giant, face the classy Kentuckians at the end of the month.

The two All-American selections generally regarded as carrying the most weight came out yesterday and both had Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice among the top three backfields. The Associated Press had Charlie on its third team while the United Press went one better—which was lots better as far as we're concerned—by placing the Carolina Express on its second eleven. Both times Justice is travelling in classy company in the person of Arnold Tucker, Army's great quarterback. Also each time, one of last year's first-string backs accompanied Justice and Tucker—Herman Wedemeyer of St. Mary's on the UP team and Harry Gilmer of Alabama on the AP list.

When one considers the backfield competition this year, it becomes evident just how well Charlie did in being placed on UP's second eleven (the one with which we agree—naturally). With two of the first-string backfield members, Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, foregone conclusions to make every All-American selection even before the grid campaign started, and two more backs, Johnny Lujack of Notre Dame and Charlie Trippi of Georgia, pretty sure bets before the season was half over, the highest any other back in the country could shoot for was a second-team berth. And that's just where Justice belongs!

What with all the "All" teams currently making the rounds, we would like to add one more to the list, this one an All-Opposition outfit. On information gained from Coach Carl Snively and most of the football players while riding the rails to and from Charlottesville last weekend, we have come up with first and second teams made up of players that the Tar Heels faced this year.

FIRST TEAM	E	Hubbell, Tennessee
Steckroth, W & M	T	DeRogatis, Duke
Huffman, Tennessee	G	Leonetti, Wake Forest
Carrington, Navy	C	James, Miami
Scott, Navy	G	Ramsey, W & M
Milner, Duke	T	Crawford, Tennessee
Shimshak, Navy	E	Mote, Duke
Williams, Florida	B	Hartley, Duke
N. Sacrinty, Wake Forest	B	Vaccaro, Florida
Hawkins, Navy	B	Brown, Virginia
Slater, Tennessee	B	Croom, Wake Forest
Cloud, W & M	B

Navy's outstanding center, Dick Scott, and Nick Sacrinty of Wake Forest would be co-captains of this mythical team, being virtually unanimous choices. It should be noted that the coach and players were picking opponents who performed well against them, not necessarily those who were outstanding for the opposing teams all season long.

Paxton Drops In 12 Points To Set Pace

Kohler, Dillon White Also Star

By Irwin Smallwood

Carolina's White Phantoms got the season off to a roaring start before 3,500 satisfied spectators here in Woollen gym last night, and it was lanky Bob Paxton who led the Tar Heel basketballers to their 63-29 triumph over an out-classed Cherry Point Marine five.

Paxton, the ham-handed letterman from the last two seasons, not only set the scoring pace but was taking the rebounds off the backboard with the finesse of a true hardwood veteran. He played the entire game without substitution until just three minutes and 40 seconds remained in the encounter.

Norman Kohler, the former freshman star at State, was right behind Paxton in the scoring column with 11 markers, and Jim White donated nine, Dick Hartley eight and All-American Johnny Dillon seven.

Starts as Stalemate

The game started as a stalemate battle between the Tar Heels and Cherry Point, and it wasn't until four minutes and 20 seconds of the scoreless game had elapsed that the Phants got their first score to take the lead which was never lost. Paxton was the man who dropped in the initial field goal, a one-hander from the corner—the first of four out of five of the same shots.

After the Marines had countered with two free throws to tie up the encounter, Carolina pulled ahead and at the end of 11 minutes held a 13-2 advantage. At halftime the Tar Heel quint led by a 34-10 score, having limited the Marines to one lone field goal during the first half.

In the second half the White Phantoms, defending Eastern intercollegiate champions, had things virtually their own way, and Coach Tom Scott, making his Chapel Hill debut as Tar Heel mentor, substituted freely all during the remaining minutes of the game.

The Tar Heels showed they had plenty of scrap, and their 29 field goals was something near a record. Hartley, Hamilton, Thorne and White did nothing less than a sensational job of ball-hawking.

"How many of 'em can YOU remember?"

"Some of the old-timers must look pretty strange to you. But not to me... I made all of them.

"I started making telephone apparatus of all sorts in 1877... did such a good job that I was asked to join the Bell Telephone team 'way back in 1882.

"Telephone users get more and better service for their money in this country than anywhere else in the world. I've helped to make this possible by efficient manufacturing of uniform, high quality equipment... by volume purchasing of all manner of supplies for the Bell Telephone Companies... by distributing to them, through my warehouses in 29 principal cities, the telephone equipment I make and the supplies I buy... by skillful installation of central office equipment. That is a huge job... especially now when the demand for telephone service is at an all-time peak.

"Remember my name... it's Western Electric."
