

Tar Heels Rally To Top Duke, 3-2; Take Big Four Lead

Strictly Ad Lib

By Zane Robbins

Blue-White Post Mortem

LAST SATURDAY WAS A BIG day in the life of a gentleman by the name of Carl Snively. After suffering the worst season in his long coaching career in 1950, the Grey Fox had worked long hours on the practice field and in his office during the winter and spring football drills. Saturday was the wind-up of the whole affair—until September, that is.

Coach Snively, together with Jim Gill, his chief aide, sat in a special booth atop the press box at Kenan Stadium and watched a bevy of assistant coaches send a pair of spirited squads onto the field for the sixth annual Blue-White game. The final score favored the upperclassmen Whites, 32-21, but that was incidental. The big thing in this game was the play of the two teams that will merge in September for the 1951 grid wars and one of the toughest schedules ever to face a Carolina team.

After the game, Snively was pleased. He had studied the game thoroughly and had seen just what he had hoped for—speed, deception, blocking, and timing. It was all there and the finished product which will be displayed in the fall should make Tar Heel fans, disconsolate after the tragic '50 season, as happy as a 10-year-old in a candy factory.

Just Like the Circus

THE TAR HEEL OFFENSIVE machine clicked smoothly all afternoon although the blocking in the front line showed that more work will be necessary there. Snively has spent most of the off-season drill periods on the offensive phase of the game and has come up with a well-oiled attack that should produce touchdowns with comparative ease. He'll polish up the defensive play in September.

Watching the Carolina offense was just like having a front row at the circus. There was a little bit of everything. Although Snively is still retaining the single wing as his basic formation, the team also runs from the T-formation and the short punt. The "T" attack looked exceptionally good. The plays went so well that it would be hard to convince an outsider that the team has only been toying with the formation for a few months in practice.

The team lines up in the "T" on every offensive play but often shifts into one of the other formations. The Snively "T," by the way is nothing like you've ever seen before. The quarterback never passes, and very often the ball is centered through his legs to one of the deep backs. The buck laterals and reverses from all formations had the defensive teams dizzy. The passing attack also showed well in spots with Billy Williams and Louis Britt tossing for the Blues and Ernie Liberati, Frank Wissman, and Carmen Annillo manning the Whites' aerial attack.

Scouts Get an Eyeful

THERE WERE SCOUTS IN the pressbox from N. C. State and Tennessee, and the Tar Heels treated them to an eyeful. Snively obviously gave both teams the green light on offense and probably didn't bother to hold back too much.

The play that accounted for the Blues' first touchdown was a real whiz-bang. Running from the single wing, Fullback Bob White handed off to Quarterback Bull Davidson who pitched out to Tailback Williams. Williams, running to his right, then rifled a pass to Davidson in the left flat and the Bull galloped over for the score on a play that covered 29 yards.

Both teams showed plenty of promise, but just imagine what the Tar Heel squad will look like when the two teams are combined and some 50 freshmen are tacked onto the roster. As things stand now, Coach Snively has approximately 80 men on his roster.

There were some little-used vets of last year's team that showed well during the afternoon along with the old standbys. Among the neophyte vets who looked good were Gus Young, Joe O'Brien, Billy O'Brien, Carmen Annillo, Abie Williams, Frank Wissman, and Barry Rizzo.

For the freshmen, Billy Williams, Doug Bruton, Louis Britt, Ken Yarborough, Francis Frederic, and Harold (Bull) Davidson stood out. Then, too, there was just a spic of what next fall's freshman gridders will have to offer. Dan Mainer, a first quarter freshman from Charlotte, played a bang-up game at defensive end for the varsity. He was in on a number of tackles and intercepted one of Williams' rifle-like passes.

All in all, it was a lovely game that promised the rebirth of "The Golden Era" in Carolina football.

Cagers Elect Deasy Captain; Maddie Wins Scott Trophy

Howard Deasy, a rising senior from New York City, was elected captain of the 1951-52 Carolina basketball team Friday night at the team's annual banquet at Brady's Restaurant.

