

Late Scoring Gives Soccermen 3-1 Victory Over State

Booters Take Second Win As Foy Scores Two Goals

RALEIGH, Oct. 25—The Tar Heel and Toers from Chapel Hill had to come from behind to defeat the booters from State College here this afternoon by a score of 3 to 1.

Sparked by Eddie Foy, the Carolina booters pounced upon the Wolfpack in the second quarter to take the lead that they never relinquished. Although the locals from State College put up a terrific struggle, the Carolina team completely outclassed them throughout the entire game.

After five minutes of the first period had elapsed, Rivedenyra scored the one and only goal for State. The Tar Heels had numerous chances to score in the initial period but were unable to capitalize on their opponents' errors.

It was not until the middle of the second quarter that Carolina booted in the tying goal. Jess Greenbaum tied up the game when he received a beautiful pass from Bill Moore on a corner kick. The half ended with the score tied at one all.

Soon after intermission was over, forward Eddie Foy took another excellent pass from Bill Moore and scored from about eighteen yards out. Just before the third period ended, a State man committed a penalty and the visitors from Chapel Hill capitalized on this mistake to complete the scoring. Eddie Foy ran his season's scoring total to three as he made good on the penalty kick.

The locals never received the chance to get back in the ball game as the Tar Heels controlled the ball constantly. The booters from State College had two shots at the Carolina goal but were able to score on only one of their chances.

Although Coach Marvin Allen's crew seemed to be the superior team here this afternoon, his substitutions were far and few between as he was evidently prepping his booters for the tough contest with Penn State on November 5. The game was marred by poor officiating which seems to be the topic of hour not only in football but in soccer.

Jim Gwynn, Joe Bach, Red Montgomery, and Dave Ferebee played excellent ball for the visitors as they lowered the boom on their former brothers from State.

Coach Allen and his team will depart tomorrow for Richmond where they will play R.P.I. and Virginia on successive days.

Tar Babies Work On Single Wing To Aid Scoring

In an effort to give the Tar Babies some scoring punch when they get within arms-length of the enemy's goal line, Coach Crowell Little has given his freshman gridders some old single wing power plays to work on.

The local yearlings expect to have the basic plays perfected to some degree in time for Friday night's game with Wake Forest in Winston-Salem, but they won't use the single wing to any great extent until the Duke game four weeks from now, which ends the freshman season.

Failure to capitalize on two great scoring opportunities whitewashed the Tar Babies for their second straight game last Friday night against State. A first-quarter pass from Bill Ellington to Bill Albans netted Carolina a first down on the State five and in the third period Albans carried down to the four. But both drives petered out against a massed Wolfcub forward wall.

The passing attack also should be strengthened by using the single wing. The Tar Babies completed only three tosses out of 17 attempts while five were intercepted by the Wolfcubs. The passer has more time to look for a receiver from the new formation.

The freshmen were able to work together for the first time in quite a while Monday afternoon as the varsity was given a day's rest and almost the entire coaching staff—varsity and freshman—came down to teach the rudiments of the single wing to the frosh.

As a delegation went over to the varsity yesterday afternoon to help the Tar Heels prepare for Tennessee, which uses a variation of the single wing, the remainder of the squad concentrated learning the Snavely formation.

Several key injuries hurt the Tar Babies against State. End Tom Higgins sprained his ankle early in the game, but went on to play most of the game. He's on crutches now and it's doubtful if he'll be ready by Friday night. To strengthen the end position, which was never too deep, backs Barry Rizzo and Eddie Carter have been transferred from the backfield to the flank.

Tar Heels Resume Grid Drills Team Still Hindered By Injuries

Ten players were in light equipment yesterday as Carolina's multi-bruised Tar Heels held their first workout for the sellout game with the Tennessee Vols here Saturday.

Most of the wounded, coaches said, would be ready to see at least limited action in the Tar Heels' sixth start of the season. Tackle Julian King and back Skeet Hesmmer were of the most doubtful condition, the former with a neck nerve condition and the latter with an injured knee. Hesmmer was unable to play last week against Louisiana State.

