Valkyries Tap Three Coeds In Traditional Ceremonies

By Andy Taylor

In traditional pre-dawn ceremonies this morning black-robed figures paraded through two women's dormitories and a sorority house to tap three senior coeds into the Valkyries, the campus' highest women's honorary organization.

Faye Massengill, Jean Bloom, and Edna Matthes are the newly chosen members. Selection into the Valkyries is based on leadership, scholarship, character, and service.

None of the coeds were informed previously of their selection, and for Faye Massengill the surprise was particularly appropriate. Today is her birthday.

A native of Kinston, Faye is a member of the Student Legislature, chairman of the Coed Affairs Committee, Society Editor of The Daily Tar Heel, social chairman of Spencer Dorm, a student adviser, and was delegate to the State Student Legislature.

She is a member of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority and will graduate at the end of this quarter.

Jean Bloom is from Fayette, Mo., and has served on the women's Glee Club, the Yackety-Yack staff, vice president of the YWCA in her senior year, a member of the Alderman House Council, a student adviser, and on the Orientation Committee.

Edna Matthes is from Wilmington. She is house president of Alderman dormitory, a member of the Women's Interdormitory Council, treasurer of the Stray Greeks, on the Graham Memorial Board of Directors, serves in the Coed Senate, is a student adviser, a member of the Senior Council, and chairman of the Coed Leadership Training Program.

Membership in the Valkyries is limited to two per cent of the coed student body.

Following their tapping this morning, the new members were carried off to be initiated and were served an informal breakfast.

Present members of the Valkyries are Frances Drane, president, Judy Sanford, vice president, Kash Davis, secretary, Winifred Harris, treasurer, Anne Birmingham, alumnae chairman, Anne Brewer, Nancy Iler, J. K. Richardson, Grevilla Snyder, Rosalie Varn, and Bobbie Whipple.

Although there is no limitation on set procedure as to the number of tappings each year, the organization usually taps in the fall and spring quarters.

All selections made are completely secret and new members are not forewarned.

The booth will remain open in the lobby of the Y to receive contributions from students living off campus and any others who have not yet made donations. Funds may also be turned in at Chest headquarters in the Y Cabinet Room.

"This is an effort to make it possible for more students to contribute to the Chest drive since such a small number have so far been contacted," Payne said.

He issued a special appeal to all students who have not made their donations "to do so as soon as possible."

Chest Treasurer Charlie Fox said last night that $1,762 had been taken in so far in the campaign. This included reports from about half of the solicitors and covered 1,009 students.

A portion of this amount was in cash or checks, the rest in pledges. The figure includes donations from students only. No faculty contributions have been tallied as yet.

All of the money collected in the Chest drive will go into a central fund to be divided among six organizations being sponsored through dormitories, fraternities, and sorority houses for the next three days in the effort to get to those who were not contacted during the first of the week.

The move is designed to allow veterans and other students who get checks at the end of the month and have not yet had chance to cash them to make contributions to the drive.

Solicitors will keep working through dormitories, fraternities, and sorority houses for the next three days in the effort to get to those who were not contacted during the first of the week.

Council Will Discuss Elections Law

Beaman Asks Consideration Of New Ruling

No Veto Coming, Sanders States On Controversy

By Chuck Hauser
Student Council Chairman Larry Botto said last night that Allman Beaman, disqualified University Party candidate for head cheerleader, has requested an opinion from the Council on the new elections law which disqualified him.

Botto called a meeting of the campus supreme court for Monday night at 7 o'clock in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial. He said Beaman had asked the Council to determine the constitutionality of the law which requires all candidates to maintain a C average for three quarters prior to running for office.

"Beaman is not appealing his disqualification," Botto explained, "since technically he has never been officially nominated or officially ruled disqualified by the Elections Board. That wouldn't happen unless his party turned in his name as an official nomination to the Board. He is merely asking the Council to decide whether the bill is constitutional or not."

Meanwhile, President John Sanders yesterday dispelled any idea of a veto of the controversial elections law which has disqualified at least nine candidates for office, and called the effect of the law to date "the best possible argument for its staying on the statute books."

Sanders said the Student Legislature passed the law on his recommendation and "because there was a real need for it. Obviously the need was much greater than any of us thought," he added.

Among the nominees disqualified so far are Bill Prince, Student Party candidate for president of the student body, Daily Tar Heel Editor Roy Parker, Jr., nominated by the SP for a second term, and University Party head cheerleader candidate Allman Beaman.

Sanders called discussion of a possible veto, repeal by the Legislature or Student Council declaration of unconstitutionally "silly rumblings."

"The ex post facto argument raised against the elections law amendment requiring a C average is ridiculous," the student body president said. "There is no prohibition against an ex post facto law in the Student Constitution. Even in the state and federal constitutions, the ex post facto prohibition applies only to criminal law."

