

Tar Heel Cagers Engage Wildcats Tonight

Locals Away For Second Road Contest

By Larry Fox

The Tar Heel cagers carry their .500 record for regular season play to Davidson tonight when they continue their long road trip against the Wildcats.

Thus far the Carolina cagers have won three games while losing a like number and a victory tonight would put them in the win column, at least temporarily.

Strengthened by the return of Guard Charlie Thorne this quarter, the Tar Heels were badly hit when high-scoring John Tsantes broke his nose against Rhode Island State in the Dixie Classic. Tsantes has seen action in the two games played since then, but only for a short time. He's been using a cut-down football helmet with a nose-guard attachment to protect his injury, but that has cut down his effectiveness.

It's a question of the doctor not letting him play without the protector and not being able to play well with it.

Scoring Threat Missed

Against Maryland with Nemo Nearman scoring 21 points, Tsantes' absence was not missed too greatly and the Tar Heels won, 55-53. But Thursday night against Hanes Hosiery Nearman could hit for only three and with no exceptional scoring performance, the Tar Heels went down, 52-48.

Hugo Kapples was high man with 14 points, but that's about his usual performance and wasn't quite enough to put Carolina on top.

Unless Tsantes shows up very well in practice, his place in the lineup will probably be taken by Red Bennett, who made 12 points against Hanes. Bennett will team with Kapples at forward with Nearman at center and Howard Deasy and the speedy Thorne at guard.

The two teams split a home and home series last year and one of the stars from that Davidson club is still around. Termed by Carolina Coach Tom Scott as the "best defensive man in the Conference," Whit Cobb is also one of the leading scoring threats for the Wildcats.

The Carolina freshmen will also make the trip to Davidson to play a preliminary contest against the Wildcat yearlings.

HUGO KAPPLER, All Tournament forward last year and one of Carolina's leading scorers, copped high scoring honors in Thursday night's loss to Hanes Hosiery with 14 points. Kappler is one of the most aggressive players on the squad.

Injuries, Eligibility Hurt As Swimmers Prep For Meet

Coach Dick Jamerson's Carolina swimming team today enters the last week of practice before facing the hardest part of their winter schedule.

Many members of the team gave up part of their vacations to return to Chapel Hill on Dec. 27 where workouts were held in Bowman Gray Pool twice daily until the opening of school.

On Saturday, Jan. 14, the Tar Heels play host to one of the top teams in the nation, Ohio State. Coached by Mike Peppe, the Buckeyes traveled to Chapel Hill last year to win the NCAA championships, held in Bowman Gray Pool. They also defeated the Tar Heels in a regular season meet in Columbus.

The Tar Heels had two meets before the Christmas holidays began, with Duke and VPI, both of which they won. Neither of these teams, however, is anywhere near the powerful aggregation that coach Peppe boasts and the Tar Heels will go into the meet a definite underdog.

Two holes have been left in the Blue and White lineup by ineligibilities while an injury has caused a temporary loss. Both diver Gil Beam and breastroker Bob Raskin failed to maintain their academic eligibility. Charlie Bartlett, another breastroker, has been kept from practice by a punctured ear drum. It is hoped, however, that he will return to workouts during the middle of next week.

Jimmy Thomas, the team's ace freestyler, is reported in top shape and has turned in promising times in recent trials and will be depended on to win the two distance events for the Tar Heels in next Saturday's affair.

The fate of the team also hangs on the shoulders of Norm Sper. Sper returned to practice from Dallas on Wednesday and is said to be looking good in the backstroke. He will be matched against one of the best, Bob DeGroot, in the Ohio State meet.

Sprinters Sam McCauley, Kent Williamson, Kirby Ambler, Bob Snow and Walt Carnes all are working out hard. Their marks have recently been bolstered by the return to school of letterman Ronnie Bascu.

Cecil Milton, Art Dietzel, Ray Edmundson, John Brown and John Kennedy all are in the race for berths in the distance behind Thomas. It is hoped that Bartlett will be back in time for the meet Saturday in the breaststroke.

SPLASH CLUB

Splash Club tryouts for the winter quarter will be held Monday night at 6:30 and Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in Bowman Gray Pool, club president Dot Smith said yesterday.

Regular Splash Club meetings are on Monday nights at 7 o'clock.

Six Wake Forest Football Stars Lost To Team On Honor Offenses

WAKE FOREST, Jan. 6—(AP)—Wake Forest College lost six football players today after the sextet had been accused of cheating on pre-Christmas tests.

Three were expelled and three were placed on probation, but none will be eligible to play under the Gold and Black colors again, the Wake Forest Student Council announced.

Those expelled were All-Southern Guard Ray Cicia of Ansonia, Conn.; Tackle Bill George of Morrisville, Pa.; and reserve Tackle George Sniscak of Lansford, Pa.; said a college spokesman.

