

WIN-HUNGRY TAR HEELS TO FACE IRISH TODAY

NEWS IN BRIEF

AROUND THE NATION—Politically wise, everybody was calling everybody everything. There was no change in anything, just a few re-worked cliches.

WASHINGTON—The government is making secret attempts to settle the nationwide soft coal strike and prevent it from spreading to the anthracite fields. However, the United Mine Workers John L. Lewis said only the $1.90-a-day raise will settle the strike. The WSB has lopped 40 cents off the pay raise.

SEOUL—Terrier South Koreans and die-hard Chinese grappled in the dim recesses of caves and trenches yesterday for the shell-pocked northern tip of Sniper Ridge on the central Korean front. Twenty miles to the west, South Koreans and Chinese hugged opposite slopes of Iron Horse Mountain while thunderous artillery barrages from both sides churned the crest into a deadly no-man's-land.

MANILLA—Typhoon "Trix," the most destructive storm to hit the Philippine Islands in recent years, killed 415 and another 200 were reported missing. Weather experts said a new typhoon was forming 1,600 miles east southeast of the islands in the same area where "Trix" originated.

PUSAN—Nine prisoners of war were injured yesterday in a camp near here when they defied orders to form work details. The UN believed the prisoners balked because several of their leaders had been sent to another camp in a "routine transfer."

WASHINGTON—The government yesterday reported a drop in the cost of living for the first time in six months. The index declined two-tenths of one per cent between Aug. 15 and Sept. 15.

MIAMI—A hurricane packing winds of 165 miles per hour, a drastic jump over previous reports, hit a small island south of Cuba yesterday, heading northward and posing a dangerous threat to the Florida coast. There was a good chance that the main fury of the tropical blow would pass northward off the Florida coast, but bring gale winds to the land.

VASALIA, Calif.—Actress Susan Peters, whose fight against paralysis brought a living story of courage to Hollywood, lost her battle yesterday. The attractive 31-year-old star whose spinal cord damaged in a hunting accident seven years ago, died while visiting her brother here. Her death was attributed to complications arising from the 1945 accident.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—Some 20 countries joined the United States yesterday in sponsoring a United Nations resolution calling upon Communist China and North Korea to agree to a Korean truce providing for non-forcible repatriation of prisoners. Britain, Canada and most of the Allies in the Korean War aligned themselves with the Americans. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, originally scheduled to "open the whole book" on the Korean conflict at Thursday's session, made his speech yesterday afternoon. It lasted two hours and 39 minutes.

Eastern Students Will Lead Debate

Following a successful Cobb Dormitory discussion, Connor Dormitory yesterday slated its first in a series of YMCA sponsored discussions.

The topic in Connor Monday night at 10 p.m. will be "Kashmir and the Future of the Subcontinent."

Ohio Prof Will Address Math Meet

Prof. Henry B. Mann of the Department of Mathematics, Ohio State University, will be guest speaker before the Statistics Colloquium of the Department of Mathematical Statistics here next Friday at 4 p.m. and on Saturday at 10 a.m.

He will present the results of his recent research "On the estimation of parameters determining a stochastic process."

"The science of stochastic processes is a comparatively recent and rapidly growing branch of mathematical statistics, which has already found important applications in such diverse fields as insurance, economic times series, and research by physicists in cosmic radiation and random motions of minute particles," explained Dr. Harold Hotelling, head of the Department of Mathematical Statistics here.

All interested in statistical methods are invited to attend. The lectures will be held in room 206 Phillips Hall on the University campus.

Professor Mann was born in Vienna, Austria, in 1905 and received his doctorate from the University of Vienna in 1935. He left Austria as the Nazis entered it in 1938 and came to the United States, where he continued his researches in the theory of numbers.

In this field he succeeded in solving a centuries-old problem and received special recognition for this by the American Mathematical Society.

In 1939 he decided to go into mathematical statistics, and with the help of a grant from the Carnegie Corporation, worked for two years at Columbia University with Dr. Hotelling.

Dr. Mann taught in Barnard College, Columbia University, until he went to Ohio State University. He is the author of a book, "Analysis and Design of Experiments," and of many research articles in mathematical, statistical and economic journals. He has completed a new book on stochastic processes, to be published soon under the auspices of the National Bureau of Standards. During the war he was engaged in military research for the government.

