Editor: This is in answer to a complaint about Carolina coeds not being invited to the Fall Germans this weekend.

Let me say that I can indeed feel for you because, you see, I'm confronted with a similar situation. That is—I can't seem to get a coed to go to the dance with me. My situation is typical of the majority of the male populace at Carolina.

Let's dispense with the worn-out assertion that our coeds are not wanted at social functions simply because they are not allowed to drink in fraternity houses. I've listened to this complaint for three years now. To begin with, no more than 20% of the student body are fraternity members. What about the other 80% that are not? The latter is in reference to the ordinary Joe Blow dorm resident and boys that live in town. How can he be included in or blamed for the fact that coeds can't drink in fraternity houses? But yet he must be blamed if you want to say that coeds are not wanted at social functions simply because they can't drink in fraternity houses. This isn't quite fair. The fact is that most dorm residents are willing and able to escort coeds to social functions, but they never get a chance! And I think it's true that "coeds should be insulted because the boys don't respect them enough to date them and willingly adhere to coed restrictions." Again I point to the percentage of the student body which is fraternity and ask you whether dorm men are to be included in this?

Come now, aren't you complaining simply that you don't like the rule about coeds drinking in fraternity houses? Do something about it if you don't like it. And if you can't then you should forget about it. Drinking in fraternity houses is here to stay. That's all there is to it!

Let's take a look at the real reasons why our coeds are shunned from such social functions as the Fall Germans. It's time someone gave it to you gals straight. You asked for it and now you'll get it! It's a sad case indeed that "90% of the coeds on this campus, outnumbered by men five to one, find it impossible to obtain dates for one of the biggest weekends of the year." If I were a woman under these circumstances I would hide my head in shame. The awful truth is that you have no one to blame but yourselves. As a whole, you're the most conceited, pampered, and spoiled bunch of women I've ever seen.

Why don't you girls try coming down to earth. Get your head out of the clouds. Try treating all the boys nice once in a while. You seem to think that you are God's gift to man.

There are some 3,000 plus boys in the dorms that would jump at the chance to go to a dance with our coeds if they thought they had a chance in Hell of doing so. The general consensus of opinion is that it's a 100 to one shot that the ordinary man can get a date with a Carolina coed. Whose fault is this?

Face the facts, girls. Clean up your own house before you try to blame someone else. I leave you with the following thought: "The pleasures of life are all about you. One has but to open her eyes and see and reach out to take them."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON — With the hectic election period over, the United States will have to give some attention to our badly neglected field of foreign affairs, particularly to the wave of anti-American propaganda now sweeping the various parts of the world.

For some time, due to the charges and countercharges of the candidates, positive policy by the State Department has been pretty much suspended. So, likewise, with some of our most important allies. Both Foreign Secretary Eden and Foreign Minister Schuman have delayed any important pronouncements on foreign affairs until after elections; in fact, even urged other United Nations members to postpone the General Assembly meeting until after November 4.

One of the most shocking developments which the United States will have to do something about is the barrage of scurrilous propaganda in Korea, charging us with atrocities against Korean women. The details in some cases are almost too revolting to be printed in family newspapers, but Russian and satellite publications are spewing this poison every day.

North Korean newspaper Minchu chosen reports this eerie account of U.N. troops in the district of Echuj:

"American soldiers picked all the young women out of the crowd (of natives) and locked them in empty warehouses. All the women were then raped. The American butchers began to brand patches on the women's bodies with heated irons and nails.

"All the women who resisted the ravishers had a wire put through their nose by the Americans and they were led by this wire through the village. The monsters gouged out the eyes of many women and hacked lumps of flesh out of their bodies.

"The butchers disembowled several pregnant women who fell into their hands during the temporary occupation of the town of Sariwen."

The journal New Korea also reported in a recent issue that Americans "tortured more than 700 patriots near Mount Miro-san." This lying article, obviously dictated by a higher communist echelon, went on to say:

"The murderers seared them with heated irons, knocked out their teeth, cut off their noses, and gouged out their eyes. They led the women naked through the streets and then shot them. In the village of Duchun, Pnyang district, the American bandits arranged a so-called 'exhibition of reeds.' After tying the hands and feet of 130 patriots, they bound them to trees and for a long time gave them no food. All the 130 people died.

"Once," the communist article continued, "The American butchers led out more than 30 young women and girls on the street in this village. Many of the women had children. The American monsters brought this group to the Nekyagor gorge, where a pit several meters long was already dug.

"The women were placed at the edge of the pit. One of the escorts went up to a woman with a child in her arms and bayoneted her from behind and then kicked the body into the pit. Seeing this, the remaining women attempted to save themselves by flight, but the enemy bullets overtook them. All the women were killed and their bodies thrown into the gorge."

With typical Communist relish for mixing gore and lies, the New Korea added: "In the village of Saphenni, Senen rural district, about 200 women were subjected to mockery. Outraging the defenseless women, the butchers stripped them naked and tied them up in groups of five and ten. The butchers used these women as live targets for pistol shooting.

"During the withdrawal from the district of Yanyan, the occupiers took with them a large group of the inhabitants of the district. These exhausted people were told by the Americans that they were being evacuated to a safe place. The Americans then called up aircraft by radio.

"Fighter planes dived on the defenseless people and brutally began to machine-gun them. In this way more than 300 guiltless people died."

Editor: I should like to take this opportunity to answer some of the so-called liberals on this campus who have been attacking Senator Joseph McCarthy with such reckless abandon this year.

They assert that McCarthy is more dangerous than any communist; that his methods are Gestapo-like. Yet they offer no alternative solution to the problem of ferreting communists out of government. Perhaps these pseudo-liberals do not think that this is a serious problem. I invite them to take a closer look at the foreign policy pursued by the present administration for the last eight years and then tell me that there has been no communist influence exerted in the State Department during this period.

In a column several weeks ago, Barry Farber applauded Senator McCarthy's ultimate goal but deplored his methods. I challenge Mr. Farber or anyone else to name a single innocent person who has been "irresponsibly charged" by Senator McCarthy. In his column entitled "Young Democrats" of October 29, John Sanders identifies McCarthy as "the man who recklessly accused over two hundred government employees of being communists under Congressional immunity and then did not probe a single case." May I respectfully suggest to Mr. Sanders that several persons named by McCarthy before the Tydings Committee in March 1950, and whitewashed by that committee, have since been dismissed from the government on the grounds that they were either disloyal or bad security risks.

A partial list of these persons includes John Stewart Service, Edward Posniak, Esther Brunauer, Stephen Brunauer, Peveler Meigs, Hans Lansberg, Oliver Edmund Clubb, William Remington, V. Torevin, and William T. Stone. I further challenge the accuracy of Mr. Sanders' statement that McCarthy has "accused over two hundred government employees of being communists under Congressional immunity." On February 9, 1950, McCarthy stated in a speech at Wheeling, West Virginia (and not covered by Congressional immunity) that had the names of fifty-seven persons in the State Department who were either members of or loyal to the Communist Party. In the same speech at Wheeling, McCarthy used the number 205 to indicate the number of State Department employees, referred to in a letter of Secretary of State Byrnes, who remained in the State Department despite the fact that Truman's own security officers had declared them unfit to serve. The truth of these figures was ascertained after many interviews with persons who heard the speech, by Daniel Buckley, an investigator for the Gillette-Monroney Committee which is investigating Senator Benton's charges that McCarthy is unfit to serve in the Senate. Mr. Buckley was promptly fired for his efforts. I challenge you, Mr. Sanders, to name the time and place in which McCarthy made the above statement that you attribute to him.
