CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

NUMBER 18

Six Hollywood Personages Appear At Carolina Today

All wolves and wolverines in Chapel Hill will get a chance to see their favorite or near favorite star from Hollywood in person this afternoon in front of the Carolina Theater.

Three starlets, new actors, producer and screenwriter will be in town as a part of Hollywood's caravan of stars touring the country in celebration of "Movietime, U. S. A."

A motor caravan will be met at the city limits and led through the campus by a police escort. The group, headed by Penny Edwards, Laurie Nelson, Virginia Gibson, Craig Hill, Isabel Dawn, and Irving Asher, will arrive at the theater at 3 o'clock, where they will explain the purposes of this important movie celebration throughout the nation, and sign autographs.

Producer Asher's biggest assignment to date has been the new Bing Crosby picture at Paramount Studios. Actor Craig Hill is a newcomer in films at Fox, where he portrayed Jeanne Crain's boy friend in "Cheaper By the Dozen," and had a small part in last year's oscar winner, "All About Eve."

Miss Edwards was first under contract to Warner Brothers, and had roles in "My Wild Irish Rose," "That Hagen Girl" and a co-starring role in "Two Guys From Texas" with Dennis Morgan and Jack Carson. Penny is currently writing a novel about the early South, and expects to finish it in another year.

Virginia Gibson is Warner's newest hope for stardom, and they have given her choice roles in "Goodbye, My Fancy," and in the forthcoming technicolor musical, "Painting The Clouds With Sunshine."

Mayor Ed Lanier will be on hand to welcome the group, and E. Carrington Smith has invited the students to help welcome these celebrities.

HERE IS A preview of one of the movie stars who will be here to greet all the campus males at the Carolina this afternoon. She is Penny Edwards, Warner Brothers studio starlet.

Rushing Post Office Open

Sorority rushing invitations may be picked up today in the "Pan-Hellenic Post Office" in Roland Parker Lounge number 2 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Each girl must call for her invitations in person or be disqualified from the remainder of the rushing plans, according to Binny Chew, Pan-Hell rushing chairman, who also "urges all rushees to follow the schedule in the rush manual."

The post-office will move to the Horace Williams-Thomas Wolfe lounge on the first floor of Graham Memorial on Friday and Saturday.

Silver Wings In His Pocket Grad Returns

Lieutenant Curtis S. Clauson, who graduated from Air Force Pilot School and received his Silver Wings last month, returned to the campus today to tell his former classmates in the Air Force ROTC of his experiences while taking pilot training.

Lt. Clauson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric T. Clauson of Waynesville, N.C., graduated from the University and received his commission in the Air Force Reserve here in June 1950 upon completion of his AF ROTC training. He received his commission in the Regular Air Force in September of that year, having been appointed a Distinguished Military Graduate from the University and recommended for a permanent commission by Lt. Col. Jesse J. Moorhead, Professor of Air Science and Tactics.

While at the University, Lt. Clauson majored in Political Science. He was a Cadet Lieutenant Colonel, in the AF ROTC, a member of the Scabbard and Blade and a member of the Lamda Chi Alpha fraternity.

At present on leave, Lt. Clauson will report to Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida on October 12th for transition training in the new jet F-94 All Weather Fighter-Interceptor. Upon completion of this training Clauson will report to McGuire Air Force Base, Ft. Dix, N.J., for duty with the 52nd Fighter-Interceptor Group.

HUH!...A WHAT

A what? . . . An OYCI? . . . You don't know what it is, do you? But The Daily Tar Heel does. We sent our ace reporter out on the story, and haven't seen him since . . . Maybe tomorrow.

Who's Responsible!

Governor Scott Leaves Issue To Administration

Governor Scott yesterday rejected a request from five Negro students here for a ruling from Attorney General Harry McMullan on the legality of the University's action in issuing them tickets for a Negro section in Kenan Stadium instead of pass-books for the regular student section.

Scott turned over the telegram request to Controller W. D. Carmichael, Jr., claiming that it was a matter for the University Administration to handle, not the Governor.

