

WADE ON WARD

Read Jake Wade's Carolina Caravan for an intimate view of Harvie Ward, former UNC golf great, and recent winner of the British amateur championship.

The Tar Heel

BOOK X, IKE

See page two for comment on the new Book X policies. You'll also find an article on General Eisenhower as a politician.

VOL. XX, NO. 1

THURSDAY, JUNE 12, 1952 CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

TWELVE PAGES TODAY

Book X Profits To Go For Grants-In-Aid Fund; New Committee Set Up

Book Exchange profits which hit a peak of $96,943 in 1947 and amounted to $58,519 last year, will go towards grants-in-aid to students selected for character, citizenship, leadership, and normal academic ability, the Board of Trustees decided in their last meeting here.

Acting on the recommendations of a committee headed by Lt. Gov. H. Patrick Taylor, the board also legislated to abolish the 10 per cent rebate given on cash purchases of new texts here and established a committee of students and faculty, to meet with Business Manager Claude Teague and store manager H. R. Ritchie monthly. The committee will discuss complaints, criticisms, and suggestions with the administration.

The trustee committee was appointed last February by Governor Kerr Scott after State College students had asked for supply store profits to be used for recreational and cultural activities as well as for grants-in-aid. Consolidated University Vice-president William D. Carmichael had recommended a committee be appointed to investigate the entire student store situation on the three campuses.

Students here had asked that some of the profits be used for dorm social rooms and recreational activities besides using the funds for scholarship purposes.

The new policies extend to all three campuses. State College supply stores, the Scuttlebutt, and the Circus Room store in the Monogram Club operate under trust funds now. The committee reported to the board that the discontinuance of the rebate system might be unpopular with students, but hoped students would be satisfied with the new arrangements giving all profits to grants-in-aid. All students are eligible to apply.

In the administration of the grants-in-aid program, the regular Committee on Scholarships and Grants - in - Aid will serve. The committee consists of faculty and staff members appointed by the chancellor.

Book X manager Ritchie described the new program as a "decided improvement." "It will make for better relations between supply stores," Ritchie was commended by the committee for "effective operation" of the Book Exchange system. He was recently elected president of the National Association of University and College Book Store Managers.

Hartung Talks

Dr. Walter H. Hartung, Professor of Pharmaceutical Chemistry at the University of North Carolina, will lecture and lead discussions at a Teachers' Seminar on Pharmaceutical Chemistry during the week beginning July 7 at the University of Michigan.

"Teaching the Chemistry of Synthetic Organic Medicinal Products," will be Dr. Hartung's topic. At least 150 faculty members from colleges of pharmacy throughout the nation will attend the meetings.

YMCA Meet For Summer Plans Set

Paul Sommerville, temporary chairman of the Summer Activities Council, has called a meeting of all students interested in helping to plan and carry out summer activities. The group will meet tomorrow night in the YMCA at 7:30.

The summer activities council represents the combined efforts of most of the organizations on campus who are concerned with student activities. The council will be composed of all students who are interested in such varied activities as Square Dances, Supper Forums, Student - Faculty hours, Talent Shows, Athletics, Social Services, Vespers, The Water Mellon Festival, Foreign Student Activities, Outings and similar activities.

The summer program will be made up of all these activities in which students show an interest. Among the organizations which are in this overall activities program as the Y.M.C.A., the Y.W.C.A., Graham Memorial Student Union, Social Committees and a number of other organizations. It is hoped that summer activity will hit a new high through the efforts of the students working together in these various fields and projects to bring about enjoyable activities.

Guy B. Phillips Directs Work For 16th Summer School Year

by Walt Dear

The guiding force responsible for a good chunk of the success of the Summer School has been the leadership of Dean Guy B. Phillips, dean of the School of Education and director of the Summer School.

Phillips came to Carolina in 1936 with years of public school teaching and administering experience behind him. Previously he was superintendent of schools in Greensboro. Because of his wide acquaintance with teachers in the State and their problems, he was chosen director of the summer edition of the University. About half of all summer school directors have been deans of education.

During his tenure, enrollments have been as low as 1700 in 1938 and as high as 4600 in 1947. The number of freshmen has reached 500.

Academic acceleration by students during World War II expanded the school's program greatly on the undergraduate level. In 1948 the Board of Trustees made the summer session the fourth quarter.

Two main objects are sought in offering summer studies, Phillips points out. "The school provides a wide range of offerings for professional teachers and allows un-

JUST PLAIN COOL is this pert, sprightly Miami, Florida gal, enjoying the ocean breeze and spray. While we sweat, she suns. Incidentally, that's a sea gull's perch she's standing on. You might say that's a rather delectable peach on the perch.

You're Wanted!

