

Religion Meet To Open Here Monday Night

The annual Orange County Institute of Religious Education will begin Monday night at 7:30 at the University Methodist Church under the directorship of Maurice A. Kidder, Gray Lecturer in religious education here.

The Institute, which will hold two classes each evening through October 5, is designed to benefit both those who lead or participate in worship services as well as those laymen interested in enriching their own Christian life.

Teachers secured for the sessions include Mr. Kidder, Mrs. Cecil Johnson, superintendent of the Primary Department at the Chapel Hill Baptist Church; the Rev. Charles M. Jones, pastor of the Chapel Hill Presbyterian Church; and Mrs. J. Edison Adams, local Episcopal Church worker.

Sessions will be taught on "Teaching Primary Children," "Planning and Leadership in Worship," "Teaching Youth," "Teaching Juniors," "The Church and Family Life," and "The Superintendent and his Task."

Pi Kappa Phi Bans Hazing

The Kappa chapter of Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity went on record favoring the abolition of all forms of hazing and similar pre-initiation practices at their regular meeting this week.

Pi Kappa Phi is the second local chapter in the last month to abolish hazing. Alpha Sigma chapter of Chi Psi was the first local chapter to make this move.

A spokesman for the fraternity said, "the object of the resolution is to replace this activity for now and the future with constructive work projects for the pledges." These projects will be directed to the good of the fraternity and the community and will be supervised by the brothers of the chapter, who will also participate.

Dr. Heard Elected To Make Plans For United Nations Day

Mayor Edwin S. Lanier announced this week that Dr. Alex Heard of the University faculty has been appointed general chairman for Chapel Hill's 1951 observance of United Nations Day.

Dr. Heard will formulate plans for the general observance here next month and will serve as coordinator for the activities of the various participant groups.

Tentative plans are now being made for a program as extensive as that of last year, in which University, community, business, and civic groups, rural and civic agencies took part.

Four Officers Added To AFROTC Staff

Four new Air Force officers have been added to the Department of Air Science and Tactics at Air Force ROTC headquarters here, it was announced yesterday by Lt. Col. Jesse J. Moorhead, professor of air science and tactics and commanding officer.

They are Lt. Col. Raymond H. Baker, Hammond, Ind.; Lt. Col. Mark T. Orr, Chapel Hill; Major Joe O. Young, Dallas Texas, and Captain James A. Schofield, Charleston, S. C.

Colonel Baker came to Chapel Hill from Headquarters Military Air Transport Service in Washington. He was a fighter pilot in Italy during World War II.

Colonel Orr was, for more than three years, General Douglas McArthur's senior education adviser in Tokyo. He is a candidate for the Ph.D. degree in political science here.

Major Young has just reported from the University of Miami. He was, during World War II, a fighter pilot in the Pacific where he flew 60 combat missions and was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, and the Purple Heart.

Captain Schofield was recalled from the Air Force Reserve at Charleston, S. C., for this assignment. He was a transport pilot in China during the war and was decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross and Oak Leaf Cluster, the Breast Order of Yun Hu by the Chinese Nationalist government, the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, and a Presidential Unit Citation.

In addition to Colonel Moorhead, other members of the Air Force staff here are Major Noel Carpenter, Decatur, Ala., Major Robert L. Bunting, Salem, Va., and Capt. Edward D. Robertson, Burlington.

Colonel Moorhead is beginning his third year with the Air Force ROTC and came to Chapel Hill from Headquarters U. S. Air Force in Washington. He served overseas with the Anti-Submarine Command during the war.

Major Carpenter, a senior pilot with wartime service in Greenland and India, was ordered to the University from Brookley Air Force Base, Ala., and is now beginning his third year here.

Major Bunting was recalled to duty from his post as assistant professor of economics in the School of Business Administration here. He is a candidate for the Ph.D. degree at the University of Chicago. He flew 70 combat missions in Europe during World War II.

He's a Campus A-man

The "A" stands for "Activities"—and he's in a lot of them. Plays first-string basketball. Writes for the school paper. Represents his class on the student council.

And on top of that, he's a good student.

Telephone people are like that, too. Besides giving good, friendly, courteous telephone service, they take part in numerous extracurricular activities.

That's why you'll find telephone men and women working on charity drives, joining service clubs, leading Scout troops.

The same spirit of friendliness and helpfulness which lies behind the fine telephone service this country receives, makes telephone people A-people in their communities.