There was some concern over the run-down physical condition of pass-catching Art Weiner. Doing double duty this year on offense and defense, Weiner has lost about 15 pounds. He will take it easy in trying to build back to his normal weight of 210. Most cheering note was the return to the practice field of end Kenny Powell, who has been absent from the last two games with a knee injury. Powell was in light equipment, but trainers said he likely will be in condition to play this week.

Pinehurst Tourney To Start Monday

PINEHURST, Oct. 25—(AP)—Qualifying play for golfers not on the invited list for next week's 47th Annual North and South Open tournament will be held Monday at the Pinehurst Country Club.

Players exempted from Monday's qualifying round include all former winners of the North and South, the National Open and the PGA events, those who played here on the last day of the 1948 tournament, the low 30 and ties in this year's National Open, all match play qualifiers in this year's PGA Tournament and a limited number of other tournament winners at the discretion of the tournament committee.

Toney Penna will defend the honors he won a year ago in the field that already includes Sam Snead, Johnny Palmer, Clayton Heafner, Claude Harmon and amateurs Frank Stranahan, Dick Chapman, Robert Sweeney and Jimmy McHale. Entries close Saturday night. The qualifying round is open to all pros and amateurs who have a club handicap of three or less.

Harvie Ward, the University of North Carolina's Intercollegiate Champion, will also participate in the tournament. Being a former winner of the amateur event, Ward will be exempt from qualifying. He defeated Frank Stranahan in the finals of the 1947 affair to gain the distinction.

both offense and defense against freshman contingents was the order of the day as the Tar Heels went back to their labors after a one-day layoff. Some line experiments, including the shifting of big Dave Wiley from tackle to guard on the defensive combination, were tried to give that team more weight.

The squad worked until past 6 o'clock, with the lights on, coaches endeavoring to make up for lost time. Tennessee, it was felt, probably would come up with its best game of the season against the once-beaten Tar Heels.

Vol Workouts OK Despite Cold Rain

KNOXVILLE, Oct. 25—(AP)—The Tennessee Volunteers showed a lot of spirit and looked pretty good defending against North Carolina plays in a dummy scrimmage today. The long drill was carried out in a cold rain.

Vol frosh simulated both the passing and running attacks of the Tar Heels. The varsity showed up better in practice than it has in some time.

Tennessee will work on its own offense tomorrow and Thursday. A 45-player squad will enplane Friday morning for Chapel Hill. Listed as doubtful for Saturday's game are soph tailback Harold Payne, with a sprained ankle, and guard Roy Smith, who has a sprained elbow.

Deacons Loom As Deciding Club In Southern Loop

By the Associated Press
Maybe Wake Forest's rejuvenated Deacons found their punch too late to win the 1949 Southern Conference football championship for themselves. But it's a certainty the Deacs can have a big say-so about which team eventually does cop the league bunting.

Between now and the end of their season on November 26, the Deacs will tangle with four conference foes — and among them are several who currently are nursing championship aspirations.

The big target for Wake Forest undoubtedly will be Duke's Blue Devils, unbeaten in circuit company and currently tied for the conference lead with North Carolina. The Devils come up on the Deacon schedule November 5 and will have to have this big one, for it's become increasingly clear that it'll take an unblemished mark to capture the 1949 title.

Five Runners Break Course Mark As Freshmen Harriers Lose To State

Lead by the record-shattering performance of their ace, Bobby Jones, the freshman cross country runners from State whipped the Carolina frosh by a low score of 24-31 here yesterday.

Jones was the first of five men to eclipse the local course record. Jones' 12:12 performance was 53 seconds better than the previous time of 13:05.5.

Jones was followed across the tape by teammate Clyde Garrison in 12:22. Tar Baby harriers

Bobby Byrd, Bobby Webb and Mike Healy finished in a three-way tie for third in 12:49.

Following the five record breakers were three State men who captured sixth, seventh and eighth. Norman Clements turned in a 13:48 performance while Dick Miller finished just a step ahead of Bob Gorup, both being timed at 13:50.

Carolina's Roy Solaski's late spurt failed to nip the State men at the wire and he had to be content with ninth and a 13:50.5 showing. John Bennett, fifth Tar Baby man in, was credited with 14:01, good for tenth place. Since Carolina and State split the first ten finishers, the remainder of the competitors did not figure in the scoring.
