New Uniform Is Designed For WACS

NEW YORK, Feb. 24—(AP)—The Wacs today caught up with the Waves in the field of fashion.

The new Women's Army uniform designed by Hattie Carnegie was unveiled at Fort Jay, Governors Island.

It is a soft taupe rather than the old olive drab, it has the smart dressmaker lines of the famous "little Carnegie suit" which has become almost a uniform for women who regularly make the list of the 10 best dressed.

It is worn with a smart little hat with a symmetric brim, which would be at home on Park Avenue as well as at an Army post.

This is the first uniform in history worn without a necktie. A soft beige oxford cloth blouse is worn with the uniform and a swank overcoat is made of fabric matching the suit. Both the regulation uniform jacket and the waist-length field jacket have a small rounded collar and antique gold insignia buttons.

Instead of the bulky summer uniform of the past, a smart one-piece cotton dress in grayish beige cotton has been substituted.

The summer uniform of the Army Nurses Corps is cut on the same soft lines as the regulation uniform but is in white palm cloth.

PEORIA, Ill.—(AP)—One stein led to another for George W. Wennerlyn. He had only one beer mug 12 years ago. Then he started to collect them. Now he has 400 of them. They are made of pottery, pewter, glass and wood and range in capacity from one pint to five quarts.

GIANT TREE SPARED

EL MONTE, Calif.—(AP)—California's biggest eucalyptus tree—it measures 35 feet in circumference—has been spared the axe, at least temporarily. The giant was to be sacrificed for a road project until Prescott F. Cogswell, 90, protested. Cogswell planted the monster in 1888. It was then four inches high. He said county authorities assured him the project has been deferred.
