

Fullback Dick Wiess Chosen 14th DTH Athlete Of The Week

By Bill Peacock

Fullback Dick Wiess, Carolina's leading ground-gainer Saturday against Georgia, edged out Defensive End George Norris yesterday to become the 14th Daily Tar Heel Athlete of the Week.

Both Wiess and Norris received only one first place vote, but the husky Philadelphia back also received enough mention on other ballots to top Norris, 10-8. Two other players, End Lou Darnell and Tackle Bill Kuhn also received first place votes to trail in balloting. Tailback Frank Wissman, Guard Joe Dudeck, and Tackle Tom Higgins also received mention.

The veteran Wiess easily led all backs in rushing in the Georgia game, gaining 109 yards on 22 carries for an average of 4.9 yards a crack. The next best in total yards gained was 38 by Lauren Hargrove of Georgia. Wiess accounted for all but 31 of Carolina's yards gained rushing.

Wiess was most of the Carolina offense in the first half which saw quarterback Skeet Hesmer stay on the ground most of the time and called on Wiess to carry 15 times. His best single effort was a 51-yard sprint just before the half ended.

On that play Wiess went from the Carolina 28 on a full spinner over left tackle, cut out to the Georgia sideline when he reached the secondary, and made it down to the Bulldog 23 before Georgia safety man Claude Hipps caught him from the side.

In spring practice last year Bob White took over Wiess' number one spot and started in the State game. But White did not quite answer the Tar Heels running problem in that game and the 185-pound Wiess got the call for the Georgia game.

Wiess came close to being elected Athlete of the Year last spring when he was catching for the Carolina baseball team. He was one of the team's best hitters and was chosen on the Big Four team.

Norris has led the fine defensive line in both Carolina's games and with Lou Darnell and Guard Jack Maultsby caught Georgia's Mal Cook in the endzone last week to score a safety.

Norris, who stands six feet, two inches and weighs 182, won the first string right end position last year while he was a sophomore, and is in no danger of losing it now. He thrives on contact and likes to mix it up with the opposition. The Radford, Va. star is particularly adept at crashing and harassing the passers.

Lou Darnell came to Carolina this September straight from the Marines and didn't even have his picture in the program last week. He came out for practice Sept. 7, blocked two punts Sept. 8, and has had the defensive left end post sewed up since.

Tar Heels Work On Pass Defense

The Carolina football squad went through a rough workout yesterday afternoon, practicing single wing and T-formation plays and defense against the T. Pass plays and pass defense were stressed especially.

The whole squad was out in heavy dress except George Foti, definitely unable to play because of a shoulder separation, and Bud Carson and Bob White. Both Carson and White are expected to see action against Texas.

Carolina's defensive team spent practically the whole afternoon working against the T, Texas' offensive formation. Tom Higgins, Joe Dudeck, and a host of others all looked good against the tricky offense.

The Carolina offense also tried their hand at the T-formation, and looked fair—the Tar Heels have used the T but once this year in actual competition. The team's passing looked better than it had in quite a while, with Skeet Hesmer, Van Weatherspoon, Frank Wissman, and Connie Gravitt plus others throwing a good many strikes. Bill O'Brien looks as if he was out to take his position back from Jeff Newton as he made two three one hand grandstand catches.

Coach Jim Camp, who scouted Texas last week, took a few of the backs to one side and worked on pass defense with them, and was evidently satisfied with his results. The line kept up its great work of last Saturday against Georgia by proving to be the brightest spot of the whole practice.

Texas

Texas, the Tar Heel's opponent next week, was chosen Number Six in the Associated Press football poll Monday. The Longhorns, who defeated Purdue, 14-0, last week, received six first place votes.

Maryland (9), Duke (16), and Clemson (18) were the only Southern Conference teams in the first 20. Wake Forest received honorable mention.

Tennessee (3), and Notre Dame (5) were the top-ranking future opponents of the Tar Heels.

Harriers Elect Hamrick

"Flash" Gordon Hamrick, member of the Carolina cross country track team for three years and number one man last year, has been unanimously elected captain of the team.

Hamrick, is a senior from Shelby.

The Tar Heels will open their season Saturday against The University of Richmond with what Coach Dale Ranson considers a well-balanced team. The team has been progressing very well this week, and Ranson is especially pleased with the fact that the top eight or ten men run the four-mile course in approximately the same time.

Hamrick has turned in the best time in the time trials so far this year, running the course in 22:43.

INTRAMURALS

Members of three important committees were elected at Monday night's meeting of Intramural managers. The committees were the Rules Committee, the Protest Committee, and the Co-Recreation Committee.

The Rules Committee consists of Mal Perkinson, Bill Thurman, Ray Stein, Jim Hurley, Neil Satterfield, Jim Hock, and Roy Mitchell. Elected to the Protest Committee were Bill Evans, Jim Dillon, Frank Hood, Arch Ford and Bob Rudisell. The men on the Co-Recreation Sports Committee are Ray Stein, Tom Matthews, Don Davis, Frank Hood, Gurney Boren, and Art Spaugh.

The Dormitory Division of the tag football league will open tomorrow. The entry deadline for the track meet has been changed to Oct. 9 and the meet will be held Oct. 15.

October 6 is the deadline for entry in the Mural golf tournament. Golfers need only to shoot an 18-hole qualifying round and turn in their scorecard to Mr. Kenney or Mr. Brown at the Golf Shop.

The tag football scores for Monday, Oct. 1: Theata Chi, 7 and Beta 2, 0; Beta 1, 12 and Phi Delt, 2, 0; KA, 38 and Kap Sig 2, 0; Chi Phi, 3 and DKE 2, 0; Zeta Psi, 47 and PiKA, 0; Sig Chi 2, 7 and Kap Sig 1, 6 (overtime).

WAA Tennis Tournament Deadline Set

The deadline for entries in the woman's tennis tournament is Oct. 5th, Gwen Gore, WAA tennis manager, announced yesterday. No entries will be accepted after that date.

Entries must be written on standard intramural entry blanks, and must be turned in to Mrs. Campbell's office at the gym.

Sororities may enter ten girls in the tournament, which begins October 9, and all others may enter an unlimited number.

The Prowler Identified

Wife Of Disk Jockey
Tells Strange Story

Still wild-eyed with hysteria, lovely Susan Gilvray poured out a strange story of treachery and murder today. The District Attorney stated, however, that he wasn't satisfied with her story and that he suspected she was holding something back.

This item might appear in your newspaper tomorrow, to give you the first clue of the suspenseful story of The Prowler, starring Van Heflin in his greatest role. It is adult entertainment, excitingly and intelligently portrayed. It opens (Thursday) at the
