The Rev. T. M. Hesburgh

Notre Dame's Vice-Prexy To Visit Here

The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C. S. C., executive vice-president and head of the Department of Religion of the University of Notre Dame will deliver a sermon in Hill Hall Sunday night, at 8:30 o'clock. His subject will be "The True Meaning of Peace."

Father Hesburgh's address is being sponsored by the University Sermons Committee of the YWCA. Music will be furnished by the combined Glee Clubs of the University.

A native of Syracuse, N. Y., Father Hesburgh received the bachelor of philosophy degree at the Gregorian University in Rome, Italy, in 1939; the S. T. L. degree at the Catholic University of America in 1944, and the doctor of sacred theology at Catholic University in 1945. He was ordained to the Catholic priesthood in 1943 in Sacred Heart Church at the University of Notre Dame where he has taught religion since 1945.

During World War II, Father Hesburgh served as Auxiliary Army Chaplain at Fort Myer, Va., and from 1943 to 1945 was chaplain at the Federal Reform School in Washington, D. C.

He was named head of the Department of Religion at Notre Dame in 1948 and has been executive vice-president since 1949. His duties as executive vice-president include the chairmanship of the Board in Control of Athletics.

In his teaching Father Hesburgh has specialized in the fields of Christian marriage, Catholic action, and Catholic theology in the modern period of the Church. His books include "Theology of Catholic Action," "God and the World of Man," two volumes of Dogma Notes, and a series of 23 contact booklets during the war. He is a member of the National Council on Marriage and the Family.

Heavens Will Be Lighted By Rally Bonfire Tonight

Fire will be the general order of the night as students rally round a huge bonfire on Intramural Field shortly after 7:30 tonight to get pepped up for the Notre Dame game tomorrow.

Because of the bad weather of the last few days, the scheduled torchlight parade preceding the bonfire will not be held. Duffield Smith, University Club president, said last night. Instead, the rally will start in front of Woollen Gym. South Building bells will ring shortly before the rally starts.

Concerning Snavelly

Ed Bilpuch played defensive end for the UNC football team for several years under Carl Snavelly. He is now a Morehead Scholar, doing graduate work in Physics. —Editor

In view of the widespread comments concerning Coach Snavelly and members of the coaching staff and the football squad of 1951, there are a few personal observations to be made.

First: In four short years after the end of the war, Coach Snavelly produced teams which won two Southern Conference championships and participated in three post-season bowl games. The enthusiasm and popular approval accorded him at that time was unprecedented in the history of University of North Carolina athletics.

Second: As a result of the success of the team in recent years, the schedule has become increasingly difficult, culminating in a series of games for the current year which would challenge the best team in the country.

Third: Throughout the entire period of post-war big-time football at Chapel Hill, the coaching has been of a high quality. The same coaching which is now being criticized so unfairly in the press was heralded on all sides, as little as two years ago, for its finesse, its thoroughness, and its clever execution.

Fourth: The quality of the coaching has not changed materially. Rather, the source of our present difficulties may be traced to other factors.

1. Carolina, on the average, takes in less than half the number of freshmen who are prospective football players than do other colleges of comparable size and prominence in this and neighboring conferences. (For example: In 1950, one university in this area took in over 90 boys, and we took in 28.) In 1951, this same university took in 90 players, we took in 20!

2. High scholastic standards account, in large part, for the small number of players admitted. A player must meet all requirements for admission and must maintain a "C" average to be eligible for play. (Many of the outstanding players on the teams of the opposition this year were refused admission here due to inability to meet scholastic requirements.)

3. Injuries whittle down the small number of players and serve to cripple any attack which the coaching staff might work out. For example: Bob White, slated to see a lot of action, was sidelined; Bill Kuhn, one of our best defensive tackles, has been playing with the handicap of an injured shoulder; Doug Bruton, who was one of our best line-backers, has been sidelined with a broken arm; Chal Port, a very good defensive halfback, missed five weeks of practice at the beginning of the season due to appendicitis; Bud Carson has been playing with a sprained ankle, a very bad handicap for a safety man. There are others also on the injured list.

4. These injuries together with the lack of depth on the squad, have made it necessary to experiment in an effort to get a workable combination. (Thus, in the Virginia game, of the 32 men who played, 10 were freshmen, and 10 were sophomores.)

5. While the boys have outstanding records behind them, most of them have not yet gained enough experience to play on even terms with the best teams in the country.

Carl Snavelly is the same person today as he was five years ago. His coaching today is as good as it was in 1948 when Carolina did not drop a regular game and went to the Sugar Bowl. He is a firm teacher when you are on the squad. He is your friend when you need him. He has given much of his time and effort in aiding members of the squad, from the first string to the fourth, in finding jobs when they left Chapel Hill. He is the exponent of a great sport, and he needs only a little time and cooperation in rebuilding a great team.

