Churches Observe Armistice Day Today

In observance of Armistice Day today, several local churches are emphasizing the peace theme.

In the regular morning service of the Episcopal church there will be a special prayer and hymn.

"The Sense of Mission", based on the text of "they gave themselves first" from Corinthians II, will be the sermon at the Lutheran church. The Reverend Mr. Charles Wessinger of Thomasville will be guest speaker for the student supper meeting at the Lutheran church this evening.

The little chapel of the Methodist church will remain open during the afternoon, for all who may desire to come and worship. No formal service will be held.

It seems we were foxed again, a la Virginia, and things look pretty grey in Tarheelia, but never say die—Bring on Notre Dame.

On the Hill the number of social functions over the weekend was limited, since a large delegation traveled to Scott Stadium for the festivities.

Last night the Alpha Kappa Kappa's formally opened their new chapter house, when they were hosts to members of the first-year med school class for the initial rushing party of the fraternity. Last Sunday the fraternity held an informal reception for the class. The Alpha Kappa Kappa's recently moved into the Old Alpha Kappa Psi house on Fetzner Lane.

Alpha Kappa Kappa Charles Fulghum of Selma is pinned to Joan Knoch of Atlanta, Ga. Joan is a nurse at State Hospital in Raleigh.

The Chi Psi's traveled to Virginia en masse to visit their brothers, who claim the former Charlottesville Country Club as their chapter house—swimming pool and tennis courts included. As a result of "to the victor goes the spoils" bet, the Carolina Chi Psi's had to foot the bill for last night's party.

At the Chi Psi's annual fall houseparty held last weekend, Miss Joyce Krahenbuhl of Union, N. J. was named "Maid of Chi Psi."

Serenading of the week was done by members and pledges of Theta Chi, who displayed their melodic talents at every sorority house and women's dormitory on campus.

Phi Alpha Delta Entertains Alumni

The Ruffin chapter of Phi Alpha Delta, national law fraternity, entertained returning alumni and guests at a dinner at Turner's in Durham last Saturday.

Alumni attending included Claude Harris of Kinston; Bill Talton of Oxford; John Crites of Siler City, and John Green of Charlotte.

Pinnings at the Sigma Nu house number three. Janet Francis of Washington, D. C. is the new pin-up of Elizabeth City. Janet attended Westhampton College in Richmond, Va. Wearing the white star of Sigma Nu Stanley Smith of Virginia Beach is Nancy Hunt of Cincinnati, Ohio. Nancy is a student at Highland College in Cincinnati. Bill Carr of Chapel Hill is pinned to Alice Haacker of Chicago, Ill. Alice attended Brenau College in Gainesville, Ga., where she was a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

The ADPI's will be the guests of the KA's for a party on Tuesday night.

Brothers of Sigma Chi and dates partied at the Carolina Club last night. On Tuesday night they will entertain the Chi Omega's for dinner and a party at the Club Sirloin.

Zeta Psi pinning this week is that of Eddie Grauss of Wilson to Mary Lou Bridgers of Salem College.

The Kappa Delta's will have coffee hour this afternoon for all the campus fraternities.

Willie Drummond of Amherst, Va. is the new pin-up of Delta Sig Bill Lassiter of Durham.

Next Wednesday the Chi Omega's will entertain campus fraternities with an informal coffee hour, following chapter meeting.

Alpha Gamma Delta President Bunny Judy now wears the AKPsi of Bill York, both are from Boone. Alpha Gam Grevilda Snider of Denton is pinned to Sigma Chi Bruce Tembley of Lafayette College in Penn. Visitors at the chapter house last weekend included Mrs. Alec Heath, vice-president of their province, and the chapter's '51 president Ann Birmingham.

Thursday night the Tri-Delts were guests of the Phi Delta's for dinner at the chapter house and a party in Durham.

Mademoiselle Features NSA

"Mademoiselle" may not be a man's magazine, but there is one article in the current November issue which should have campus-wide appeal.

The topic of the feature is the National Students Association, concerning its fourth annual conference which was held this August in Minneapolis, Minn.

"Mademoiselle" points out that although NSA is only four years old it has already attained a seat on UNESCO's national commission. Dick Murphy, University student, was elected this summer to serve on the UNESCO commission.

The article clears up some of the questions on the purpose and activities of NSA, and explains what it can and does accomplish.

Carolina's delegates to the NSA conference this summer were Dick Murphy, Mel Strubling, Joyce Evans, Henry Bowers Barry Farber, and Lacy Thornberk.

TEP Pledge Officers Named

Pledges of the Omega chapter of Tau Epsilon Phi have elected Gary Levinson of Gastonia as their president.

Other pledge officers are Vice-President Don Goldstein, Norfolk, Secretary-Treasurer Jack Edwards, Miami Beach, Fla., and Chaplain Sonny Kaplin of Durham.

Chairmen of the social committee are Charles Friedman of Baltimore, Md., and Louis Levine of Hamlet. Heading the athletic committee are Buddy Meyer of Richmond, Va., and Bob Rosenbacher of Winston-Salem.
