

Service Fraternity To Initiate Pledges

The "20th Anniversary" pledge class for Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will be initiated tonight at 7 o'clock in Room 202, YMCA building.

"This pledge class will mark the 20th year since the organization of Alpha Phi Omega on the campus of the University," said President Bill Roth, "and those pledged tonight will be initiated at the Anniversary Banquet in March."

APO members will be on hand in Room 202 today between 6 and 7 o'clock to answer questions and accept applications from prospective pledges.

The following men were intiated by Alpha Phi Omega at the last chapter meeting: S. Justice Haswell, Bill Hewett, Sr., Myron Banks, William Kendrick, John Lutz, Henry Patterson, Bob Poole, Paul Roth, Al Susman, Tom White, Andy Williams, and Bill Wood.

Mayor Edward S. Lanier was the guest speaker at the initiation ceremonies. The Mayor stressed the "need for a mortar of community spirit and cooperation to hold the bricks of community together."

1 o'clock at the Carolina Inn. During the afternoon she will meet representatives of the Press and Radio.

The University will be host at a dinner in her honor this evening at 6:30 at the Morehead building, guests being officials of the State, the University, Student Government, and the Carolina Forum.

Thursday she will be entertained at a luncheon by the six chapters of the North Carolina League of Women Voters in the Morehead Building at 1 o'clock. At 5 o'clock, that afternoon she will address a convocation of University coeds in Hill Hall.

Student wives may attend the coed convocation, it was emphasized by the Coed Senate yesterday.

Each coed who wishes to attend, has received a ticket which will admit her to the hall. Tickets have also been sent to women students at Duke and W.C.

The doors of Hill Hall, where Mrs. Roosevelt will speak, will be opened to wives of University Students at 4:50, ten minutes before the speech is to begin.

While in France he gave the address for the United States delegation at the International Student Service Conference and was appointed United States representative for the extension of International Student Service into the intellectual and cultural fields.

He also attended the World Assembly of Student Relief, the Carnegie Conference on United States Educational Activities in Europe held in Paris, and the first World Assembly of Churches in Amsterdam.

Registration for the Montreat Conference is underway in the Y lobby. The desk will be open until the 150-person quota has been filled.

Geology Frat Elects Heads, Initiates 15

The Alpha Alpha chapter of the national geology fraternity, Sigma Gamma Epsilon, "dug in" for the new year by electing officers and initiating new members this past week. Officers for 1950 are Richard M. Rogers, president; Chester Ensign, vice-president and historian; James R. Brandon, secretary-treasurer; and James E. Payne, corresponding secretary and editor.

New members include Robert Barbour, Charles Bartlett, James Brandon, Edward Buckner, Richard Coppage, Chester Ensign, William Hooks, Hugh Horn, Hal Lewis, William Olsen, James Payne, Lee Poole, John Stoff, Charles Todd, and Benjamin White.

Woman and Old Man (their roles were completely pantomime), rendered the most effective interpretations of the production. Rezzuto bounded about the stage and tossed off his lines in an irresponsible, carefree enough manner to approximate a convincing personification of an amoral woodland spirit. Graham and Hosansky brought life to their speechless roles with their smooth, fluid gestures and movements.

Anne Martin was unfortunately caught in the quandry of trying to reconcile Fitz-Simons' application of the pantomime of modern dance to the spoken drama of the role. Consequently, her limited variety of gestures grew quite monotonous and too often seemed mere posturing. Her cultured, fluid enunciation of the lines did not ring true as the dreamy musings of a shy Southern teenager.

The script paints the preachers as squat, porcine, stupid, gluttonous fellows, Brother Cadgers is an egotistical, coarse, pompous ass. Make-up prob-

Hyde Park Ceremonies Honor FDR Anniversary

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Jan. 30—A little Texas girl, herself once a victim of infantile paralysis, today stood at the grave of Franklin D. Roosevelt who overcame the handicap of the disease to become President.

Ceremonies at the grave of the late President marked his 68th birthday anniversary.

Eight-year-old Wanda Wiley of Austin, Tex., 1950 March of Dimes girl, watched solemnly as a wreath of red carnations was laid on Roosevelt's grave. The five and one-half foot wreath was placed by Pat Russell of Birmingham, March of Dimes state chairman for Alabama. Wanda wanted to lay the wreath herself, but the huge floral tribute was too big for her to handle.

Catholic Students Hit Required Text Reading

MANILA, Jan. 30—(AP)—An estimated 20,000 students assembled by Catholic leaders at Santa Tomas University protested today against the government's approval of a biography of the Philippines' George Washington. The government has made the biography of national hero Jose Rizal required reading in the public schools. The Archbishop of Manila, the most Rev. Gabriel M. Reyes, has banned the book for Catholics. He says it casts slurs upon the church.
