Resolution To Dissolve Coed Senate Passed

A resolution to dissolve the Coed Senate passed the Senate Tuesday night with several absences but no unfavorable votes.

The Senate's consideration of moves to disband the organization, formerly the women's governing body, was initiated by a resolution introduced last week by Ruth Conner, president of Kenan Dormitory. The act which passed the Senate was a substitute resolution introduced by Pellen Speck, chairman of women advisors in the fall Orientation program and a member of Coed Senate.

The resolution also provided for the establishment of a Women's Residence Council. The proposed Council would be made up of the presidents of each women's dormitory and the house managers of each sorority house, plus one additional representative from the dormitories. The Council would handle problems of women's rules, dormitories and inter-dormitory affairs, and would elect a chairman of women's orientation.

The chairman of the Council would be elected from and by the entire coed population in a spring election.

The resolution for the abolition of Senate will probably be introduced in the Student Legislature tonight through the Chairman of the Coed Affairs Committee. Action by the Legislature is necessary as dissolution of the Senate requires amendment to the Student Constitution.

A second measure introduced by Miss Speck and also passed without dissenting vote was a bill providing for the election of a vice-president in the women's dormitories.

"Though it is not unconstitutional, it is bad government" to have a single official serving in legislative, judicial and executive capacities, Miss Speck proposed that the vice-president should have the duty of presiding over the dormitory councils.

The duties of the house presidents under the new plan will be confined to executive and advisory functions and also to serve in a legislative capacity through their membership on the proposed Women's Residence Council.

Pre-registration

General College students can make appointments with their advisors to pre-register for winter and spring quarters beginning today through Tuesday in 303 South Building.

Pre-registration will begin on Wednesday and continue for two weeks, ending November 20.

Bi-Partisan Board Will Meet Tonight

The Bi-Partisan Selection Board will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the Men's Council Room of Graham Memorial to hear applicants for vacancies on the Men's and Women's Councils, it was announced yesterday by Alan Milledge, chairman of the board.

There are three vacancies for juniors on the Women's Council and two on the Men's Council.

The Selection Board, composed of two members of the Men's Council, two members of the Women's Council, and two representatives of both the Student and University parties, interviews all students who wish to run for seats on the Honor Councils. The Board nominates all those candidates it feels are qualified disregarding the number of vacancies to be filled. The dual functions of the Board are orienting applicants to the duties of the court jobs, and deciding whether each applicant is suited to discharge these obligations.

The Board will meet again tomorrow afternoon at 2 p.m. to interview candidates for one sophomore, one freshman, and one graduate seat on the Men's Council. All students are urged to come up and talk with the Board.

The duties of the Honor Councils are to try all Campus and Honor Code offenses with original jurisdiction, and to find offenders guilty or innocent, and to impose sentences on guilty men and women. The Councils also have appellate jurisdiction over cases involving social violations, and offenders.

Alderman Coeds Celebrate Hallowe'en With Fire Drill

By Donna Hauck

The time: Midnight. Scene: Alderman. Actors: Beautiful women. Action: Fire drill.

What a drama! Spectacular costumes.

Anyone passing Alderman Tuesday night would have thought that 'twas an early start on Halloween witches and costumes. Gorgeous witches, 1000 strong, streamed from both ends of the building.

Precisely at 12:03 a.m. the clanging began. Roommates who had retired at 9, some with slight hangovers, were awakened, wet towels placed in their hands, (or on their heads) and were pushed out of the door while the more alert members closed the window, after madly piling radios, magazines, books, newspapers, clothes, unanswered letters, coke bottles and assorted trash which had been resting orderly and sedately on the sill, onto the bed. The last roommate out, wet towel in

SEC Opens Season Twice With Met Singing Stars

EUGENE CONLEY

A Metropolitan Opera tenor will be on campus once again when Eugene Conley sings in Memorial Hall, Thursday, November 8, at 8 o'clock. The concert will be the first of a series of presentations made possible by the Student Entertainment Committee. Last year's series was

DTH Still Undecided

The Publications Board delayed a reconsideration of the standard-tabloid question because the Student Council is planning to consider a request questioning the Board's power to make the change voted by the Board last week.

