

Abolishment Of Commerce School Asked

A bill to abolish the commerce school and make the space occupied by this school available to the remaining departments of the University will be debated by the Di Senate at its meeting tonight on the third floor of New West building at 8 p.m.

The commerce school, according to the bill, has "virtually eliminated all courses except those pertaining to commerce."

Except in business colleges and engineering schools, it is further claimed, "a good education is considered to be a general one including courses in many fields," and the University "is neither a business college nor an engineering school."

"The departments of this university other than the commerce school need additional space for expansion," it is added.

Playmakers Set Tryouts

Tryouts for the Playmakers second student production of the season will be held at the theatre on Tuesday, November 20th, at 4 o'clock. All students, faculty and their wives, and Chapel Hillians are eligible to audition.

A bill of three one-act plays will be produced on December 6th and 7th, and as usual, there are a wide variety of excellent character roles to be cast. The plays are not yet selected, but they will be scripts written by students in the playwriting courses here. The corps of three directors are chosen from graduate students in the dramatic art department.

So the obvious solution, accord-

Peace Must First Enter Man's Heart: Hesburgh

"Before peace can come to this earth, it must come first to the hearts of the men and women who people this earth," The Reverend Theodore M. Hesburgh, executive vice-president and head of the religion department of Notre Dame University, told a congregation in Hill Hall Sunday night as he spoke on "The True Meaning of Peace."

In his first trip to North Carolina, Rev. Hesburgh, who is also chairman of the Board in Control of Athletics at the South Bend school, was speaking under the sponsorship of the University Sermons Committee of the YWCA.

"There has never been a time in the world when peace was so strongly sought and still so precarious. Atom bombs do not discriminate against Northerners or Southerners, Protestants or Catholics, white or colored," he said.

But the Catholic priest added, "There is a sure way to the most important kind of peace, inward peace. If you are not inwardly at peace there is something wrong inside, and you must try to do something about it. It must be individually achieved."

Father Hesburgh stressed that ing to the bill, is to eliminate the commerce school as part of the University's education facilities and give the space thereby made available to the remaining departments of the University.

before political peace can be a reality, the people of the earth must find this inward peace.

"The glory of God and peace of the soul are gained together by men of good will—and they are lost together by men of ill will," he exclaimed.

The combined Glee Clubs of the University furnished special music for the service by rendering "Alla Trinta" and "Onward Ye People."

Grad School Has Large Enrollment

The Graduate School has one of the largest enrollments in its history—around 1,000 students. The enrollment is double the pre-war figure. Several years ago Dr. Edwin Mims, distinguished Southern scholar and writer of Vanderbilt University, made the significant statement that "taken all in all, the University of North Carolina now has a better academic faculty and a better School than any other institution in the South. I doubt if there is any faculty in the country that, in proportion to numbers, is doing more genuinely scholarly work. Everybody has written a book or an article or a monograph, or is reading proof on one, or collecting notes for one."

On Carolina's basketball schedule for 1951-52 are games with Bradley University, Illinois and Southern California.

Rubashov To Star Here

"One of the finest all-around casts ever assembled for any Playmaker show." That's what Director Kai Jurgensen has to say for his cast of 26, who will give six evening performances of Sidney Kingsley's vivid three-act drama of Russian political terrorism, "Darkness At Noon," at the Carolina Playmakers theatre.

The production dates are Tuesday through Sunday evenings, November 27-December 2nd, at 8:30. Tickets are on sale in Swain Hall and Ledbetter-Pickard's.

Fred Young will play the leading role of N. S. Rubashov, a former member of the Soviet Central Committee and General of the Red Army, now imprisoned for opposing Stalin's dictatorship. Young is a veteran of some 15 Playmaker productions and is considered one of the most versatile actors developed here in recent years.

Rubashov's clandestine sweetheart, lovely and voluptuous Luba Loshenko, is portrayed by Anne Edwards. She will be making her debut on the local stage, although she has accumulated much previous experience with the Alcazar Theatre, Baltimore, the Parkway Playhouse, Burnsville, and the Women's College Play-Likers.

Robert Thomas will handle the difficult role of Gletkin, brutal and stupid state prosecutor who interrogates Rubashov.