A 6 foot, 7 inch guard, Deasy was outstanding in rebounds during the past season and ranked eighth in the nation in the final figures compiled by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

Center Bud Maddie edged Forward Jack Wallace for Coach Tom Scott's annual award to the outstanding free throw artist. Maddie amassed a percentage of .641 from the foul line in sinking 52 shots in 81 attempts while Wallace was right behind with a .635 percentage. He made good on 122 shots in 192 attempts.

Relief Job By C. Port Insures Win

By Zane Robbins

Carolina's never-say-die baseballers hustled themselves to the top of the Big Four standings yesterday afternoon at Emerson Field when they rallied in the seventh inning to defeat Duke, 3-2.

The Tar Heels threatened from the outset, when they loaded the bases in the first inning, but just couldn't solve the riddle of Rightlander Joe Lewis' tantalizing slants until the fifth frame when they pushed across two unearned runs without getting a hit. Chalmers Port relieved Bill Lore for Carolina in the seventh and pitched three scoreless innings to register his sixth win. Mark Herring fanned to open the inning, but Johnny Senter was safe when Third Baseman Tom Powers threw wild to Billy Werber at first. Senter went to second on the wild throw and advanced to third when Groat made a bad throw of Ben Smith's slow roller to short.

Obviously rattled by the erratic play of his "Dream Infield" Lewis then walked Tommy Stevens to load the passes and followed up with another free pass to Wayne White, forcing Senter home. Reeves then rolled out, short to first, but Smith scored on the play. Joe Brookshire flied to centerfield to end the uprising.

Boiling mad, the Dukes came roaring back to knot the count in the top of the sixth. Lewis opened the inning with a single to rightfield. Bill Bergeron popped out to second base, Dick Johnson flied to leftfield and it looked as if Lore would get out of the inning without a run scoring.

Johnny Gibbons had other ideas, however, as he rifled a drive past third base that went for a double, scoring Lewis. Dick Groat followed up with a two-bagger that ripped the lacings out of Shortstop Joe Brookshire's glove and scored Gibbons.

Golfers Blast Davidson; Black Is Low Man With 71

By Biff Roberts

Carolina's golfers took down lucky 13 yesterday afternoon—win number 13, that is, as they trounced an off-form Davidson team, 26-1, at Finley golf course.

The Tar Heels showed another fine team round with the scores ranging from Bob Black's one-under par 71 to the high of 76. Low man for the Wildcats was Al Gaither with a 77.

Rodney McKnight had 16 pars, a birdie, and a bogie to finish with a par round of 72 and drop Davidson's top man Monte Hill, 3-0. Hill three-putted himself to an unusual high of 81. He had rounds of 41-40.

Frank Brooks was just one stroke higher than McKnight finishing the back nine with a brilliant two-under 34 after going three over par on the front side with a 39. His 73 was enough to gain three more points over Malcolm MacLean, who finished with 40-38-78.

The second Carolina two-some of Black and Frank Eckert added nine more points to the Carolina tally sheet. Black's sub-par golf earned him a 3-0 win over Cecil Brandon. He had seven birdies on his 18 holes but had four bogies and a double bogie to keep his count out of the 60's.

Eckert had a 74 with rounds of 37-37 and won three points from Jim Sloan who had 40-40 for an 80. Black and Eckert took the best ball 3-0.

The Wildcats didn't break through until the final four-some. Lew Brown kept up the white-wash parade by blanking Al Fitzgerald with a 36-38-74, but Jimmy Ferree lost a half point when Al Gaither tied him on the back side with a 38. Ferree had another 38 on the front to take a 76 for the day. The Carolina team took the best ball 2 1-2-1-2.

The summaries:
McKnight (C) def. Hill 3-0; Brooks (C) def. MacLean 3-0. Best ball: Carolina, 3-0.
Black (C) def. Brandon 3-0; Eckert (C) def. Sloan 3-0. Best ball: Carolina, 3-0.
Brown (C) def. Fitzgerald 3-0; Ferree (C) def. Gaither 2 1-2-1-2. Best ball: Carolina, 2 1-2-1-2.

Splash Club Plans Pageant This Week

Coed athletics will make a big splash this week when the Splash Club stages its annual pageant on Wednesday and Thursday nights at Bowman Gray Memorial Pool. The show is set for 8:30 both nights.

