Zetes Cop Greek Week Meet As Actives Snub Field Day

Although their soon-to-be fraternity brothers failed to show up as spectators, more than 140 pledges participated in yesterday's Greek Week field day as Zeta Psi captured first place. Sigma Chi was second.

Run on Navy field, the meet was a carry over from Tuesday after rain forced a postponement. There were only about 30 people to watch, did not bother the competing pledges. The 25 participating teams from 20 groups (some fraternities had two) went spiritedly through the five scheduled events: the up-down, shuttle dash, jump stick, obstacle race, and tug of war.

Because the meet ran longer than expected, officials canceled the runoff slated among the top five, and instead named the winners in the order of total points won. The five totals were Zeta Psi, 25; Sigma Chi, 23½; Beta Theta Pi, 21½; Lambda Chi Alpha, and Kappa Alpha, 19.

The first place Zetes will be presented a trophy tonight at the Lenoir hall banquet at 7:30 concluding Greek Week activities. Also to be presented is a trophy for the stunt night held Monday in Memorial hall. The winner of this trophy will not be announced until tonight.

Bob Pace Files For Presidency, Is Test Of Election Statute

"This is a test case . . . I do not presently have a C average . . ."

Robert Pace grinned and ran a pencil through his light brown hair.

"I am going to file a petition with the Elections Board for the presidency of the student body," he said. "I will not have my academic standing checked by the dean's office because I feel that it (the academic eligibility provision for office holding) is an unconstitutional and undemocratic requirement."

Council Met Tuesday

Pace first contested the constitutionality of the elections law provisions last week. The Student Council met Tuesday night to discuss the issue, but will not be prepared to make a ruling until after tonight's deadline for spring election petitions.

"I contend that a legislative body does not have the right to add to constitutional requirements for office holding," Pace asserted yesterday, explaining his decision to contest the elections law.

Will Petition Today

He said he would present his petition to the Elections Board sometime today. "I don't know what the board will do," he laughed.

He indicated, however, that he would carry his appeal to the faculty if necessary.

When questioned, Pace said he would remain in the presidential race if his contention is upheld.

The elections law provision which Pace is contesting disqualifies all students from office holding who have not passed "a minimum of forty hours in three quarters immediately prior to that quarter in which he is nominated." An overall "C" average is also necessary.

Pace says he has talked with Claude L. Love, assistant attorney general of North Carolina, who believes the provisions to be unconstitutional.

To allow such provisions to go unchallenged is a danger to student government if student government is to be democratic, Pace contends.

Not SP Split

His decision to attempt to enter the presidential campaign does not represent a split with the Student Party, of which he is a member, Pace said. "I feel that the SP, in general, has a slate of candidates who are as capable individuals as can be found on this campus. I have nothing to say against either of the presidential candidates," he added.

"I feel, however, that for an independent candidate to be president of the student body might be good for student government."

"That's all I have to say, I reckon," Pace concluded. A junior from Morrisville, Pace is a member of the Student Legislature, the YMCA cabinet, the Carolina Forum, and the Phi Assembly.

17 Tickets Cost Him $25

Seventeen unpaid parking tickets caught up with Aaron L. Capel in Tuesday's session of Chapel Hill Recorder's court.

Capel, a student from Troy, N.C., was fined $25 and court costs.

Illegal possession of whisky, public drunkenness, speeding and improper state license plates cost four other Carolina students.

Students on the docket: Dean E. Howard, Chapel Hill, improper state license plates; court costs.

James Thad Wright, Chapel Hill, illegal possession of whisky; court costs.

Henry Harris Shavitz, High Point, speeding; $5 fine and court costs.

Thomas Clark, Wilmington, public drunkenness; $5 fine and court costs.

Deadline Is Today

Independent candidates in spring elections April 9 have until 11 o'clock tonight to file their petitions with the Elections board.

The petitions may be submitted to Chairman Erlene Griffin in Spencer dormitory, Lew Southern, room 216 Alexander dormitory, or turned into the student government offices in Graham Memorial.

Miss Griffin said a mass meeting of all candidates, party chairmen, and students interested in tending polls will be held in Memorial hall next Monday at 7 p.m.

She also issued a reminder that posters must not be attached to woodwork.

