He was known for his philanthropies, and in 1947 established a $1,700,000 endowment fund, the income from which goes to 11 N. C. colleges.

He is survived by three sons, James A. Jr., Bahnsen and Howard and three daughters, Mrs. Norwood Robinson and Miss Aurelia Gray of Winston-Salem, and Mrs. John Gallaher of Charlotte.

Politics Hot As Mock Vote Day Nearing

As election day loomed near, Y court political activity gained momentum yesterday as Democratic and Republican workers made last minute bids for support of their candidates in the Monday YWCA Straw Ballot.

The straw ballot, sponsored by the Public and Campus Affairs Committees of the YWCA, will be held in the lobby of the Y between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Monday.

Mase Chapin, chairman of the voting said yesterday that ID cards will be stamped to prevent stuffing of the ballot boxes.

The Monday straw ballot is an effort to determine the trend of student opinion to the presidential election. On Tuesday, the nation will give its choice of candidates.

Has Reached Goal, Author Tells Group

By Tom Parramore "I think I have done what I set out to do."

So said Mrs. Inglis Fletcher, the noted author, before a group of some 200 people yesterday in the Bull's Head Bookshop. She spoke in connection with the latest and last in her series of seven novels dealing with the history of North Carolina.

Mrs. Fletcher's new book, "Queen's Gift," is now on sale and completes her story which has its beginnings in North Carolina's earliest history and goes through the signing of the North Carolina constitution.

In discussing the making of "Queen's Gift," Mrs. Fletcher said, "In writing a book, one must first know in which direction it is going." She explained that she begins a novel by reading all that she can find on the particular period with which it is to deal. She picks her characters directly from historical records. As a result, Mrs. Fletcher finds that she has become somewhat of a genealogist, being besieged by letters from people who either are or think they are relatives of her characters.

In the beginning, Mrs. Fletcher said that she planned to start her characters off in North Carolina and have them migrate west, but "I've never been able to get my characters out of North Carolina," she said.

Mrs. Fletcher went on to describe some of the hardships of turning out a novel. "The business of writing is work," she said. In elaborating on this, she explained.

Defense Meeting

A civil defense meeting will be held at the Town Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. Purpose of the meeting is to encourage home defense volunteers. Colonel Thomas F. Taylor, civil defense director, said.

NEWS IN BRIEF

BERLIN—The Russians refused yesterday to let the United States Army ship tanks to Berlin on the Army train which runs through Soviet-occupied territory from West Germany. The Russians passed six Patton tanks on the army train two weeks ago, but last Saturday they started to interfere with Army supplies by refusing to pass 18 Army buses on the train from Berlin to the West. It was not immediately clear whether the Russians were merely making a new move in their harassment campaign or actually sought to prevent the United States, Great Britain and France from sending new battle-ready equipment to Berlin.

CHICAGO—Seven masked and armed bandits terrorized and robbed 150 persons at a charity card party yesterday and escaped with jewelry, furs and cash worth from $75,000 to $100,000. The men, each flourishing a .45 caliber automatic pistol, forced their way into the party, ripped the blouse from one woman, slugged an elderly man with a pistol butt, stripped the guests of their valuables and escaped into the darkness.

SEOUL—Counter-attacking UN infantrymen drove three Chinese Communists off Pinpoint Hill yesterday for the sixth time in 14 hours of fighting for Sniper Ridge Peak. The allies failed in three attempts to drive the Reds from tunnels and bunkers at the northwest edge of the central front ridge.

WASHINGTON—A Democratic National Committee official has been fired for allegedly helping negotiate a $9,000,000 government contract while working for the committee. Col. Lawrence Westbrook, who has served as liaison man between the committee and members of Congress, said yesterday that there was "nothing wrong" with the contract or his negotiations. The New York Herald Tribune called it "the biggest 5 percent deal ever exposed in Washington." It said Westbrook and two other men stood to share a $450,000 commission.

NEW YORK—Korea was providing the fuel yesterday for the last-lap spurt in the presidential derby. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, pledging in speech after speech to seek an end to the Korean conflict, just as consistently was being accused by Gov. Adlai Stevenson and President Truman of playing politics with peace to win votes.