"By definition," Sanders continued, "civil law and public law cannot be considered ex post facto. Tax laws and many other statutes which work retroactively are frequently passed."

Sanders said the law "inconveniently caught many people with their pants down scholastically." But no person with less than a C average, he maintained, "has any business in student government."

He continued, "Not only is his own academic work in jeopardy, and in need of all of his time. He either won't be able to do a competent job in government, because his time must be spent studying, or else he is in danger of flunking out of school."

Battle Park Project Begins Tomorrow

Forest Theater Planned As Rendezvous For Some 75 Students; Picnic To Follow

An early spring cleaning will take place in Battle Park tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, with a picnic and entertainment furnished by Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity sparking the project.

The APO's are expecting some 75 men and women to turn out Saturday, according to dormitory lists signed by students this week. And a total of at least seven campus organizations have pledged their support, ATO Project Chairman Charlie Bartlett said yesterday.

On tap for participants in the cleanup is a picnic scheduled to begin at 5:30. Members of the YWCA have volunteered their services in the preparation of picnic essentials: hot dogs and marshmallows.

Bartlett said a small charge of 25 cents will be charged for all those joining in the picnic. Entertainment for a "round-the-campfire" show will be furnished.

Primary in APO's aims in the cleanup campaign is the clearing away of underbrush and trash, the rebuilding of bridges over several of the park's streams, construction of a small dam for the pond and reconstruction of the park pavilion.

Participants will assemble at the Forest Theater tomorrow afternoon and will be split into groups under the supervision of APO members.

The area bounded by Park Place on the one side and Gimghoul Road on the other is the extend of the park ground to be cleared. The property extends for approximately one mile, Bartlett said.

The program will open with one of the more popular works by one of the early masters of the string quartet, Joseph Hayden. The second movement of the work is based on a song by the same composer in praise of the Emperor Joseph, which gives rise to its popular name, the "Kaiser" quartet.

State Unable To Fill Quota

RALEIGH, March 1—(AP)—The School of Textiles at N. C. State College is unable to meet industry's demands for its graduates, Dean Malcolm E. Campbell told the North Carolina Textile Foundation today.

The school, Campbell said, will graduate approximately 184 seniors this year. He added there are jobs for many more than that number. The demand for textile graduates, he reported, is "the heaviest in the history of this institution."

Leathernecks and infantrymen hacked their way up Communist-infested mountains in central Korea to flank Hoengsong, seize command of Yongdu, and cut the vital lateral highway between those anchor bases.

Troops of five United Nations ground ahead up to three and a half miles all along the 50-mile central front. They were driving to annihilate some 90,000 Chinese in the Yongdu-Hoengsong-Hongchon triangle.

The spearheading Marines smashed down a Chinese counter-attack a mile and a half west of Hoengsong. Then they slashed and blasted their way to heights northwest of the town near the arterial highway up to Hongchon.

A late front dispatch hinted that the Chinese might be abandoning the Hoengsong area after suffering heavy casualties in the fierce struggle with the Marines.

It said a large group of Red troops was moving north-west out of the region.

Westward 16 miles, troopers of the U. S. 1st Cavalry Division captured strategic Hill 318, just outside Yongdu, in a bayonet charge. They thus won command of the ruined village and the road to Hoengsong.

Pre-Meds, Dents To Meet Monday

There will be a meeting of all pre-med and pre-dental students at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in 103 Bingham Hall, Dean William Wells' office announced yesterday.

The current draft status of students will be discussed.

Big Show

Minstrel Planned Monday

Posters with hands outspread have announced the coming of the Pan Hellenic Minstrel Show at 8:30 p.m. Monday in Memorial Hall. The money from the sale of tickets will be given open-handedly to charity after the performance.

Included in the cast are the Belltones and Beebe, the Sigma Chi Quartet, Charlotte Lehman's dancing group, Jim Holiday, a Pan hel quartet, Interlocutor Bunny Davis and his endmen.

Katherine Blue, Helen Cotton, Carl Viperman, Milton Bliss, Lanier Davis and Hank Beebe will perform as a specialty number. Comprising the Sigma Chi Quartet are Julian Albegotti, Kemp Klendenin, Buddy McCall and Doug Baker. A take-off on Shortnin' Bread will feature sorority girls Katherine Blue, Adair Beasley, Pat Jewell and Marilyn McKinnon.

Funnymen during the show will be Thorne Gregory, Gernie Boren, Fred Cutts, Harry Buchanan, Wick Andrews and Dan Uzzell. They will match antics with Interlocutor Davis. A special unknown guest will appear during the evening.