Nor may posters be torn down. Destruction of posters is an Honor Code offense.

18 Are Endorsed For Councils

Eighteen candidates have been endorsed by the Bi-Partisan Selection board for seats on the Men's and Women's Honor councils, Secretary Frank Daniels said yesterday.

They will compete in the April 9 election. Persons not endorsed by the board will be eligible to run upon submitting a petition to the Elections board by 11 o'clock tonight.

Picked to vie for the sophomore seat on the Men's Council were John Cransol, George McLeod, Don Gladstone and Pet Smitherman for the junior seat, Bill Walker and Fred Dale, and for the three senior seats, Barry Kalb, and Ken Anderson.

Kalb and Anderson were the only two persons to appear for the senior seats, and no one appeared for the graduate and pharmacy seats.

Six students were passed by the board for the three Women's Council senior seats. They were Jody Levey, Joan Mernbery, Kitty Barton, Pat Azdlett, Mary Lilla Brown and Beverly Lively. Endorsed for the two six-month junior seats were Ross Young and Marilyn Habel, and for the one at-large chair Jane Sneed and Isabel Barksdale.

No graduate students appeared before the board for the one graduate seat.

FEPC Topic Of Intramural Debate Here

Any student not a member of the varsity debate team is eligible to participate in the second annual intramural debate April 10-12, Chairman Bruce Marger said yesterday.

He reminded students entries must be in by next Friday, April 4. They may be turned in either to Marger or Dick Jaffee at the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity house.

Topic for the debate is, Resolved: "That the federal government should adopt permanent fair employment practices (FEPC) legislation." The debate is being sponsored by the Debate society.

Individual as well as team awards will be made, Marger said. Lewis dormitory won the group cup, a rotating award, last year.

Marger said judging will be on the basis of context and delivery. He said prospective members for next year's debate team will be screened out.

Class Rings

Today is the last day seniors may place orders for their class rings if they are to receive them by graduation time, Grail Ring Chairman Al House said yesterday.

Juniors and seniors may place orders in the Y lobby from 2 to 4:30 p.m. and expect delivery in eight to 10 weeks.

However, the Grail will continue to take orders for the remainder of the quarter on alternate Thursdays.

Federalists Unite Here

A campus group of Student World Federalists was organized at a luncheon meeting yesterday and John S. Spong, Charlotte, elected president. Vallin D. Estes, Jr., Raleigh, was named secretary.

James Roberts, past international chairman of the Student World Federalists, spoke to the local group outlining the organization's aims. He said by working through the United Nations and strengthening it, the federalists hope to reach their goal; to form a world union in which an international government would have powers to preserve peace.

The federalists in the United States have more than 100,000 members, according to Roberts.

Rossman To Address Students Tomorrow

Parker Rossman, National Director of student work for the Disciples of Christ and former associate secretary of the United Student Christian Council, will speak here at a luncheon tomorrow.

The luncheon, arranged by the YW and YMCA will be in Lenoir hall at 12:30. All students interested in campus religious work are invited.

Rossman also will be available for private interviews with students. Those wishing to talk with him should contact John Riebel at the YMCA.

JACK OWEN, president of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, is shown with Mrs. Kay Kyser (Georgia Carroll) examining articles in the local Thrift shop. Similar items will be collected in today's campus wide used article drive and donated to the Art guild for the furtherance of art in the local public schools.

Old Clothes Drive Today; IFC Project To Benefit Town

A campus-wide collection of old clothing and other articles which may be sold will be held today and tomorrow under the auspices of the Interfraternity council.

Dormitory residents have been requested to place any such articles outside their doors for collection today. Proceeds from the drive will be used for the furtherance of art in the Chapel Hill public schools.

The items collected will be turned over to the local art guild for sale in its thrift shop, across the street from the bus station. Funds raised will be used to sponsor an instructor in art for the local schools.

The Interfraternity council voted to help with the campaign at its meeting this week after Mrs. Kay Kyser (Georgia Carroll), vice-chairman of the guild, talked to the group.

The drive will be conducted as a project of Greek Week which is now in progress here. It will be managed by Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, Jack Owen, president.

Fraternity pledges will solicit clothing in the dorms, and IFC members will be responsible for the collection of fraternity donations.
