YMCA Ends Successful Faculty Drive

Last Thursday the YMCA terminated its faculty membership drive, having succeeded in adding 152 faculty men to its membership, the new members contributing a total of $717.00. In addition to this number, seventy-five men took pledge cards to be sent in later.

The drive, most successful one in several years, failed to reach around 145 faculty members, who were either unavailable during the drive, or were not at their offices when "Y" representatives called. This group will be contacted by members of the YMCA cabinet during the year.

This year was the first that student members canvassed prospects in the faculty. Gil Marsh, assisted by a number of other student leaders headed the drive, with a total of thirty men participating in the program. A greater faculty membership in the YMCA was emphasized this year, to counter the drop in enrollment in the university. Plans are under-

George Stephens, and Duncan MacCalman. Tison was credited with 28 saves, two of them penalty kicks in the later stages of the game.

Duke never let up and taxed the strength of the Tar Heels for the entire 88 minutes. The Blue Devils took over 40 shots at the goal and displayed the finest offense encountered this season by the local booters.

In the locker room following the victory, the Carolina players expressed the feeling that they had met one of the best teams they would encounter this year and a victory against Duke next Tuesday, Nov. 6, at Durham would enhance chances of a good season.
