Bowers Appoints Students To Legislative Vacancies

Seven University Party and five Student Party members were appointed yesterday by Student Body President Henry Bowers to fill existing vacancies in the Student Legislature.

William H. Ruffin, Rolfe Neill, Lilyan Hill, Mimi Weil, Jim Thorpe, William Rue, and Brit Wayne were nominated by UP Chairman Dalton Ruffin and appointed by Bowers for the University Party posts.

The Student Party filled their five vacancies at their Monday night meeting. Dick Murphy was elected to represent Town Men's District II on the SP slate. Bill York and Dave Curley were selected for Dorm Men's District I, and Bob Pace and Al Ballard to represent Dorm Men's District II.

Party Chairman Julian Mason presented the Student Party recommendations to President Bowers, who made the official appointments.

At the SP meeting held Monday night in Roland Parker Lounge in Graham Memorial, President Henry Bowers gave a talk pointing out the differences between the Student and University Parties.

He mentioned several accomplishments of the party during past years, and cited several things it plans as a program for this year. This includes maintaining its close interest in the National Students Association, improving coed relations, a restudy of the court system, and an examination of present hazing practices on the campus.

The first thing in the way of business set for the next SP meeting is making party nominations for Junior Class officers.

Scholarship Deadline Set

The deadline for applications for the annual competition for Rhodes Scholarships to Oxford University, England has been extended to November 3, according to Dean C. P. Spruill, secretary of the scholarship committee for this state.

The deadline was originally October 15.

Preliminary selections will be made by state committees on December 12 and the final selections by district committees on December 15, Spruill said.

The value of the scholarship is 500 pounds per annum, and scholars who qualify under the G.I. bill may expect the same benefits at Oxford as at an American university.

An election to a Rhodes Scholarship is for two years in the first instance with a possible third year for those whose records at Oxford and whose plans of study make such an award available, the dean revealed.

To be eligible a candidate must be an unmarried male citizen of the United States between the ages of 19 and 25 on October 1, 1952, must have completed at least his sophomore year by the time of the application, and receive official endorsement of his college or university.

Honor Society Names Creed As Delegate

The members of the Scabbard and Blade Society, honorary military organization, met last Monday night in the Air ROTC Armory for their first meeting of the school year.

Bob Creed was appointed by James R. Strickland, captain of the chapter, to head the delegation to the National Convention to be held at Denver, Colo. in November.

Assisting Captain Strickland in commanding the society are 1st Lt. William C. Bostic, 2nd Lt. George S. Blackwelder, and 1st Sergeant Robert L. Strickland.

Five committees were also appointed by the captain: Membership—W. C. Holton, J. J. Ferebee, W. F. Redding, L. B. Smith, and Lawrence Cheek; Publicity—G. M. Stephens, J. P. Mahoney, and R. W. Parlier; Social—D. D. Ruffin, J. R. Womack, J. E. Montague; Awards—Larry Botto, S. J. Plager, and J. W. G. Woolcott; Rifle and Pistol Competition—R. M. Creed, John Cazin, and George Blackwelder.

A rehashing of regulations and by-laws preceded dismissal.

Dr. Holmes Invited As Judge In Florals

Dr. U. T. Holmes of the Department of Romance Languages in the University will go to New York City Friday to serve as a mantedor (manager-judge) in the Catalan Jocs Florals (floral games), an important celebration in the cultural life of the Catalan people.

The Games were established in 1393 in Barcelona in imitation of the Provençal Games which were earlier by 60 years, Dr. Holmes explained. At the celebrations prizes are awarded for the best of various kinds of poetry.

German Requested Study At Michigan But Ended Up Happy In Chapel Hill

By Bob Wilson
"Most of all I like tobacco and milkshake you have over here," says Wilhelm Angermeier, one of the 14 young German elementary school teachers studying American educational methods here at the University.

The tall and handsome 22-year-old foreigner, who keeps a constant smile of confidence on his face, says he is pleased with his first impressions of the United States, North Carolina, and especially Chapel Hill.

Bill, as he has become known to his roommates and friends here, hails from the city of Straubing in Southeastern Germany. Along with his school teaching duties there, he found time for the favorite of his several hobbies, table tennis, and has been the cham-

Orphan Cut To Be Decided At High Point

The Baptist State Convention's Committee of Nineteen meets tomorrow at High Point to decide whether the Baptist Orphanage funds will be cut by $100,000 a year to reduce the $477,000 state Baptist indebtedness.