Reds Are Planning For Spring Offense

Compiled from Daily Tar Heel Wires

TOKYO, Friday, March 2—United Nations troops slugged ahead one to three miles today against stiffening resistance in west-central Korea, where the Chinese Reds are believed to be preparing for a great spring offensive of their own.

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's U.S. 8th Army communique reported gains by seven Allied divisions along an irregular 60-mile-wide front.

Leathernecks and infantrymen hacked their way up Communist-infested mountains in central Korea to flank Hoengsong, seize command of Yongdu, and cut the vital lateral highway between those anchor bases.

Party Repicks Its Candidate For President

Group Postpones Selection Of DTH 'Til Monday Night

By Charles McCorkle
The Student Party last night nominated Henry Bowers to replace disqualified presidential candidate Bill Prince as the standard bearer for the SP in campus-wide spring elections.

The party postponed nominations for editor of The Daily Tar Heel, however, until Monday night at 8:30. Editor Roy Parker, Jr., running for a second term on the SP slate, was also disqualified under the terms of the elections law which requires an overall C average for candidates for three quarters prior to their running for office.

The SP will also name its candidates for vice president of the student body, Carolina Athletic Association posts, and class offices on Monday in Graham Memorial.

Bowers, who has seen more than a year's service in the Student Legislature, is a junior from Hendersonville. He headed the 1950 student drive for the North Carolina Symphony, has been clerk of the Legislature and assistant to the attorney general, and has served as an orientation counselor and on the Curriculum Evaluation Committee.

Bowers defeated Student Council member Bob Evans for the presidential nomination. The vote was not announced.

The SP nominated Otis McCollum by acclamation to run for the at-large Student Council seat which Bowers was running for prior to his presidential nomination.

John Sanders, president of the student body, last night said in Bowers the campus "has an opportunity to elect a person of the highest integrity, ability and scholastic standing. His maturity, intelligence and insight will be sorely needed next year in the presidency."

Sanders continued, "while not typed as a campus politician, Bowers is well experienced in the operations of student government, and capable of doing an excellent job."

At the opening of the party meeting former presidential nominee Bill Prince told the group he was not attempting "to pull the wool over the party's eyes" in accepting the nomination when he was not eligible to run.

Prince said he would not run now even if something happened to void the law which disqualified him. He called the bill "a good law."

Red Cross

Students will be given an opportunity to contribute to the local Red Cross campaign March 1-10 under a plan approved by the Campus Chest Committee, Assistant Dean of Students Bill Friday announced yesterday.

Letters will be distributed to fraternities, sororities, and Cross activities and asking students to donate.

The goal for the Chapel Hill chapter has been set at $6,000.

Chest Will Continue Drive Until Tuesday

In an effort to give more students a chance to contribute to the campaign, Campus Chest officials decided yesterday afternoon to extend the drive through Tuesday night, Coordinator Bob Payne announced last night.

The move is designed to allow veterans and other students who get checks at the end of the month and have not yet had chance to cash them to make contributions to the drive.

Solicitors will keep working through dormitories, fraternities, and sorority houses for the next three days in the effort to get to those who were not contacted during the first of the week.

Jewish Music Will Be Given

The B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation will present a concert of Jewish music in Hill Hall Tuesday night at 8:30.

Guest artist on the program will be Juliette Alvin, noted cellist, who will be appearing here for the last time. William C. Moore, Marvin A. Pickard, John D. Searin, Richard Cox, and Margaret Stanback will also be featured.

The program will include Psalms, Canticles, and a number of other selections from Jewish European and Israeli music.

Liz Taylor's Got It

Harvard News Editors Want Their Bust Back

BOSTON, March 1—(UP)—Editors of The Harvard Crimson want to know what Elizabeth Taylor is doing with their bust.

Miss Taylor, here for a Red Cross rally, was presented with a bust of "Fabian Fall" before she left by air for Hollywood today. The award was made by the editors of the undergraduate humor magazine, The Lampoon.

But when editors of The Crimson, the Harvard Daily, learned about the presentation, they announced that "Fabian" was theirs. The bust, they said, was taken from a room in the Crimson offices sometime during the night.

The trouble began last month when The Lampoon awarded Miss Taylor a "Roscoe" for "so gallantly persisting in her career despite a total inability to act."

Then, in an apparent gesture at reconciliation, the Lampoon editors met her at the airport today and presented her with the "Fabian Fall Award" for being "the actress who has shown the greatest improvement as result of the previous receipt of the Roscoe."

Miss Taylor said, "It's very sweet of you boys."

The Crimson said, "We want it back."

Fabian Fall, the editors said, was president of The Crimson in 1909 and the bust was kept in a room given in the youth's memory by his family.

"We are working to bring about its return," the editors said.
