

Port Pitches Tar Heels To 6-3 Victory Over Wake Forest

Win Boosts UNC Stock In Big Four

Special to The Daily Tar Heel. WAKE FOREST, April 25—Carolina's rampaging Tar Heels blasted Wake Forest for the second consecutive time this afternoon on the local diamond, grabbing a 6-3 win behind the impressive pitching of Fireballer Chal Port.

The win boosted Carolina into second place in the Big Four standings. The Tar Heels now have a 4-3, loop record and are only 20 percentage points behind league-leading Duke which has a 3-2 record.

The Baptists took an early lead when Junior Floyd banged a 360-foot home run over the leftfield wall, scoring Wiley Warren ahead of him.

Third Baseman Sleepy Senter put the Tar Heels back in the game in the third stanza when he belted a 330-foot round tripper over the leftfield wall with Mark Herring aboard.

Carolina won the game in the eighth when Deacon Ace Stanley Johnson started weakening. Senter opened the inning with a single, Ben Smith popped out, and Tommy Stevens and Wayne White singled in succession to load the bases. Second Baseman Stagings then booted Bill Reeves' hot grounder and Senter scored. Joe Brookshire smashed a line drive off the glove of Third Baseman Doc Murphrey to score Stevens before Johnson could retire the side.

Carolina scored two more runs in the ninth and drove Johnson from the mound with nobody out. Rip Collins came on, however, and retired the side in one-two-three order. Carolina had defeated the Deacs earlier in the season by a 9-0 score.

The score by innings:
Carolina 0 0 2 0 0 0 2 2-6
W. Forest 0 2 0 0 0 1 0 0-3

Jimmy Thomas, Carolina swimming star, will compete in the National AAU swimming championships at Columbus, Ohio, April 7.

Wake Forest Frosh Defeat Tar Babies, 8-1; Deacon Eynon Gets Two-hitter, Walks One

By Bill Peacock

A solid single to center field in the first inning by substitute shortstop Roland Lashley and a hard infield smash in the ninth by Joe Mosier were the only hits pitcher Everett Eynon of the Wake Forest Frosh gave up yesterday as the Tar Babies got whipped, 8-1, in Emerson Stadium.

Eynon pitched an almost perfect game, walking only one man, hitting another, and altogether pitched to only 30 men. At one time he retired 20 straight batters, most of them on strikeouts and infield plays.

The Tar Babies got their only run in the first inning. Eynon disposed lead-off batter Sunny Clifton on a fly to left, but Joe Mosier worked him for his only walk. Bruce Holt forced Mosier and advanced to second when Eynon hit Fred Dale. Roland Lashley brought Holt home with a ringing single to dead center.

Carolina did not threaten after that, while Wake Forest treated Tar Baby starter Don Lee Marbury roughly, getting seven runs.

and six hits in six innings. Reliever John Deal was more successful, but gave up a run and three hits.

Wake Forest got the two runs that meant the ball game in the second inning. Johnny Barnett opened the inning with a single and moved to second when Marby committed a balk. Buster Barrett then lofted a high ball to center which Sunny Clifton misjudged, allowing it to go for a double, scoring Barnett. Pitcher Eynon drove in the winning run with a single to left.

Golfers Meet Deacs Today At Raleigh; Williamson Out

After returning to Southern Conference golf play with a convincing 21-6 victory over N. C. State Tuesday, Carolina's golfers will hit the Big Four bigtime today when they take on last year's SC champions, Wake Forest, at the Carolina Country Club in Raleigh.

Undeclared in 11 straight matches, the Tar Heels will probably be slight favorites to dump the Divoting Deacons. With only two returns from last year's top team, the Deacs are lacking the depth that they usually have.

Carolina's chances took a dip yesterday, however, when it was learned that Bill Williamson will be out of the rest of the season with a broken arm. Williamson had played in every match thus far and had been counted on heavily for the matches against Wake Forest and Duke.

Coach Chuck Erickson will probably put Jimmy Feree in Williamson's place with the rest of the team remaining the same. Rod McKnight, who carded a one-under par 71 in pacing the win over State, Frank Brooks, Bob Black, Frank Eckert, Lew Brown, and Feree will go against the Deacs.

The Deacons lost only number three man Sonny Harris from last year's championship team by graduation but only two veterans will be in the lineup today. Dick Tiddy and Frank Edens, who played out of the fourth and fifth spots last year, will be leading the Baptists out of the first two-some.