"Carolina Calendar" is the theme of this year's show and will feature 30 swimmers in a series of numbers depicting life at Carolina. Swimmers featured in duet numbers include Cecile Smith and Barbara Chantler (November), Sue Ambler and Beth Lloyd (January), and Anne Campbell and Peggy Wood (March). Ed Stevens and four members of the Tar Heel swimming team, Buddy Baarke, Dave Howard, Rick Levy and Stan Tinkham, will also take part in the pageant.

The finale, June graduation, will feature a candlelight presentation with the swimmers bearing mortar boards.

No admission will be charged for the shows.

UNC Netters Record Easy 9-0 Victory

Special To The Daily Tar Heel
SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 30

—Carolina's tennis team came roaring back from a 7-2 setback at the hands of Virginia to trounce Springfield, 9-0, before a crowd of 200 here today.

The Virginia game seemed to snap the Tar Heels from their sleep. This was Virginia's 13th straight win of the season. The entire Carolina team with the exception of Del Sylvia and Bud Agar played poor tennis at Charlottesville.

It was a different story at Springfield. The team mowed down the opposition with seven of the Tar Heels taking their matches in straight sets. It was an effortless win for the Carolinians.

Del Sylvia, in the number one slot, whipped the top Springfield man, 6-0, 6-1. Johnny Booker, who took over number six place, replacing Bud Agar, whipped his man, 6-1, 6-3. Agar was forced to return home after the Virginia meet, Charlie Lambeth also had to return to Chapel Hill.

Tomorrow Carolina plays Williams College as the Tar Heels continue their swing through the North.

The summaries:
Singles—Sylvia defeated Schlossberg, 6-0, 6-1; Luxenberg defeated Craver, 6-2, 6-4; Alexander defeated Tait, 6-3, 6-1; Izar defeated Geser, 6-1, 2-6, 6-3; Booker defeated Benick, 6-1, 6-3; Duval defeated Lake, 6-6, 6-2.
Doubles—Alexander and Sylvia defeated Schlossberg and Geser, 6-1, 6-2; Luxenberg and Izar defeated Craver and Tait, 6-2, 6-3; Booker and Buchanan defeated Lake and Sears, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va.—William and Mary's 1951 football team will play seven games in Virginia. The other three are at Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and N.C. State.

Baseballers Split Two; Tennis Team Drops Tilt

Carolina's sport squads came out in full force over the past weekend in conjunction with Blue-White Day. The baseball team split two games, losing in the ninth inning in Clemson, 4-3, and beating Furman, 5-4. The tennis team dropped its match to Virginia, 7-2. The lacrosse team found the going very rough as it lost to Baltimore, 17-2. The basketball game between the varsity and old timers was won by the varsity, 73-63.

The baseball team ran into Clemson's conference leading Tigers Friday afternoon and for eight innings appeared on the way to victory. Leading, 3-1, going into the ninth inning the Tar Heels let the Tigers push across three runs to win the game.

Carolina spotted Furman a three run first inning lead and had to pull an eighth inning rally for three runs to defeat the Purple Hurricanes, 5-4.

The Tar Heel tennis team opened its Northern tour Friday by losing to Virginia. Del Sylvia and Bud Agar were the only Tar Heels to win.

The lacrosse team wasn't in the same class with the University of Baltimore Saturday morning as it dropped a 17-2 game to the Marylanders. Carolina Goalie Nick Sowell made 17 saves during the afternoon.

The 1951-52 varsity basketball team played a ragged first half and had to rely on speed in the second half to beat the old timers, 73-63, Saturday morning.

Little Vince Grimaldi gave notice that he was going to be a boy to watch as he poured 17 points through the nets. Nemo Nearman was high man for the alumni with 22 points; most of them coming in the fast second half.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va.—Barney Wilson, William and Mary basketball coach whose unappearing appetite contributes heavily to the rising food costs, has lost 10 pounds in the last two weeks. Barney now weighs in at 199, and hopes to go down to 190, his best eating weight.

After two years of holding down the waistline via the "handball in three sweatsuit" treatment.