It is not in keeping with sportsmanship, either on or off the field, to kick a man when he is down.—

Edward G. Bilpuch

Fifteen Girls Are Chosen For Contest

Fifteen lovely coeds are now anxiously awaiting tomorrow night's Coronation Ball in Woollen Gym as the result of last night's Yack Beauty Queen contest in Memorial Hall before nearly 1000 students, almost entirely males.

Those chosen and their sponsors were:

Betty Lou Worthington, Kappa Sigma; Frankie Strosnider, Phi Delta Theta; Beverly Chalk, Alderman; Beth Lloyd, Alpha Tau Omega; Virginia Wilson, Beta Theta Pi; Ann Dover, Kappa Alpha; Carman Nahm, Kappa Alpha; Betty Bowles, Kappa Sigma; Joan Kurash, McIver; Kacky Hester, Phi Delta Theta; Sally Trowbridge, Sigma Nu; Geraldine Snider, Smith; Katherine Armistead, Delta Psi; Anne Van Kirk, Zeta Psi and Peggy Fox, Phi Kappa Sigma.

Judges were James Street, author, Harry Davis of the dramatic arts department (replacing William Meade Prince who died last week), and Foster Fitzsimons, also of the dramatic arts department.

The judges first picked 30 contestants out of 62 entrants and then chose the 15. Miss Snider, who was late because of a chemistry test was judged in the second round. Norman Cordon, former Metropolitan Opera star, was master of ceremonies.

The Yack contest was the first such "live competition" for the yearbook's beauty section. Formerly, photographs of entries have been sent to Hollywood experts for selection.

Editor Sue Lindsay had instructed the judges to choose "strictly on beauty" using their own criterion as a guide.

Band, Cardboard To Honor Irish

For the first time the cardboard section and band will be combined to present a half time salute to the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame.

The band will march on the field and form a gigantic television set using the cardboard

Solons Endorse IFC's Position Against Hazing

The Student Legislature endorsed the Interfraternity Council's hazing law last night.

The legislature's endorsement came in a reworked version of the original hazing bill introduced by Ben James. The James bill, which was credited by IFC spokesmen with touching off the hazing squabble, was changed by its author into a commendation of the IFC's action. The original bill, calling for an immediate end to hazing, was tabled until the IFC took action.

The James bill was further changed by a substitute motion by Bob Gorham, UP. Gorham's motion, in the words of one legislator, was "simply a watered-down version of James' bill."

The bill introduced last week by Sheldon Plager, UP, providing for public trials in the student courts was delayed in committee . . . not enough members of the Legislature's Ways and Means Committee showed up for the committee's meeting to report on the bill. The Ways and Means Committee, which has to report on the prospective measure before it can be acted on by the legislators, cannot act unless a quorum of its members is present at the meeting.

Those absent from the Ways and Means committee meeting were Paul Barnes, Jim Thorp, Dick Pillsbury, Julian Mason, Henry Lowett, and John Bushall.

A bill introduced last week by Bob Pace, SP, calling for a change in voting districts was left in committee. The bill would establish separate districts for town men and fraternities. The bill would place all fraternities in Chapel Hill in one district, and also set up one district for town men. The bill would do the same in respect to sororities and town women, creating separate districts for each.

This bill was termed by several UP legislators as "ridiculous". Pace, however, expressed confidence last night that the bill would pass.

Queen Named Tonight

The "Beat Dook" float parade queen and six attendants will be chosen out of a field of 27 entries tonight after a banquet for the contestants and their escorts at the Pi Kappa Alpha house.

Mrs. Gordon Gray, Dean E. L. Mackie, and Colonel Jesse J. Moorhead, commander of the Air Force ROTC here, will judge. The queen and her court will be presented Tuesday as they ride on the "Royal Float" in the parade which starts at 3 o'clock.

Candidates and their sponsors are: Grace Gordon, Alderman; Julia Steed, Alpha Delta Pi; Callista Pope, Alpha Gamma Delta; Carmen Nahm, Alpha Tau Omega; Sue Carter, Air Force ROTC; Lou Ann Restrepo, Chi Omega; Beth Lloyd, Chi Psi; Ginny Polk, Delta Delta Delta; Frankie Strosnider, Delta Kappa Epsilon; Kit Armistead, Delta Psi; Barbara Arnold, Joyner; Anne Dover, Kappa Alpha; Gwen Gore, Kappa Delta; Betty Lou Worthington, Kappa Sigma; Jacque Quesenbery, Lambda Chi Alpha; Esther Morledge, Mangum; Carmen Oastler, McIver; Beverly Lively, Old West; Nancy Baird, Phi Delta Theta; Carolyn Murray, Phi Gamma Delta; Bish Fox, Pi Beta Phi; Ann Van Kirk, Sigma Chi; Peggy Fox, Sigma Nu; Marilyn Habel, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Martha McGuirk, Spencer; Nancy Richards, Stacy; and Rosalind Isom, Lewis.

Judges for the float parade will be Chancellor R. B. House, Dean of Women R. H. Wettach, William Friday, assistant to President Gray, and Foster Fitzsimons, author, and E. Carrington Smith, manager of the Carolina Theatre.