Placed on probation were: All-Southern Halfback Bill Gregus of Toledo, O.; Bill Wilhelmy, sub halfback from Ansonia, Conn., and Dick Medlecot, sub guard from Bethlehem, Pa.

The six boys could not be reached immediately for comment, but friends said they all stoutly denied they had cheated. These friends also said the boys planned to appeal, the action of the student council to the faculty executive committee.

All of the six had at least one more year of eligibility.

It was a staggering blow to the Deacon football team which had a disappointing season last fall after it had been touted in advance as one of the South's top grid powers. Coach D. C. (Pea-head) Walker was out of town when the blow fell.

The expulsions and probations were announced at the college chapel program this morning by Lamar Caudle III, of Washington, D. C., student government president. Caudle, who did not identify the six, said the action was taken by the student council last night. The six later were identified by the college spokesman.

This spokesman said the alleged cheating occurred during tests taken just before Christmas and were not all on the same course. The Student Council investigation was delayed when college students went home for their holidays.

Under a recent change in student government rules, probation for the three players means they can remain at Wake Forest, but "they can never represent Wake Forest College in any kind of activity while they are here nor can they hold any campus office," the spokesman said.

The three placed under probation could not be contacted immediately to learn if they planned to stay in school.

The college spokesman said George Sniscak and Cicia were expelled because it was their second cheating offense. They continued to play football, he said, because the old rules did not ban students from participating in athletics for a first offense.

Coaching Staff For Track Season Is Announced

Coach Dale Ranson yesterday released the names of the four men who will assist him in varsity and freshman indoor and outdoor tracks for the remainder of the year.

Joe Hilton, an assistant coach for several years, will remain as hurdle and field event coach. Hilton is a former Tar Heel javelin star and holds several records in that event.

The three new assistants are Dick Maxwell, Bob Seligman and Walter Beardslee. Seligman is the lone former Carolina performer in the trio. The husky New Jerseyite won both the indoor and outdoor shot titles last season in addition to the discus crown, the third year in succession that he copped that title.

Maxwell, who has been on the staff since September, is a former star hurdler for Ohio State. Maxwell won the Big Nine crown in 1947 while competing for the Buckeyes and was rated as one of the nation's best timber-toppers during his undergraduate days.

Beardslee, a graduate of Michigan State, also is veteran of competition in the tough Midwest. While running for the Spartans, he was outstanding in both cross country and the open two-mile run.

According to the Ranson announcement, Maxwell will be the head freshman coach while Seligman and Beardslee will assist both varsity and freshman runners. Seligman will work with the weightmen while Beardslee will work on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 with a special group on distances. Workouts will be held on the cross country course in order to build up some of the varsity and frosh distance men who did not compete regularly in cross country.

Choo Choo, Doaker Hoped To Play Together 'In Bowl

The Senior Bowl game.

"I sure wanted to play on the same team with Doak," Charlie said in Dallas. "We would have given those Yankees the devil. But they figured it would be better for Doak and me to oppose each other, and they are running the show."

Doak expressed the same opinion. But like Charlie, he said that "they," meaning the Senior Bowl promoters, had the last say, and "they" felt that Walker and Justice as captains of opposing teams would be a bigger drawing card.

For Charlie, today will be the last football game of his career. For the Doaker, it might be just the first professional game of a glittering fling a pro ball.

The Dallas griddler said the other day that he was thinking about going pro for a while, but he had not decided anything definite yet.

But Asheville Ambler Charlie, the Carolina Choo Choo, turned thumbs down. He was making plans for a coaching career, "and the sooner the better."

Mural News

With the Fraternity Basketball League ready to open play on Monday there has been a large turnout in this division. However, the dorm division is lacking entries. The deadline in the dorm division will be Thursday, January 12th.

Anyone who is interested in mural basketball and does not have either fraternity or dorm affiliation may stop by the YMCA. The Y plans to place teams in the league.

Coed Winter Sports Schedule Announced by WAA President

The schedule of coed sports for winter quarter was announced yesterday by Women's Athletic Association president Jane Gower following the first WAA council meeting of the quarter.

The ping pong and shuffleboard tournaments will begin Jan. 16 with competition played off in the WAA room in the basement of Women's Gym. Any coed interested in participating in the tournament should sign up in the gym or turn her name into the WAA representative for the group with which she will be registered. A girl may sign up as a member of either a dorm or a sorority. Betty Dixon is manager of the tournament, and Mary McCormick is the staff adviser.

A double-elimination basketball tournament with winners and a consolation tournament will begin Tuesday, Feb. 7.

Teams may practice in Women's Gym on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons after 4 o'clock, but team managers must sign up for their practice time on a schedule which is posted in the gym. Each organization may have as many as three teams in the tournament.

A basketball club for girls wishing to improve their skill in the sport will meet every Monday and Wednesday afternoon in Women's Gym at 4 o'clock. There is no requirement for membership, but to receive individual intramural points, a girl must attend at least 75 per cent of the meetings.