Internationals May Be Feted Thanksgiving

UNC's 96 international students will now have an opportunity to spend Thanksgiving in the comfort and plenty of American home rather than in an empty dorm, thanks to the services of the University YWCA.

Members of the World Relatedness Committee of the Y, under the chairmanship of Jane Kottmeier, Orlando, Fla., have written rectors of churches in North Carolina, Virginia and South Carolina inquiring about accommodations in homes for the students who represent 33 nations. Hosts are asked also to assume transportation partly or wholly, if at all possible, as many of the students are on very limited lines.

This project was tried on an experimental basis last year by the Y Koffee Klatsch Committee which endeavors to help international students and American students to get better acquainted. Betty Anders, Hendersonville, chairman of the Koffee Klatsch committee says the students are very enthusiastic over the idea.

International students are attending the University on a variety of scholarships. Some are here on government aid either from their own country or the U. S., while many others are students under various scholastic reciprocal agreement.

It's Time For A Change

New Bible Changes Language, Not Doctrine, Says Dr. Weigle

By Walt Dear It's time for a change—biblically speaking.

A change of phraseology, not doctrine, and a change encompassing new truths in the language discovered in more ancient documents than those used for the King James Version of the Holy Bible.

So declared Dean Luther Weigle in a talk here Wednesday night at Gerrard Hall. Dean Weigle is chairman of the committee that compiled the Revised Standard Version of the Bible which recently went on sale.

The committee's job was to revise the English translation of it, Dean Weigle pointed out. While the King James Version is aptly called the noblest monument of English prose, it has serious deficiencies, he said. The New Testament as translated for the English in 1611 is based on a few medieval manuscripts, while the committee had 450 Greek manuscripts to consider, of which 200 were drawn up in the sixth century or before.

"We were better prepared for the translation, more so than translators of any other ancient text," Dean Weigle said. About 200 manuscripts are available for Homer dating back to the ninth century, he noted. Copying errors have created misinterpretations throughout the Old and New Testaments as well as Elizabethan phraseology. In Acts 17:3 where Peter was "alleging" that Jesus was the savior of mankind, "alleging" meant "proving the case" (See BIBLE, page 3)

No Connections Texas Gal Corrupted In Politics

Special to THE DAILY TAR HEEL. HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 30—On the campus of the University of Houston they take such matters as special political funds seriously. In fact they take politics so seriously down this way that even candidates for beauty queen are feeling the heat of the 1952 campaign.

Pretty Marion Stafford, a well known campus politico with quite a platform, was ruled off the ticket running for homecoming queen because she spent more than the maximum allowed for campus campaigning. Marian was bounced for spending more than the $15 that the Student Election Council ruled "an average Joe without connections" could spend on a campaign.

Marian is a shapely art major and a seasoned office holder on the campus. She has served as ROTC sweetheart, year book beauty, junior class secretary and vice-president of the sophomore class.

When she ran for homecoming queen, she felt about it the way presidential candidates feel about the White House. It was the one contest she'd "rather win more than any other in the world." She was doing fine, too, until a couple of days before election. Then the roof fell in. The Election Council totaled up accounts and said Marian was out.

GM Is Outdated, Legislators Agree

Ken Penegar (SP) Introduces Resolution To Support Bid For New Union Building

By Louis Kraar

The Legislature sounded off last night on the need for a new Student Union Building. The request, legislators agreed, rang true with student opinion.

Ken Penegar (SP) proposed a resolution supporting a move for the new building and it was unanimously accepted. In effect, the Legislature reaffirmed a request to the Board of Trustees made earlier by a small group of students and faculty members. The resolution seemed to appropriately underline the students plea.

The present Student Union building, Graham Memorial, was constructed in 1932. The enrollment at that time was only 2,000. "We've quite outgrown our old building," said Penegar. He pointed out that Graham Memorial is in an inconvenient location since it is away from the heart of campus.

A bill was passed which provides for the Legislature to meet at Phi Hall as of the next session.

