

Faculty Marshall Outlines Program For Commencement For All Degree Candidates

Because of the large number of students receiving degrees, the mass type of ceremony will be used again this year, Dr. J. C. Lyons, Faculty Marshall, said yesterday.

The names of all degree candidates will be read by Governor Kerr Scott and the Ph. D. candidates will be hooded, but diplomas will be distributed after the ceremony.

Immediately after the services in Kenan Stadium graduates will return their caps and gowns to the Women's Gym. Then they will go to the terrace surrounding Keesing Pool and receive their diplomas from the deans of the schools from which they have graduated.

During this time refreshments, donated by the Senior Class, will be served to graduates, friends and parents.

"This will afford graduates and their families a chance to meet the faculty members," Dr Lyons said.

Dr. Lyons added that this method of distributing diplomas after the exercises makes the ceremony itself more dignified.

"With over 1,500 students receiving degrees," he said, "much of the dignity is lost in the mad scramble. This method also makes the exercises considerably shorter."

Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. The desk will remain open Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Room assignments and keys to the rooms will be given upon arrival of guests. The rooms will be supplied with bed linens and towels. No charge is made by the University for such accommodations.

In case of rain the commencement exercises will be held in Woolfen Gym and diplomas will be distributed in the Tin Can.

Regains Big Place

Past Year Was Success For University Clubbers

By Frank Allstoft, Jr.

The University Club this year began to regain the prominent spot in campus life that the Club held in the days before the war when it ranked as one of the strongest and most influential organizations on the Carolina campus.

Under the capable leadership of Jack Holcombe, the president, and later his successor, Jerry Sternberg, the club made great strides toward awakening the students to the fact that spirit and support of University functions are extremely valuable to the campus.

Chief among the undertakings of the University Club during the past year was the New York trip for the Notre Dame game. The UC made arrangements for transportation to and from accommodations in the city and then topped it off with a contest for the best banner in the pre-game parade.

Another UC project which was a big success and which helped later to finance other projects was the sale of the blue hats and the various game buttons. These items sold well and the receipts paid for such things as University Club award cups, signs and posters and other expenditures which were not covered by the small appropriation of the Student

Reelect Men

In a Tuesday night meeting of the Monogram Club, Joe Augustine was re-elected to the presidency and Bill White was elected vice-president, the club said yesterday.

Other officers installed were Frank Hooper, re-elected as secretary-treasurer, Henry Moore, social chairman, and Skeet Hesser, representative to the CAA.

DTH To Print Fewer Issues; Features Cut

Board Approves 1950-51 Budget For Newspaper

The Publications Board yesterday reaffirmed its decision to eliminate six entire issues of The Daily Tar Heel next year and approved a $40,223 DTH budget which listed no funds for feature items, Chairman C. B. Mendenhall announced.

Mendenhall explained that the crossword puzzle and one or more comic strips may be used if advertisers can be found in the fall to subsidize them. Otherwise, they will be left out of the paper along with Drew Pearson, Billy Rose, the editorial cartoon and Associated Press and International News Photos news pictures.

If additional sources of revenue turn up, Mendenhall said, some of the features may be reinstated.

The Board approved Daily Tar Heel salaries for 1950-51 at the present scale, as originally recommended by the Board and the Budget Committee before being reduced by the Finance Committee and the Student Legislature.

In other action taken at the two-hour meeting, the Board:

1. Voted to sign a news service contract with United Press and a limited service contract with Associated Press for next year, and authorized Dr. J. M. Lear to handle contract arrangements,

2. Awarded the Tarnation printing contract for 1950-51 to Colonial Press, Inc.,
3. Approved Tim Borda as business manager for the 1951 Yackety Yack,
4. Turned down a request by 1950 Yack Editor Bill Claybrook that $50 be added to the salary of editorial assistants for work done on this year's yearbook.

The Board will meet again at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in Graham Memorial to complete this year's business.

"Music Under The Stars," a program which Jerry Sternberg worked up before he was elected president last month, was another of the successful spring programs of the UC. Hundreds of people came to hear the program of Jimmy Capps' music.

Winding up the year was the annual Blue-White carnival which is run each year in connection with the Blue-White football game. As usual, the carnival made a big hit and drew a large crowd.