The Board will take no action on the matter until the decision of the Council, which is scheduled to discuss the matter this coming week, has been announced.

The Daily Tar Heel will continue under the present set-up until a change is made by the Board.

opened by Rise Stevens, Met coloratura star.

Besides his New York opera work, Conley has sung in Paris, Stockholm, Amsterdam, Oslo, Copenhagen, The Hague, and Rome. His repertoire includes leading roles in "Faust", "Tosca", "La Boheme", "Madame Butterfly", "Rigoletto", "La Traviata", and has recorded some semi-classical songs. While in Italy, Conley recorded the music for "Faust" which was then made into a movie.

Before serving in the Air Force during World War II, Conley had sung over radio, appeared with the San Carol, the New Opera, and the Cincinnati Summer opera companies. While in service, he performed for the AAF Aid Society.

Upon discharge, he appeared with the New York City Center Opera Company and the New Orleans Opera Association. He has been acclaimed as one of the foremost tenors in the world.

Conley and his wife, Winifred Heidt, contralto, have performed together several times and critics feel that the husband-wife combination is a treat.

Born in Lynn, Massachusetts, of Irish-English ancestry, Conley studied in Boston and New York before starting his professional work.

Students will be admitted free upon presentation of their I.D. cards. For any seats remaining vacant after 7:40, $1 tickets will be sold to student wives, faculty, and townspeople.

SEC programs are made possible through appropriations by the Student Legislature from the student block fee.

Grail Sponsors Informal Dance

The Grail will sponsor the second in a series of four informal dances this coming Saturday night following the Carolina-Tennessee game.

Bill Byers and the Duke Cavaliers will furnish the music for the evening. He also played for the previous Grail dance which was held after the South Carolina-North Carolina game.

Tickets will be placed on sale tomorrow in the Y court and also be available at the door Saturday night.

The proceeds from these dances will go to an annual scholarship fund and to other worthwhile campus activities.

The tickets are $1 stag and 75 cents per couple.

Law Wives To Hear Dr. Henderson

Dr. Archibald Henderson will be guest speaker, when the Law Wives Association meets tonight at 8 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

He will speak on the history of the University and Chapel Hill. Special guests for the meeting will be the Dental Wives.

Action Is First Exercise Of Veto

In a dramatic move yesterday afternoon, President Henry Bowers vetoed the Fall Elections Bill as amended by the legislature last week. It was his first exercise of his prerogative to reject an act of the legislature.

There were three reasons for his action, according to a letter sent yesterday evening to R. F. "Bunny" Davis, speaker of the Student Legislature.

(1) Under the dates set by the bill, elections on November 15 and runoff on November 20, the Bi-Partisan Selections Board would be unable to submit its nominations to the Elections Board in the time required by law.

(2) The Chairman of the Elections Board would be unable to submit her elections report as required by law.

(3) "It is necessary," Eowers wrote, "that all nominees be given more time than is allowed under this bill in order that they may conduct a proper campaign and present their views to the student body."

Bowers recommended that the dates of the election and runoff be set for November 20 and November 29 respectively. These are the dates suggested in the Elections Board's original schedule which was amended by the legislature last week to change the dates to November 15 and 20.

In his letter to Speaker Davis, the president also urged that the Legislature study the elections date situation and "make the necessary changes so that fall elections may be held at times

Kyser Leads Pep Rally Friday Night

A former Carolina head cheerleader and two top University dignitaries will form the ingredients for what should be the best pep rally of the year tomorrow night. The University Club, desiring to give the students a treat gaged Kay Kyser, Gordon Gray and Chancellor House to conduct the "German Weekend" pep rally tomorrow night, it was announced yesterday by Club President Duff Smith:

The "Old Perfesser" himself, James Kerne (that's his name) Kyser, will be on hand to try and bring back some of the Carolina Spirit of 1927 when he was head cheerleader. After getting the rally going with a few yells Kyser will turn the proceedings over to his eager assistants, the Gray-House team, who will try their hand at stirring the students.

The time of the rally has been set for 7:45 p.m. and will be over by 8:15, Smith announced. This time has been set in order that students will have time between the Johnny Long concert, the rally and the German dance. Those desiring, will be able to attend all three affairs.