Scott is, however, ex officio chairman of the University's board of trustees, and UNC Chancellor R. B. House said on September 26 that the "administration could not be held responsible for the segregation of Negroes since the Athletic Association handles the seating in the stadium and is not an educational organization." (However, he added that the UNC trustees and administration will back up the policy of the Athletic Association.)

Controller Carmichael was out of town yesterday and therefore not available for comment upon Scott's turning the telegram over to him.

Bloodmobile

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be here today and tomorrow. Students can make donations from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. on both days. The actual process of giving blood takes about 45 minutes. Appointments can be made by calling 2-8811, the Red Cross office.

Six To Speak On Latin American Affairs Tomorrow Night; Student Club Proposed

By BOB WILSON

Are you interested in Latin American affairs?

If so, the golden opportunity for you to advance your knowledge and enjoyment of this fascinating area of America has arrived!

Tomorrow night in Room 407 of the Alumni Building at 8 o'clock, an informal panel discussion on the topic, "Opportunities Resulting From The Study Of Latin America," will be led by six outstanding authorities on the subject.

In addition, a proposal will be made for the organization of an extra-curricular Student Latin American Club. The evening's program is being engineered by Richard Duncan, a graduate assistant in the Political Science Department, and Reid Harris, a Carolina senior majoring in Political Science.

The professors participating in the panel discussion include:

Dr. Linares Quintana, visiting professor in the Political Science

Dr. Linares Quintana

Department here from the Argentine Republic.

Dr. W. W. Pierson, Dean of Graduate School and visitor of 16 Latin American countries.

Dr. Sturgis Leavitt, Director of the Institute of Latin American Affairs and Kenan Professor of Spanish at the University.

Dr. David Basile, Dr. Harold Bierck, and Dr. Frederico Gil, all members of the executive committee of the Institute.

These professors represent a wealth of knowledge and practical experience in the Latin American field. Quintana, Bierck, and Gil have just returned from visiting several Latin American countries.

"The leaders in the discussion are not coming to the meeting for the purpose of discourse," Duncan said yesterday, "but to answer any questions which the students might ask."

"We hope that it will be an informal, educational, round table affair," he added.

Several possibilities that the proposed student Latin American Club could have in its program were suggested by Duncan and Harris. They include informal exchange of ideas and experiences travel opportunities, and increased social relations with Latin American students on campus.

Prexy Replies To Columnist

In a letter to The Daily Tar Heel yesterday, Student Body President Henry Bowers replied to an attack upon him by O. Mac White, DTH columnist, in last Saturday's issue of the paper, and described the impression left by the column as "erroneous."

White in his column, "Worm's Eye View," bemoaned President Bowers' absence from a meeting with Chancellor R. B. House of representatives of the various student groups who have attacked the Administration's policy toward Negro student seating at athletic events. White further claimed that Bowers when "Questioned as to why and wherefore of his absence," answered "House has not come to me, why should I go to him?"

The complete text of Bowers' reply follows:

"I wish to correct the erroneous impression left by Mr. White's column, "The Worm's Eye View," of Saturday last.

"Mr. White misrepresents my reasons for not attending the meeting referred to. I assume that Mr. White drew his conclusions from an informal discussion which I had with him on Thursday evening. During this discussion, which I did not consider a formal interview, Mr. White took no notes and failed to recall my reasons for not attending the meeting when he published his column.

"I did not attend the meeting because the group there was composed of representatives of various student groups and was not acting in behalf of Student Government.

"The statement with which Mr. White ends his column, given as a direct quotation, is a misrepresentation of my true attitude in this question. I do not recall the statement and feel certain that if it were made it has been removed from its context. The discourteous and flippant impression which it leaves is out of phase with my feelings on this subject.

"I have been in touch with the administration through the Dean of Students office and have consulted with the Chancellor at the appropriate time."

Grail Dance

Tickets for the Grail Homecoming Dance to be held in Woollen Gymnasium from 9-12 o'clock Saturday night will be on sale in the Y Court today from 12-2 and tomorrow from 2-4:30. Tickets will also be available at the door. Music for the dance will be furnished by Bill Byers and the Cavaliers of Duke and Carolina. Tickets are 75 cents drag and $1 stag.