If you can write like you talk, if you've had experience or haven't had any but you're interested, drop by The Tar Heel offices, second floor, Graham Memorial, today for a staff meeting at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Opportunities to learn the newspaper business from start to finish—in advertising, news, sports, society, and editorial fields are yours. If you have passed that stage, there are executive positions open.

You're wanted! It's your paper.

GUY B. PHILLIPS

dergraduate or graduate students to speed up their program. We try to carry on the major functions of a University in the summer," he said.

Phillips graduated from here in 1913, completed work for his M.A. at Columbia in 1924, and did special graduate work at the University of Chicago later. Last week he was awarded the honorary degree of doctor of literature by High Point College.

Mercury 'Charlestons' As Lines Snake Dance In Heat At Woollen

by Rosemary Boney

School Week Slated Here June 16-19

All presons connected with the public schools of the State, including parents and members of school boards, are invited to participate in North Carolina School Week to be held here June 16-19, Dean Guy B. Phillips announced yesterday.

Sessions will open Monday night, June 16, in the Forest Theatre, with President Gordon Gray and Chancellor Robert B. House slated to speak. Dean Phillips will preside. This will be followed by a reception in the Monogram Club. Others slated to speak during the conference are Clyde A. Milner, President of Guilford College and Superintendent Kenneth McFarland of Topeka, Kansas, educational director of the American Trucking Associations, Inc.

Registration and headquarters will be in the new Cobb dormitory, located next to the Monogram Club.

Folk Festival Opens Here Tonight At 8

The Carolina Folklore Festival, the first major event of the summer, opens tonight at 8 o'clock and continues through Saturday night.

The fifth annual affair of its kind, the Festival will feature 700 participants in traditional American music, dancing and balladry in the form of square dancers, clog dancers, folk singing and string bands. Sponsored by the University Folklore Council, the three-day festivity is under the direction of the celebrated folklorist, Bascom Lamar Lunsford from South Turkey Creek, Leicester, England.

Among the performers for each night is a group of 20 Scottish dancers from Fayetteville. They are to be here for the first time complete with bagpipes and kilts.

Another highlight of the three evenings will be the long-time favorite George Pegram, the banjo-picking wizard from Iredell County, along with Paul Jones, another banjoist and ballad singer of Wilkes County. Jones is soon to record for the library of Congress.

Also on the program is Victoria Kengsley, an internationally known English concert guitarist. She has toured South America, Europe, and the Far East as well as the United States, and has been acclaimed by the Argentine press as an "ambassador for mutual good feeling and understanding."

With the temperature topping 95 degrees, approximately 85 freshmen and 750 vets, and an as yet undetermined number of upper-classmen, teachers, and grads sweated through the registration lines Tuesday. These estimated figures indicate a good sized drop in last year's total of 3,548 when freshmen alone numbered 200.

The first term runs to July 15, with classes scheduled on three Saturdays. No student may enroll for credit after Friday, June 13.

A special program for entering freshmen has been arranged, enabling them to complete a full quarter of work during the two summer terms.

Due to the illness of Dr. Hedgepath, Infirmity Director, freshmen physicals will be conducted at a later date.

Regular undergraduate courses are being offered in all major fields, and a complete program of graduate work in the various schools and departments is also open. The regular master of arts degree and the new master of education degree, particularly designed for professional work in education, is being presented.

Approximately 300 administrative officers and faculty members, including 25 visiting professors, are conducting the summer work.

Miss Ruth Price, of the Department of Physical Education, will direct the recreational and social activities.

"A number of institutes in the various schools and departments, including the North Carolina School Week June 16-19, are scheduled," Dean Phillips, Director of Summer School, affirmed. He also called attention to the Special Education program in remedial work in reading.

Comments on registration were varied. A transfer from a small girl's college, remarked favorably on the amount of organization, politeness, and composure of the teachers involved, even claiming the dreaded ordeal to be proof that Carolina is the place to be. Innocently inquiring of the boy in line behind her if this was his first year at Carolina, she was smugly informed he had received his B.S. and M.A., and was at present working on his Ph.D.

Others were not so happy with the situation and voiced their opinions in unprintable terms. To them Carolina today was, in fact, "the HOTbed . . ." recently ascribed by a certain trustee.

The Tar Heel

For the first summer session, The Tar Heel will be published Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Tuesday's news deadlines are tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Advertising copy must be in by 2 o'clock.

Thursday news deadlines are Tuesday, 3 p.m., and advertising copy must be in by Monday, 2 p.m., for Thursday's publication.

Call 2-3361 if you have any news—sports and society included. Call 2-3371 for the business office and the editor's . . .

are invited.

(cents thereafter.

spend an evening.