This proposed move has been protested by Edwin S. Lanier, mayor of Chapel Hill and trustee of the Thomasville Baptist Orphanage. Lanier says that the slash in funds will set the orphanage program back 40 years.

The Rev. Allen S. Hale, member of the committee, says that the committee expects to put its recommendations into specific form at tomorrow's meeting.

Grants Given To Professors

Two members of the University faculty have received awards from the Ford Foundation. They are Dr. Harry K. Russell, professor of English, and Dr. Edward A. Cameron, of the mathematics department.

Dr. Cameron will do research and study mathematics programs at Princeton University and at various institutions throughout the country. He will return to Chapel Hill next summer. The grant, which was administered by the Fund for the Advancement of Education, carries a stipend approximating Dr. Cameron's salary on the University staff for the academic year.

Dr. Russell was awarded a Faculty Study Fellowship which will permit him to devote his entire time for one academic year to whatever different field of research he might choose. He has been released from his duties in the English Department for the duration of the fellowship. Administered by the American Council of Learned Societies, the fellowship is the only one of its type to be awarded at the University this year.

pion of Bavaria three times. Sent to the University by the U.S. Office of Education, Angermeier was one of the eight teachers out of over 200 applications from the Bavarian District who was accepted.

Modestly Bill says, "You see, intelligence doesn't help you much. You just have to be a lucky chap."

After finishing 10 years of elementary and high school studies in 1945, he took a job with the military department in Straubing as an interpreter. Bill then attended a teachers college for four years, finishing in 1950. During vacations he taught in a German school, which he was required to do in order to keep his teaching privileges in his native schools.

For the past year he taught in

Solons, Athletes Protest Stadium Segregation

Special Session Backs Bowers, 27-14

By Walt Dear

The Student Legislature and the Monogram Club both passed resolutions last night protesting the segregation of negro students in Kenan Stadium. The solons passed the measure 27-14 while the athletes passed their resolution unanimously.

Calling on the administration to "respect the rights of every student with equal privileges and responsibilities for all," the legislators asserted that action taken by the administration was an affront to every student in the University.

The statement by the athletes, with 20 out of 28 members present said, "The Monogram Club of the University of North Carolina protests segregation in the student section of home athletic contests."

The legislative resolution, introduced by Ed Stevens, UP member, said, "It will be tragic if we at the University allow, without vigorous protest, any action that threatens to undermine the proud record that is ours."

The legislators, meeting for only 50 minutes, heard members take side in a quite but suspense filled session. Dick Murphy, making his initial speech before the Legislature, pointed out that "a student's right had been abridged. 'If the segregation goes unprotected, it puts the right of all students in jeopardy," he declared.

Dick Kinnebrew, UP floor leader, said that he voted no because the students he represents believed that negroes should not be admitted to the cheering section in Kenan. In a poll he conducted in Whitehead dorm, composed of medical, dental, and public health students he said that "70 don't want negroes in section" while 36 do and 18 abstained.

The Monogram Club resolution introduced by Barry Farber, vice-president, was announced to the legislature two minutes before a roll call vote was taken.

LI'L ABNER'S a Yokum

DAISY MAE'S a Scraggs

At Last! Li'l Abner To Return

Dogpatch is upon us once again. A resurrection takes place tomorrow in the form of a muscular innocent, and typically Dogpatch person who hasn't been seen around these parts since last March 6 when the till of the Publications Board got so low there wasn't even enough money left for a crossword puzzle.

Li'l Abner is on a new adventure, this time at Scalp University. He accepted a scholarship to the barber school and took along the Yokum family's ham. But en route, Dan Druff, a college man, stole the ham and threw it off the train. Only a coed, Imogene Coma could console Li'l Abner.

The ham, which was to feed Li'l Abner for his entire college stay, is needed desperately at home for his pappy who's just two days away from death's knell. On top of this, Burping Buffalo, a full-blooded Indian and roommate of Abner's, has just finished his winter meal and doesn't expect to eat again until next summer.

Daily Tar Heel editors have promised to have the same cartoon strip running no more than once. In the past the same comic has been run two or three times in one week.

By the way, Daisy Mae, Li'l Abner's charming pursuer, hasn't snagged her man yet.

The Publications Board has approved Editor Glenn Harden's suggestion to republish the comic. The cartoon will run six times a week and will appear on the inside or back pages.

Correction

Davis Byrd (UP), a member of the student legislature, was unseated last week because of his failure to attend, Bob Gorman, rules committeeman stated yesterday.

Paul Barnes (SP-UP) was incorrectly listed in the story last week as one of the legislators who had been unseated.