Union Plans Get Approval Of Authority

"The Administration has gone to bat for the students in proposing a new Student Union to the State Advisory Budget Commission and the University Trustees," Ken Penegar said to members of the Coordination Council Thursday.

Twenty-five of the council members met in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial for their weekly meeting. Discussion centered around proposed plans for a new student union.

Penegar said interested students and the Administration have long seen need for a new, larger and more centrally located student activities center. It was decided that each organization head would retire to his group and encourage discussion of the new student union, its benefits and whether students would be willing to support its maintenance with additional fees.

Support of the new student union will be discussed in the ensuing weeks by the Student Legislature, Dialectic Senate and Philanthropic Assembly. Both student political parties have voiced active concern over the proposed new student union. It is hoped by the council that this support will be forthcoming in the next few weeks.

18 Delegates Selected For SSL Meeting

The selection board for choosing a delegation to represent the University at the State Student Legislature yesterday named 18 delegates and 8 alternates. The assembly will meet in the State Capitol in Raleigh Nov. 20-22.

Approximately 25 North Carolina colleges and universities take part in this inter-racial, mock, state assembly. It is patterned on the bicameral basis of the real legislature. UNC is entitled to three senators and 15 representatives.

The membership of the delegation is Bob Pace, Don Sherry, Ben James, Ken Barton, Ham Horton, Julian Mason, Gene Cook, Joel Fleishman, Dale Ryon, Wade Matthews, Henry Lowet, Charles Yarborough, David Reid, Kathy Holmes, John Faust, Nancy Horne, Al Bader and Lew Southern.

Alternates are Charles Hyatt, Wanda Philpott, Jack Stilwell, Max Ballinger, Jody Levy, Herb Cohn, Dayton Estes and Sol Cherry.

The first meeting of the entire delegation, including all alternates will be Wednesday at 9 o'clock in the Grail Room.

Scientific Art Book Given Group Here

How modern medical and pharmaceutical science can enrich the world of fine arts was shown yesterday when a unique addition was made to the University Art Department collections.

Director John Allcott, head of the Department of Art, was presented a leatherbound volume containing the 1950-51 Lederle Bulletins published by Lederle Laboratories Division of American Cyanamid Company.

The scientific journals are colorfully illustrated with what critics term "some of the finest examples of the graphic arts produced in this country."

For a number of years Lederle has won praise from doctors and art authorities alike for the outstanding use of art work in its publication. Color drawings of portions of the human body have been recognized as among the best ever done. The covers feature reproductions of art masterpieces, and there are numerous examples of high quality commercial art.

Two Meetings Slated Here Next Week

The regional meeting of the Association of Public School Systems, of which the University is a member, will hold its second meeting in Chapel Hill Monday and Tuesday.

At the same time representatives of the schools in this area participating in the Citizenship Education Project will begin a meeting to continue through next Friday.

Both organizations will meet in Peabody Building, home of the School of Education, and will work jointly during the two days. Local sponsor this year for the Citizenship Education Project (CEP) is the Wake County school system. The University is sponsoring the APSS conference.

APSS delegates will register from 8:30 to 10 a.m. Monday. After a brief joint session of the two organizations, APSS enrollees will dismiss to discussion groups from 10:30 to 12:30. Subject of the discussion will be "Changing Character of the Job of the School Board Member."

Leaders will be Dean Guy B. Phillips, Dan Drummond, Wilmer M. Jenkins, and others. The afternoon session will be for superintendents and board members and will be concerned with workshop developments. National APSS representative, Dr. Norton Beach, and Dr. Allan S. Hurlburt of the School of Education will be in charge.

Carolina Team Is Underdog By 19 Points

Struggling UNC Still Attempting To Get 'T' Going

By Biff Roberts

Daily Tar Heel Sports Editor
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 24—Victory-less Carolina, still seeking the solution to the split-T offense, meets inconsistent Notre Dame here tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 in one of the nation's top inter-sectional games of the day.

Already burdened by two defeats and the cancellation of two other games because of polio, the Tar Heels will be ranked 19-point underdogs when they run into the Fighting Irish at Notre Dame Stadium.

