"Medea" Is Slated For Production During May 19-21

Open tryouts for the annual outdoor forest theater production of the Carolina Playmakers will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Forest Theater.

"Medea" will be the final major production of the Playmakers 32nd season, and is scheduled for presentation May 19, 20, and 21, after the production of the Koch Memorial musical, "Spring For Sure."

This version of Euripides' powerful tragedy is by Robinson Jeffers. Judith Anderson recently played the show in New York and on the road with marked success.

Director Fitz-Simons explained that there are parts for twenty women and ten men in the cast, and added that many technicians will also be needed.

"I would like to remind everyone that any member of the student body is eligible to try out," Fitz-Simons said.
