Gridiron Coach Still Un-Named

Reading Is Tonight By Noted Poet

Poet Robert Frost will deliver his annual University lecture-reading, under the sponsorship of the English Department tonight at 8:30 in Hill Hall.

Frost arrived here yesterday morning, and spoke to English classes during the day.

He is staying at the home of Dr. Clifford P. Lyons.

Frost has been speaking and reading his poetry to Chapel Hill audiences for a number of years and always has appeared before capacity audiences.

Called the dean of American poets, Frost has received almost every honor an American writer can receive. He has been awarded the Pulitzer Prize four times, the Loines Prize for Poetry, the Mark Twain Medal, the gold medal of the National Institute of Arts and Letters and the silver medal of the Poetry Society of America.

He has been associated as a teacher with many American colleges and universities, and has been the recipient of a number of honorary degrees.

Frost plans to leave Chapel Hill Sunday.

Perry Makes 5 Senior Class Appointments

Five Senior Class committees and their chairmen were named yesterday by Class President Dan Perry.

Named to serve on the Finance Committee were Chairman Jim Neely, Tom Bulla, Archie Fort, Goldston Harris, Jane Webb, Don Seifert, Tom Alexander and Dick Painter.

Serving on the Publicity Committee will be Chairman Dot Smith, Bev Baylor, Walt Dear, Kent Jackson, Jim Lindley, Sue Burress and Bob Slough.

The Social Committee, which will plan the spring social activities, includes Chairman Steve Perrow, Buddy Baercke, Grace Doar, Grace Gordon, Judy Taylor, Toni Kelly, Jim Lester, Charlie Trent and Chuck Haywood.

Gene Oberdorfer was named chairman of the Gift Committee which will select the Senior Class gift to the University. Serving on that committee with him will be Rennie Biggers, Sally Bette Cunningham, Donnie Evans, Carman Nahm, Gerry Waggar and Bob Simmons.

Serving on the Senior Class Alumni Committee will be Chairman Heywood Washburn, Jane Adams, Ken Barton, Anna Beason, Sara Lyn Bonowitz, Mary Lilla Browne, Ered Coker, Ralph Craver, Ted Frankle, Buddy Heins, Gill Marsh, Clem Johnson, Virginia Hall, Teansy Matthews, Jim McLeod, Bob Neal, Jule Rosseau, Arthur Spough, Pepper Stetson, Ben Tison and Tom Wooten.

Dental Dames Society

Dr. Deborah Leary of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology who was scheduled to speak last Tuesday at the Dental Dames Society will speak instead this Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Assembly Exhibition Room in the Library.

COMING SOON

A comprehensive accounting of all scholarships given by the University is in the hands of Chancellor Robert House.

The report, ordered by the Board of Trustees last spring, was compiled by Central Records Director Edwin Lanier.

Chancellor House will release the student aid study in the next few days, as soon as the University accountants have double-checked it. Similar reports have been released by Duke and North Carolina State.

650 Students Get Flu Inoculations

By Hubert Breeze

Dr. E. McG. Hedgpeth announced yesterday that 650 students had been inoculated with flu preventive vaccine.

The Infirmary plans to continue inoculations, which are on a voluntary basis, through tomorrow, he said.

Dr. Hedgpeth said he strongly recommends that every student come to the Infirmary for an inoculation. "It is the way to prevent an epidemic that could seriously hamper the University's activities," he said.

Dr. Hedgpeth reported that

TOKYO—Red China's No. 2 boss charged yesterday that a U.S. B-29 Superfort violated Manchurian skies Jan. 12 and was shot down by Communist night fighters. U.S. Far East Air Forces confirmed the loss of the bomber but asserted it was 12 to 15 miles inside North Korea—well below the Yalu River boundary of Manchuria—when crippled.

WASHINGTON—The District of Columbia Court of Appeals ruled five to four yesterday that restaurants here legally may refuse to serve Negroes. The case tested the validity of two "lost" laws of 1872 and 1873 which barred discrimination in eating places on account of race.

