Game, Dance, Planned For Greater UNC Day

Mary Nell Boddie
Staff Writer

Greater University Student Council has announced the completion of plans for Greater University Day, to be observed this Saturday, September 22.

Featured event of the day will be the annual State College-Carolina football game, for which Woman's College students will be guests of the University.

For the first time Carolina students may obtain tickets for reserved end zone seats with the Woman's College students. Students desiring tickets in the reserved section are asked to trade their student passbook tickets for them at Woollen Gym by 5 p. m. today.

A greater University theme will be used at half-time, when members of the student cheering section perform special card stunts.

Immediately following the game a reception will be held in the Han Memorial for students, alumni, and visitors from State, Woman's College, and Carolina, with members of the Greater University Council serving as hosts.

On Saturday night the Order of the Grail will hold an informal dance at 8 o'clock in Woollen Gym.

The Council has arranged for a special showing of "Music of the Spheres" at the Morehead Planetarium, which will start at 5:30 p. m.

Pep rallies are being held on each of the three campuses preceding the annual weekend.

Two Dances Close Week Old Program

Two dances slated tomorrow and Saturday evenings will wind up the 1952 edition of Orientation Week, according to Ken Barton, Orientation Chairman.

The Coed Ball, the introduction to the campus of the new coeds, will take place at Woollen Gym tomorrow night at 9 o'clock. Saturday, Greater University Day will feature a dance for Carolina, State, and Greensboro freshmen in Woollen Gym at 9 p. m.

Approximately 65 men and 30 women returned to present the prepared program to the new students and to help them through their various appointments.

Although two assemblies will be held this week for freshmen, Barton announced, orientation classes taught by faculty members will this year replace the assemblies as they have been held in the past.

STILL CONFUSED?—Freshmen and new coeds attempt to find their way through the maze erected in Woollen Gymnasium for registration. Held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, registration was no different from those of the past as remembered by upper classmen, although the administration reports it ran "more smoothly than usual." The same old story of confusion, cussing, a constant rumble, and lost souls underwent its annual reliving. But as one of the more cool-headed freshmen observed, "What the heck, it only happens once in a life-time, and a day can't last but so long."

Picture Schedules Given

Picture taking of the freshmen for the Yackety Yack will continue tomorrow, and Monday, Editor Sue Lindsey announced yesterday.

At the same time she released the picture schedules for upper-classmen, which is:

Sophomores—Sept. 25, 26, 27, and 28.

Juniors—Oct. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6.

Seniors—Oct. 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12.

She emphasized there would be no "hold over" days, meaning that if you don't get your picture taken in the appointed time, you don't get your picture in the year book.

Men are requested to wear coats and ties and girls white blouses.

Miss Lindsey also put out a call for those interested in joining the year book staff.

William Wells Resigns Post

Dean William Wells, head of the College of Arts and Sciences has resigned his post, effective August 31, to take up full teaching duties in the English department.

Chancellor House is considering a new appointment for the job but no announcement has been made.

When taking the post five years ago, Wells indicated he would only serve one term. Reappointments are made every five years. But University authorities tried to persuade him to continue the job. As dean of Arts and Sciences, he was also Chairman Pro-Tem of the Faculty and headed several important administrative committees.

Wells will concentrate on instruction of the Renaissance Period. He is an expert on the poet, Edmond Spenser.

The job of dean of the College of Arts and Sciences is second only to the Chancellor's in academic matters, Dean Corydon Spruill, Dean of the General College, is acting as temporary chairman until a new appointment is made.

No Rooms On Campus Four Basements Used

Because of the decreased space in dormitories created by the switch from three men to a room to two, the housing situation on campus is still critical, according to James Wadsworth, Housing Office Director.

There are no rooms left and four dorm basements, including Alexander, Stacy, A and C, are housing from 12 to 20 students each. At the last moment A Dorm and Alexander were switched from 2 to 3 men room dormitories to help overcome the critical condition.

Although Victory Village and Glen Lennox have no vacancies, married students are finding homes for their families in town.

An estimated 150 students, who have been readmitted, transferred, or are here for the first time, are without rooms, but Wadsworth indicated that all will have rooms in town or other places shortly.

"We urge all students to let us know when they vacate their dorm rooms or know of vacancies in dorm rooms," Wadsworth said.

The housing picture for women students is good. Only some graduate women need rooms and the Dean of Women's office is helping them locate quarters. The girls have three to a room in their dormitories.

Free Money At Laundry

The Laundry Office has money on hand—it is just begging to give away, laundry officials announced yesterday, that is, give away to people who have laundry refunds coming to them from summer school.

"We have hundreds of refund checks that we would like very much to give to the people to whom they belong in order that we can clear our books," said the official.

"Perhaps many students do not know that they have refunds coming to them," he said, "but if anyone is in doubt we wish they would check by and find out."

FROSH START YACK PIXS—Getting an early start in the picture department of the Yackety Yack is the freshmen class. Bobby Payne of Richmond, Va., is the guy before the camera, and Bill Mansfield is the photographer. Bobby is attending Carolina on a scholarship and plans to major in Business Administration.
