Gray Accepts Eisenhower's Council Post

To Help Appraise Manpower Assets For National Unit

Consolidated University President Gordon Gray has accepted an appointment by General Dwight D. Eisenhower to the new Columbia University National Manpower Council.

The purpose of the group is to appraise the nation's manpower resources "in a period of enduring emergency," according to President Eisenhower, who is now on leave from Columbia as command of SHAPE.

Also included on the 15-member council are A. H. Sulzberger, publisher of The New York Times; Charles S. Johnson, president of Fisk University; James D. Zellerbach, former chief of the ECA Mission in Italy, and Lee A. DuBridge, president of California Institute of Technology.

Schedule Set For Library After Survey

New weekend library hours were announced yesterday by J. F. Bentley, assistant to the University Librarian.

Beginning immediately, the reserve room and service desk will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday while other facilities will be closed. Sundays, the entire library will open at 1:30 p.m., the circulation and reference desks will close at 5 o'clock, and other facilities will close at 10 p.m.

The changes in the weekend schedule are a result of a survey conducted by the Library from December to April. A check was made of the relative use of the various departments at different times of the day. It was found that the circulation and reading desk were not used much during weekends, while the use of the reserve room was comparatively heavy.

Bentley urged library-users to observe the new hours. "Respect the Honor Code" was also urged.

Information concerning new reading rooms will be made public, Bentley said, after completion of the work on the addition.

Phi Debaters Recommend Merger Act

The Philanthropic Assembly went on record Tuesday night as favoring a bill calling for the "consolidation of N. C. College at Durham as a part of the Greater University." The measure was passed by a vote of 17-3.

The debate, which became heated at times, shifted into a discussion of segregation in general. Proponents of the bill argued that consolidation would benefit both Negroes and whites. In sharp contrast to this, foes of the bill advocated elimination of segregation at the University at Chapel Hill and branded the bill as "political subterfuge."

All students who have received invitations to the student government inaugural banquet yesterday were urged to return their reply cards to Frannie Sweat by Sunday at the latest. She said that a complete list of names was necessary before plans for the banquet could be completed.

This summer school, to be conducted by Tulane University in cooperation with the University of North Carolina, the University of Texas, and Vanderbilt University, will be unusual in that the number of students will be limited and all the students will take the same course.

This course will combine Archeology, ethnography, economics, human geography, political science, and social anthropology and will deal with "The Significance of the Indian as a Factor in Middle American Life."

Parents' Day Is Open To Campus

Modern Venus To Be Crowned, Will Get Cup

Carolina's coed fillies will be straining at the bit and waiting for the starter's gun marking the opening of the seventh annual Sigma Chi Derby at 3 o'clock this afternoon in Kenan Stadium.

The Derby will begin a weekend of festivities for Sigma Chi fraternity which ends with the climactic Sweetheart Ball Saturday night in the Carolina Inn.

In addition to the five campus sororities, the Stray Greeks and the Independent Coeds will participate in various events, including a pie eating contest, a sack race, and an egg and spoon race.

"Miss Modern Venus of 1951" will be selected from the host of campus lovelies competing for the title this year. She will receive a cup in token of her beauty.

Norm Sper, alumnus of the University and past head cheerleader, will officiate as judge.

The Derby will be kicked off by a parade starting at the Chapel Hill High School at 2 o'clock. It will wind its way through Chapel Hill, ending up at the Stadium.

Door prizes will be awarded at the Derby to each spectator holding a winning ticket stub. Tickets will be issued at the gate. Admission is free.

A Sigma Chi spokesman said yesterday afternoon that the door prizes, to be awarded halfway through the program, would range all the way from "a free car wash to an electric coffee percolator." He said that over 30 prizes would be given out.

A loving cup will be awarded to the organization winning the largest number of points in all the events.

Last year Pi Beta Phi sorority won the field events and Joyce Richert won the title of "Miss Modern Venus."

All those officers must attend the function.

The meeting, which is open

Joyce Evans Is Chairman For Council

Joyce Evans, a rising senior from Harrellsville, has been named chairman of the Women's Honor Council for the coming year and Mel Strubling has been selected to serve as clerk. It was announced yesterday.

Both girls were elected by members of the Council at a recent meeting. They will replace Winifred Harriss and Judy Sanford, outgoing chairman and clerk.

Joyce is vice president of Delta Delta Delta sorority, secretary of the University Party, a member of The Daily Tar Heel business staff, and was selected Homecoming Queen by the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity last fall.