WASHINGTON—Charles E. Wilson was reliably reported yesterday to be considering selling his 2,700,000 General Motors stock—which Senators said he must do in order to become Defense Secretary. A source close to the former GM president said he was still reluctant to part with the controversial stock, but "probably" would do so if no other way can be found to bail the Eisenhower administration out of the politically-embarrassing dilemma. Senators of both parties were emphatic in saying there is no other way to get Wilson confirmed. Some even thought the situation had gone so far that President Eisenhower might find it politically expedient to drop Wilson, stock sale or not, and find a new Defense Secretary.

SEOUL—American Sabrejets, again outnumbered two to one, shot down four Communist MIG-15's and damaged three others in air duels over North Korea yesterday.

The American kills came on the heels of yesterday's seven sure kills, two possible and three damaged to bring this year's MIG total to 28 destroyed, four probably destroyed and 25 damaged.

Rabbi Traces Growth Of Jewish Doctrine

"The influences of Protestantism have played a large part in Jewish reforms," Rabbi Efraim Rosenzweig said recently in evaluating the beliefs of the modern Jew.

"As people turned to Protestantism, reforms were of necessity sometimes instituted. Modern Judaism began actually with the Enlightenment. The French Revolution evolution evolved, and the two together can be credited with the start of the reforms now in use in the Jewish religion."

Speaking before the third YWCA Tuesday afternoon religious discussion group, Rabbi Rosenzweig stated that throughout the period following the French Revolution shorter services, translation of services into native languages, use of organs and choirs and Sunday rather than Saturday services became the common procedure.

Today the Jews, either accepting there are a good many patients in the Infirmary with respiratory infections, but there is no true epidemic as yet.

The reason for stressing the inoculations is that they are preventive medicine, he said. It takes two weeks to develop immunity to the disease after the inoculation. For this reason it would be of little use to administer the serum after an epidemic had started, Dr. Hedgpeth said.

One does of vaccine is sufficient, but the time element is important, he stated.

Hours for obtaining the vaccine are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday. Students are requested to enter the Infirmary side door. This is the door nearest the Medical School.

Within the past few weeks outbreaks of flu have grown to serious proportions in several sections of the country. The Midwest has been particularly hard hit. Several public schools in North Carolina have been closed temporarily as a result of the epidemic.

Campus Seen

"We've got a lot of Rhodes scholars here," the prof told the class yesterday. "Just look at any of our roads on Friday afternoon."

Students stealthily removing newspapers from Y court display racks, reading them thoroughly and then replacing the papers.

South Building steps gaining sitters everyday as Spring-in-winter weather continues.

Tickets For Puppet Plays

Tickets go on sale today at the Playmakers Business Office in Swain Hall for two performances of the Puppet Playhouse of Augusta, Ga., which will appear here on Jan. 31 at the Playmakers Theater.

"Beauty and the Beast," an entirely new adaptation of the children's story, will be presented at 2:30 p.m.; also scheduled is an unusual production of Gilbert and Sullivan's famed operetta, "The Mikado," at 8:30 p.m.

Since its opening in 1950 in the first theater building constructed for the exclusive showing of puppet plays, Puppet Playhouse productions have been marked by the high artistic standards set by the Playhouse founder and director, Louisa Mustin, who is a former Playmaker and resident of Chapel Hill.

Bold New Anti-Red Plan Seen

An associate editor of one of the country's leading magazines believes "a bold new foreign policy has been adopted by the Eisenhower Administration, designed to force a showdown with Russia."

Demaree Bess of the Saturday Evening Post expressed the opinion in a speech here last night at the opening session of the 28th annual North Carolina Newspaper Institute.

Continuing to talk about the new foreign policy, Bess said, "The new Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, made that clear to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in the week before he took office, and the first few months of the Eisenhower Administration are likely to show whether or not World War III is just around the corner."

Bess has had more than 35 years of experience as foreign correspondent in the Far East, Near East and Europe.

Bess said the question of a new show-down with Russia was made even clearer "by the open dispute on the Russian question between Mr. Dulles and George F. Kennan, jeeted by the Russians.

"Mr. Kennan is one of my oldest and most respected friends, and I have talked with Mr. Dulles on several occasions in the course of my work. I have therefore found especially interesting. Of course the clash between the two men both men are of the highest integrity, and their differences are differences of principle and judgment."

