

Duke Whips Carolina, 19-7 For Eighth Tar Heel Loss

By Zane Robbins

The Big Boy Blues of Duke University applied the finishing touches to an already-miserable season for the Carolina footballers Saturday afternoon at Duke Stadium by handing them a 19-7 licking.

The Tar Heels closed out the 1951 campaign with an unimpressive 2-8 record, the worst since 1944's 1-8 mark.

Duke took an early lead when James (Red) Smith bulled one yard over right tackle for a six-pointer after seven minutes and 15 seconds had elapsed in the first period. Smith had set up the touchdown one play earlier when he had taken a pitch out from Quarterback Jerry Barger and scooted 39 yards around his own left end, going all the way to the Carolina one-yard line where he was chased out of bounds.

Carolina got the ball on the Duke 44 early in the second period and drove all the way to the 10-yard line on five plays. Then, after picking up a first down, a buck lateral play backfired and Carl Holben plopped on the ball for the Blue Devils to squelch the drive.

The Blue Dukes managed to cling to their 6-0 lead throughout the first half but the fired-up Tar Heels came back with blood in their eyes after intermission.

After Larry (Peanut) Parker had engineered an early drive that gave out of gas at midfield, the fine punting of Bud Wallace put the merry men of Murray in a hole deep in their own territory and Carolina got the ball on the Blue Devil 44 after Glenn Wild had punted out on second down.

Then the Tar Heels struck suddenly. After Bob White had picked up 12 yards at center, Connie Gravitte passed to Tom Adler for a first down on the Duke 21. Then Gravitte picked out Bud Wallace on the Duke 10 and dropped a perfect pass into the arms of the huge end. Wallace shook off Halfback Worth Lutz at the eight and hot-footed it into the end zone.

Abie Williams' kick from placement was perfect—his 16th conversion in 17 tries—and the Carolinians led, 7-6.

Determined Duke was not to be denied, however. After taking the ensuing kick-off, the Blue Devils marched 63 yards in 14 plays to go ahead, 13-7.

The Blues added their final tally in the last quarter on another 68-yard drive that was climaxed by Piney Field's six-yard trip around left end. Ray Green missed. (See FOOTBALL, Page 8)

Britt Leads Carolina JVs To 51-41 Win

The Carolina junior varsity football team uncovered something its varsity brothers have been lacking all season, a brilliant offense, and the underclassmen romped to a 51-41 victory over Duke's jayvee on Thanksgiving Day.

Some 6,000 fans sprinkled massive Duke Memorial Stadium to witness the annual Turkey Day contest. They saw the highest scoring game in the history of Duke Stadium, and a fourth quarter that was straight from the movies. 54 points were scored in the last period which saw Carolina go in with a safe 31-7 lead, and then have to battle for their very lives before a tremendous Duke surge.

Louis Britt, sophomore, Tar Baby tailback from Glen Cove, New York, tallied three times, and Maurice Young, a junior from Bellefonte, Pa. scored twice.

The game's big star was Duke freshman Charlie Niven, a 160 pounder from Wilmington, who scored four touchdowns for the Blue Imps, three times in the last quarter. It was the long runs by Niven that kept Duke in the ball game.

Score by periods:
Carolina	12	13	6	20-51
Duke	0	7	0	34-41
Touchdowns: Duke—Niven 4, Mozingo, Eller. Carolina—Britt 3, Young 2, Liberati, Medlin, Motta. Points after touchdown: Duke Sebastian, 5. Carolina—Marcinko 2.

Foy Makes All South

Inside right Eddie Foy has been elected to the All South soccer team and will play with the Southern squad in the annual North-South soccer game in Philadelphia on Dec. 8.

The Tar Heel senior has played excellent soccer for the three years and was elected co-captain this past season by his teammates.

UNC Cagers Open With Citadel Dec. 1

With the season's opener against the Citadel only two weeks away, Coach Tom Scott's Carolina basketball team is in its final stage of preparation.

The Tar Heels miss the services of Co-Captains Hugo Kappler, a former All-Southern Conference star, and Charlie Thorne from the first team. Many seasoned reserves are also missing from early drills.

However, the Tar Heels will floor one of the fastest and tallest teams here in recent years. Only one senior, Captain Howard Deasy, is in the starting five.

Teamming with the lanky guard are forwards Bud Maddie and Jack Wallace, guard Vince Grimaldo and center Paul Likens. Maddie, Wallace and Grimaldi are rising juniors, while Likens is a freshman from Elkhart, Ind.

The tentative starting five averages six feet, five inches in height, with young Likens, an All-State high school star four inches taller, Wallace, Grimaldi, Maddie are the fastest Tar Heels.
