SIX MORE PRINCIPALS in the Southern Conference Indoor Games are shown in the above picture. Alexion has been withdrawn from the sprints due to a leg injury while Crimmins and Wake Forest's Bill Wiggs will be among the favorites. Grisso is defending conference quarter-miler while Reeves is a versatile performer and White is high and low hurdles champion of Virginia.

Varsity, Freshmen Fives Close Season Tomorrow Night At Duke

Back to an also-ran's rating, following 'Tuesday night's severe jolt suffered at the hands of State's mechanical men, the somewhat ruffled Carolina cagers underwent a stiff practice yesterday in prepartation for tomorrow night's seasonal finale with Duke in the Blue Devil's home arena

Even though tomorrow's clash promises to be a tight game with the Blue Devils anxious to hang a defeat on the Tar Heels for the first time in two years, the game will still be anti-climatic as the Dukesters have also secured a tournament bid by the skin of their teeth, following their surprise win over GW last week. The Devils were humbled by Wake Forest, 72-54, Tuesday night in a runaway game. The setback gave the five from Durham a 9-6 conference count, a

Although all their visions of a Big Four championship vanished with Tuesday night's defeat at the hands of State's frosh cagers, the Tar Baby basketballers are out to close their highly successful season with a victory over Duke's Blue Imps in Durham Friday night

If the local yearlings had been able to hold the pace with the Wolfcubs in the last half of the rough and tumble contest and had managed to come out on top, they would have been virtually assured of a first place tie with the State quint.

In the three games played with Duke thus far this season the Carolina five has trounced the Blue Imps twice, loosing the other contest in a 59-53 upset at Duke.