Yesterday's game between Carolina and Wake Forest was the last Big Four game of the week but the Tar Heels and Duke will meet in their third game of the season here Monday afternoon. The record now stands even, with both teams winning one and losing one.

The Big Four standings:

TEAM	WON	LOST	PCT.
Duke	3	2	.600
Carolina	3	3	.500
Wake Forest	3	3	.500
N. C. State	3	4	.429

Burkhalter Takes DTH Blue Ribbon

By Zane Robbins

Little Phil Burkhalter, a senior from Charlotte was voted Daily Tar Heel Athlete of the Week yesterday in the 10th staff poll.

Burkhalter achieved the pinnacle of his athletic success last week when he outran Maryland's Tyson Creamer, the Southern Conference two-mile champion, in helping Carolina to a narrow 67 1/2 to 63 1/2 victory over the strong Terp outfit.

Burkhalter received a total of 19 points in the voting to edge Tennis Ace Bob Luxenberg. Baseballer Dick Wiess was a close third with 16 points, and Tennisman John Agar won honorable mention. Burkhalter copped three first place votes, Luxenberg two, and Wiess took one.

Burkhalter, a 5 ft. 8 inch ball of speed, went out for track for the first time in his collegiate career this year and has made Coach Dale Ranson mighty happy with his running. The little fellow has tremendous endurance and all the fighting spirit that he needs to carry him through.

Since reporting for track, he has become the top Tar Heel two-miler and has lost only one race. That came in the Southern Conference Indoor Games when N. C. State's speedy Clyde Garrison edged the Tar Heel by a narrow margin.

Luxenberg was honored for his fine play in last week's all-important match against Duke's strong Blue Devils. Had the Tar Heels lost that match they would likely have lost the conference dual match championship—and if Luxenberg had lost his match, the Carolinians would have been sunk.

As it was, however, the tall black-haired ace played one of the finest games of his career in defeating Hal Lipton after losing the first set. He then teamed with Ager to take another important point in doubles play.

Wiess was cited for his long-ball hitting for the Tar Heel baseball team and his fine defensive ability.

Tar Heel Lacrosse Team Wins First; Hands Duke Outfit Narrow 2-1 Defeat

An improved but listless Carolina lacrosse team defeated Duke's second-string squad, 2-1, yesterday afternoon on Navy Field.

The Blue Devils, playing without their first 12 stickmen, got behind in the first few minutes in the second quarter and were never able to overtake the surprising Tar Heel team.

Sophomore Walt Ernst dodged and weaved toward the goal in the opening minutes of the second stanza and fired the ball past the visitors' goalie to put the locals ahead, 1-0.

The Tar Heels put on their best display in the first half by controlling the ball with considerable ease. In the second half, Duke all but played the Tar Heels off their feet. Goalie Nick Sowell saved the game numerous times during the afternoon by making spectacular saves.

Carolina's second score which clinched the contest for the local squad came in the third period. Ernst scooped up the ball near the sidelines and passed to Art Greenbaum who tallied to make the score 2-0.

Duke got their biggest break in the fourth quarter and capitalized to score its only marker of the afternoon. Several attempts at the Tar Heel goal in the final canto failed as Sowell put the skids on the Blue Devils' attack.

The win boosted Carolina's stock considerably. Coach Alan Moore was somewhat disappointed that his team didn't tally more than two goals but felt that the Tar Heels should explode in the near future.

The Baltimore University lacrosse team will move in here on Friday evening and will meet the local stickmen on Saturday morning as a preview to the Blue-White football game.

The Bees have practically set the lacrosse world on its ears this season. Baltimore opened their campaign with an 18-0 win over West Chester, 20-0 over Franklin and Marshall, and 19-0 over Georgetown. Loyola defeated Baltimore, 13-8.

The Tar Heels will spend the remaining two days setting up an attack for the visiting Baltimore crew. Coach Moore expects his stick team to give Baltimore a run for their money.

Weiss' Batting Mark Drops But He Still Holds Top Spot

Catcher Dick Weiss' batting average has dropped to .339, but he still leads the team's regulars in batting and has a thirty point lead over his closest competitor, Mark Herring.

Averages figured through the Duke game played Tuesday gave Weiss 18 hits in 53 times at bat as compared to Herring's average of .309 derived from 17 hits in 55 times at bat.

Weiss's average was around .380 until about a week ago, but recently he has not been having quite his former success at the plate. Nevertheless, his hitting continues to be outstanding, both in number of hits and in power.

