

Yule Feature Opening Set For Today

"The Star of Bethlehem," the third annual Christmas program of the Morehead Planetarium, will open tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

Each previous year this presentation has attracted huge crowds with its combined religious, scientific, and historical contribution to the spirit of the Christmas season.

This year many additions and revisions in the manner of presentation will provide greater enjoyment for those who attend.

Performances are at 8:30 each evening, Saturday afternoons at 3 and 4 o'clock, Sunday afternoons at 2, 3, and 4 o'clock.

If necessary, additional showings will be arranged for groups of 125, or more, who make advance reservations.

"Those who come in the opening week of the demonstration will find less crowded conditions than will prevail later," Manager

Phi Beta Banquet Fall Pledging Set

Fall initiations for Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic fraternity, will be staged in Gerard hall at 5 p.m. Wednesday, December 5.

Following the initiation, a banquet celebrating the 175 anniversary of the fraternity's founding at William and Mary College will be held in the Carolina Inn.

Members desiring to attend the banquet have been requested to contact Mrs. Helen P. Moses (Phone 5781), chairman, not later than Thursday, November 29, to make their reservation.

Ex-Math Society President Will Be Visiting Prof Here

Dr. Arthur Byron Coble, former head of the University of Illinois math department and former president of the American Mathematical Society, will be visiting professor of mathematics on the UNC campus during the coming winter and spring quarters, it was announced today by Chancellor Robert B. House and Dr. William M. Whyburn, head of the department here.

Dr. Coble will serve as temporary replacement for two University mathematics professors now on leave of absence, Dr. E. A. Cameron and Dr. I. R. Hershner, Jr. He will teach courses in complex variable theory and conformal mapping and also new courses in algebraic geometry. He is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, past president of the Mathematical Society and past president and chairman of Section A of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

A native of Williamston, Pa., Dr. Coble, who is now professor emeritus of mathematics in the University of Illinois, took his A.B. degree at Pennsylvania College and his A.M. and Ph.D. degrees from Johns Hopkins University.

A. F. Jenzano said today. "Visitors are urged to attend during the week, if possible, to relieve the pressure of the expected week-end crowds."