Absent legislators were Al Ballard (SP), Dee Breslow (UP), Don Carroll (UP), Blake Ingram (UP-SP), Jane Kottmeier (SP), Tom McDonald (UP), Jim Parker (UP), David Spenser (UP), Ann Street (UP), and Margaret Thompson (SP).

CHARLES EDWARD Hopkins, 21, was arrested by FBI agents as he left the Jacksonville, Fla., post office on charges of kidnaping, assaults and armed robberies. The young desperado was a member of a three-man gang that terrorized the Southeast, and is the second of the trio to be caught. UP Chooses Legislature Candidates

Legislature candidates from men's dormitory districts were nominated this week by the University Party.

The nominees are Gaither Walker, Bob Little, Dave Brown and Al Savitz from Dormitory District 1; Jimmy Babb, Bev Webb, Don Cheek and Dave Spencer from District 2; Bill Sanders and Tom Osborne from district 4, and Zack Waters, Dick Granholm, Bruce Pruitt and Bill Greer from district 5.

Mason Hawfield was nominated to fill the Legislature seat vacated by Joe Parker from district 1.

At the next meeting on Nov. 4 nominations for four Student Council seats, freshman and junior class officers, and The Daily Tar Heel editorship will be made.

Candidates To Be Named

The Bi-Partisan Selection Board will meet Monday to select candidates to run in the fall elections for Men's and Women's Councils. Candidates will be chosen for the three junior seats on Women's Council and two junior, one sophomore, one freshman and one graduate seat on Men's Council.

The board will meet at 7 o'clock Monday night in the Men's Council room in Graham Memorial. Other meetings will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The time will be announced later.

The Selection Board is made up of two representatives from the Men's Council, Women's Council, Student Party and University Party. It was formed by the two parties in an effort to keep partisan politics out of the councils.

Deadline Thursday

Deadline for all nominations for fall elections is next Thursday at 6 p.m. Elections Board Chairman Jerry Cook said yesterday.

All nominations and petitions from parties, independents and the Bi-partisan Selection Board may be turned in before then to Cook at 26 Steele, the Sigma Chi house or the Student Government office.

An Elections Board member will be in the vice-president's office in Graham Memorial between 4 and 6 p.m. Thursday to receive nominations.

Pentagon Report Says War Casualties Higher

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—The Pentagon reported today the highest seven-day toll of American casualties in Korea in almost a year, then added:

Americans may expect almost twice as large a number next week. Today's summary, the last to be issued before the elections, contained 1,278 U. S. casualties. This put the total for 28 months of war at 123,395 men killed, wounded or missing. The war now has taken the lives of 21,471 U. S. servicemen. Of these, 19,267 were killed in action, 19,997 died of wounds and 207 are among the 12,868 listed as missing.

The grim compilation released today is the largest since Nov. 9, 1951, when 1,721 casualties were reported. It was 300 above last week's announcement.

The Pentagon also flatly denied that it is purposely waiting until after the election to make such a heavy toll public. They declared they are sticking to the usual reporting methods—politics or not.

U.S. College Straw Ballots Indicate Ike

If the nation goes as most college students go, Dwight D. Eisenhower is a cinch for President.

The ACP national poll of student opinion asked students from all parts of the country: Which candidate do you want to win the presidential election? The results show a large majority for Eisenhower. Eisenhower: 57 percent; Stevenson: 33 percent; Under-cided: 9 percent; Other: 1 percent.

Despite Eisenhower's popularity, there are almost as many Democrats as there are Republicans. Thirty-two percent of those polled claim to be Democrats, 36 percent Republicans and 30 percent independents.

Only on some of the southern campuses does Stevenson have a majority. In Texas and Oklahoma, though, students call themselves Democrats but favor Ike. At the same time, it seems impossible to tell which party leans toward from the candidate he favors. There is the graduate student at the University of California who says he will vote for Stevenson but calls himself "a Taft Republican."

Seniors and graduate students, while they still favor Ike, give him a much smaller majority than do other students.

Perhaps the dilemma of those students still undecided is best summed up by a sophomore at Northeast Missouri State Teachers college. He says, "Either candidate will probably send my friends and myself to the army."