Bob Henning, sophomore first baseman, is the only other player batting over .300 and has a .393 mark. Henning started out like a house afire, but went hitless in five times at bat against Duke last Saturday and did not play Tuesday.

Chal Port remains Carolina's top pitcher despite the loss he received in relief against Duke, which gave him a record of four wins and two losses. He is also the hardest working pitcher with 44 2-3 innings to his credit.

Senior Bill McGinn is the only other Tar Heel pitcher to have won more than he has lost and holds a 2-1 record. McGinn has struck out 16 batters in the 26 innings he has pitched, but has given up 24 walks.

Port, on the other hand, has struck out 40, an average of almost one an inning, and has given up only seven bases on balls.

The top six batters for Carolina:

BATTER	AB	H	PCT.
Weiss	53	18	.339
Herring	55	17	.309
Henning	33	10	.303
Reeves	72	21	.292
Stevens	43	14	.291
Senter	62	16	.259

Coach John Kenfield's Carolina tennis team is playing without seven of last year's nine man squad. They were lost by graduation.

The old boys had to borrow from the freshmen at blocking back, but the position will be in the good hands of Van Weather-spoon of Durham who has been very impressive in spring drills. Pete Carr is a letterman blocking back who will be on call. Carmen Annillo is small for the fullback slot, but he is aggressive and has the ability to break up a game.

It's the line which shows up exceptionally well for the Whites. Captain Joe Dudeck will be at right guard and the new men are likely to feel his presence all afternoon. The Whites have the squad's outstanding offensive ends in Benny Walker and Bill O'Brien, the regular center in Andy Miketa, and two of Carolina's best tackles in Tom Higgins and Dalton Ruffin.

UNC Mural Bosses Turn Thumbs Up On Adage Of 'All Work And No Play'

By Buddy Northart

Carolina is a great believer in the old adage "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." So much so that one of the largest departments on campus is dedicated to the task of seeing that Carolina's Jack doesn't become dull.

The Intramural Department, ably headed by Walter Rabb, has this task of mixing work with play, and from the looks of things has the situation well in hand. At present there are 27 fraternities and 25 dormitory groups competing for campus honors.

Any organization on campus is invited and encouraged by the Mural Department to enter teams in the various events. In fact, Rabb's assistants, Ed Cloyd and Bill Kucyk, have as their only complaint the fact that they can't find enough teams to schedule. Those boys are happiest when they're up to their elbows in schedule conflicts.

The unsung heroes of the Mural program are the organizational managers. These boys are responsible for submitting their teams' entries and for keeping the team members informed of the schedule. Of course, the managers have to devote quite a bit of their time to arguing for postponements and rematches. But, as Rabb has said, "We couldn't have much of a program without these boys."

Each quarter the managers decant toward the campus championship at the end of the school year. Aside from the three-point system activities each quarter, there are several other sports offered.

An important part of Mural activities is the faculty program. Each quarter several events are planned for the faculty, such as the Faculty Golf Tournament which is now in progress.

A phase of the Mural program that has proved very successful since its inception this year is the Co-Rec night. Co-Rec night, sponsored jointly by the Intramural Department and the Women's Athletic Association, is held each quarter to give women and men students an opportunity to participate together in various organized sports.

Ager, Lambeth Are Lost To Tennis Team For Important Nine-Day Northern Tour

Tennis Coach John Kenfield announced yesterday that two of his top men, Buddy Ager and Charlie Lambeth, will be lost for the important nine-day Northern tour which begins Friday. Ager and Lambeth will play in the Virginia match Saturday, but will have to return afterward because of pressing studies.

Del Sylvia, Bob Luxenberg, Heath Alexander, Bill Izlar, Harry Booker, Buch Buchanan, and Charlie Duval will make the entire trip. Duval won his berth yesterday by beating Paul Keenan in a challenge match.

The Tar Heel netters closed out their long home stand Monday and boast a record of 16 wins and only two losses. Last year's team finished their year with a 23-2 record and this year's squad has an excellent chance of repeating the feat.

After Saturday's match with Virginia, Coach Kenfield takes his squad on up to Massachusetts for matches with Springfield, Williams, Massachusetts University, Harvard, and finally the locals wind up the tour in Connecticut, playing Yale and Wesleyan.

Accompanying Coach Kenfield and the team will be Mrs. Kenfield and Daily Tar Heel Sports Writer Harvey Rirteh.