With their split-T offense having accounted for only two touchdowns so far this season, the Tar Heels will base their hopes on a strong defensive line—and a prayer that the offensive T will come to life.

The Irish in four games have compiled a two win, one loss, and a tie record. The only basis for comparing the two teams would be Texas, whom the Tar Heels lost to, 28-7, and whom Notre Dame beat, 14-3.

In the two games in which the Irish were favored they were beaten by Pittsburgh, 22-19, and tied by Pennsylvania, 7-7. The other victory came against Purdue where, as was the case in the Texas game, the Irish were underdogs, but came out on top, 26-14.

For the Tar Heels the road has been tougher. After bowing to (See FIGHTING, page 3)

61 Stations Carry Game

University football fans will be able to listen to the Tar Heels' game with Notre Dame today at South Bend over at least 61 radio stations throughout the state and four in South Carolina.

The stations carrying the game on various networks include Raleigh, WPTF, WRAL; Wilson, WVOT, WGPM; Rocky Mount, WCEC; Greensboro, WFMY, WCOG; Winston-Salem, WTOB, WSJS, WAIR; Kingston, WFTC, WELS; Tarboro, WCPS; Morehead City, WMBL; High Point, WMFR, WHPE; New Bern, WHIT; Roanoke Rapids, WCBT; Ahoskie, WRCS; Washington, WRRF; Roxboro, WRXO; Greenville, WGTC; Fayetteville, WFAL; WFNK; Sanford, WWGP; Clinton, WRRZ; Laurinburg, WEWO; Lumberton, WTSB; Wilmington, WUNI; Burlington, WBBB; WFNK; Durham, WTK; Wadesboro, WADE; Albemarle, WABZ; Lexington, WBUY; Charlotte, WSOC, WIST, and Salisbury, WSAT, WSTP.

Lowenstein Due Monday For Rally

Al Lowenstein, national director of the Students for Stevenson organization, will speak at the "Stevenson for President" rally Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Gerrard Hall.

Carolina graduate Lowenstein was president of the National Students' Association in 1950-51. He was the first Carolina student ever to hold this position, which is now filled by another UNC graduate, Richard Murphy.

Lowenstein also worked with former U. S. Senator Frank Graham.

Mayne Albright will give the main address for the rally, sponsored by the Young Democrats Committee.

Dr. Aycock Lauds Work Of Graham

Special to THE DAILY TAR HEEL.
RALEIGH, Oct. 24—The work of Dr. Frank P. Graham as United Nations representative for India and Pakistan during the past 18 months was lauded here last night by Prof. William B. Aycock of the Law School at the University of North Carolina.

Professor Aycock's speech was given at a banquet sponsored by the North Carolina State College YMCA. The speaker was introduced by Tom McDaniel of Charlotte.

Students from both Meredith and State College attended the event, which was held in connection with the observance of "United Nations Week."

Prof. Aycock said the former president of the Consolidated University of North Carolina had made "a fine contribution" toward the settlement of the dispute over the accession of the State of Jammu and Kashmir.

"On October 10, 1952," Professor Aycock said, "Graham was able to report to the Security Council progress on all points in the dispute."

The speaker pointed out, however, that Dr. Graham realizes there are "wide differences between the two parties on the issue of the number of troops to remain on each side of the ceasefire line at the end of the period of demilitarization envisaged by two United Nations Resolutions."

Carolina Grads Get Ensign Rank

Special to THE DAILY TAR HEEL.
NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 24—Among the 880 men recently receiving reserve commissions from the Navy's Officer Candidate school in Newport, were five Carolina graduates.

They were Wallace Hugh Mitchell, Fuquay Springs, a '52 graduate in business administration; James Conrad Kilcher, Ashland, Ohio, a '51 graduate in personnel management; John Hardin Council, Boone, a '51 graduate in political science; John William Zerkor of Lancaster, Penn., who received his M.A. in classics in '52, and George Dee Smith, Winston-Salem, a '51 graduate in chemistry.

Reception

The student-faculty Committee of the Student Union Activities Board will sponsor a reception tomorrow afternoon from 4 o'clock to 5:30 in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

The reception is particularly for the history and political science departments, but all interested students are invited.