She graduated from Peace Junior College in Raleigh last spring and has served on the Women's Council since December.

From Clarksdale, Miss., Mel Strubling is a member of the Budget Committee, was a delegate to the State Student Legislature, is a member of the Student Legislature, on the YWCA Campus Affairs Committee, and was named outstanding pledge of Chi Omega sorority.

She graduated from Stephens Junior College in Columbia, Mo., and was elected to the Council in December.

Radio Listening Survey Has Increasing Results

By Buddy Vaden

Conducting a radio listening survey isn't as easy as it sounds.

Students in the Department of Radio found this out the other day when they conducted a survey to determine Chapel Hill's listening habits.

Students in the program planning course under Professor Arthur V. Briskin, head of the department, made a total of 449 telephone calls in a half hour period to determine who was listening to what. They found out much more than Chapel Hillians' listening habits.

The results of the survey showed that most women don't pay attention to what they are listening. Many of them interviewed in the survey had to call their husbands to the phone to tell the interviewer what was going on. One woman evidently hated radio programs. Her husband, she said, was outside in his automobile listening to his favorite program.

Many people, thinking the caller was master of ceremonies on a quiz program with prizes to give away for the correct answers, rushed to their radios to snap them on, trying at the same time to keep the interviewer on the line.

The survey did produce results, though. It was found that there is a man in Chapel Hill who listens to Station WPIX (a New York television station) on his radio. He reported that he was listening to a "morning sunrise program" (at 7:30 in the evening). This would indicate that WPIX has a Hopperating of .0022.

Other results of the survey showed that news programs are most popular in Chapel Hill and that Station WPTF in Raleigh is the most listened to station.

Doors Open For 'Heiress' Tonight At 7

Doors of Memorial Hall will open tonight at 7 o'clock for the Barter Theater's production of "The Heiress." The play will be the last presentation of this year's Student Entertainment Committee series.

Students will be admitted free upon presentation of ID cards. One-dollar tickets will be available to student wives, faculty and townspeople for any seats remaining vacant after 7:40. The opening curtain will be at 8 o'clock.

When the Barter Players bring their production of the Broadway and movie hit, "The Heiress," to the campus, students can see one of America's most unique and successful touring theatrical groups in action. Founded by Robert Porterfield in Abington, Va., during the depth of the depression, the Barter Theater got its start by exchanging drama for groceries.

Today the organization has several national touring groups, and has won acclaim in America and Europe.

"The Heiress," adapted from a Henry James novel, tells the story of a shy, awkward girl who is driven to cruelty and disillusionment by a sardonic father and a faithless fiance. It has a cast of nine outstanding Barter Players including Elizabeth Wilson, Peter Pagan, Mary Perry, and Rex Partington.

Broadway and Hollywood names which have been on Barter boards include Gregory Peck, Patricia Neal, Guy Kibbee, Jeffrey Lynn, Elizabeth Scott, Charles Korvin, and Frank Lovejoy.

The SEC series is supported by Student Legislature appropriations from the block fee.

Balloting For (Ugh!) Ugly Man Adds To Runyon Cancer Campaign

The Damon Runyon Cancer Fund received a small shot in the arm at the conclusion of yesterday's balloting in the second annual Ugliest Man On Campus contest, according to Jim Nichols.

But only several hundred penny votes were cast, he said, amounting to only a few dollars.

Voting will take place at the YMCA today and tomorrow, he said, and he asked the student body to "dig down into its pockets for pennies to fight cancer" to make the contest and fund drive a success.

He said he had hoped for a larger turnout to make the total contribution to the fund an impressive gift.

At the University Club Carnival tomorrow night, Theta Chi will present the Ugly Man from the stage of its booth located at the end of the midway on Navy Field.

The one of the 10 on display at the Y who receives the most votes will be adjudged winner of the second annual UMOG contest and will win a date with the May Queen of 1951, Miss Arden Boisseau.

In addition, he will receive an all-expense-paid date from Chapel Hill merchants and a gold loving cup from Theta Chi fraternity, sponsor of the contest.

A steak dinner, chicken dinner and four other dinners have been awarded to the Ugliest Man on Campus by Chapel Hill Merchants. In addition, clothing, a car wash and a free haircut have been donated to the contest. A special surprise gift will be awarded at the presentation of the Ugly Man tomorrow night.