Bess said the issue seemed to him to be whether the new Soviet empire can be overthrown by Dulles and Kennan argue that it means "short of all-out war. Both can, but Dulles is less patient than Kennan and wants to force the issue," he said. "Kennan believes that if we 'contain' the Soviet empire within its present borders, it will sooner or later fall of its own weight or at least lose its expansive force. Dulles says we must promise 'liberation' right now to peoples enslaved by communism.

"What disturbs Kennan about Dulles' 'liberation' policy is that it amounts to a declaration of all-out war, just as Franklin Roosevelt's proclaimed aim to 'destroy Hitlerism' long before Pearl Harbor was equivalent to a declaration of war. That also disturbs me. I suspect that we are beginning to all-out war while pretending that we are keeping out."

Bess said that "a continuous battle has been raging between the reporter, on the one side, and what might be called anti-reporters on the other—proponents of every variety, crusaders with causes. It is the reporter's function to prevent people from fooling themselves, to see that at least the facts are given to them.

"Among other examples, I cite that of a friend I have known intimately for 25 years, John Carter Vincent, whose dismissal from the State Department recently was urged by the President's Loyalty Review Board. In my opinion, this is not only a gross miscarriage of justice but a threat to every reporter in the United States. The most shocking feature of this affair was the reasons given by the Loyalty Review Board for its ruling on Mr. Vincent.

The sessions, some of which are being held at Duke University, will continue through tomorrow noon.

GEORGE BARCLAY

Next head football coach?

Confirmation Is Expected Momentarily

By Biff Roberts

The official naming of Carolina's next head football coach, repeatedly rumored to be present assistant George Barclay, was all but affirmed last night. The final decision should come some time today.

The naming needed only the approval of President Gordon Gray, Chancellor Robert House, and the executive committee of the board of trustees before becoming official. All members of the executive committee had not been contacted last night, however, the announcement was held off another day until approval could be secured from the rest of the committee.

The recommendation of the athletic council was presented to Chancellor House on Wednesday by Dr. A. W. Hobbs, chairman of the football committee of the council. It was believed last night that both House and Gray, plus several members of the executive group, had ratified the appointment.

It has been widely speculated for the past weeks that Barclay would be the new coach, in that Marvin Bass, formerly of the Washington Redskins, and Paul Serverin, former Carolina all-american now at Randolph-Macon, would come here as two of his top assistants.

Bass, a former aide to the resigned Carl Snavely, got his release from the Washington professional club on Tuesday, reportedly to sign here. He was a line coach for the Redskins, and would have that job here if chosen.

Carolina has been without a coach for six weeks, but it seems certain now that the announcement will come today. Coach Snavely resigned on Tuesday, Dec. 6, and the athletic council has searched since then to find a replacement.

Barclay was always at the top of the list in the search, and according to some sources, was never rated less than second.

He came here last year from Washington and Lee to help Snavely switch from the single wing to the split-T formation. He had great success at W & L, leading the Generals to the Southern Conference championship in 1950, and went to the Gator Bowl the same year.

Bass served here as line aide in 1949, went to William and Mary as an assistant in 1950, took over as head coach there the next year, and then moved to Washington this past season.

Barclay was an all-american here in 1935 and 1936. He helped coach at V.M.I., Oberlin, Dartmouth and Maryland before moving to Washington and Lee. It was not disclosed whether a single appointment would be made or whether assistant forces would be named too, but most observers felt that at least two men would be officially accepted.

The whole board of trustees, which meets next month, will have to give full ratification to the appointment, but its vote usually adheres closely to that of the executive board.

Other candidates who have been mentioned in the race, but who are now considered as out of the running, are Jim Tatum, Lou Holcomb, Art Guepe, and Jim Gill.

MONEY DAYS

The Consolidated University will have its day, budgetarily speaking, Feb. 4.

At that time the Joint Appropriations Committee of the State Legislature will hear its plea for larger appropriations than have been earmarked for the three educational institutions.

The hearing will be held in the Revenue Building, Raleigh.

Students Won't Be In Rest Of Money-Meets

The University Scholarship Committee met again Wednesday to continue its study of the allocation of campus store profits.

It was learned that no action was taken on a previously reported idea of granting a set percentage of the profits to athletes.

When asked yesterday if students would take part in the next session of the committee, Chairman D. D. Carroll said they would not. "The students have already presented their case," he said.

Any plan determined by this committee regarding the use of profits will have to gain the approval of the Administration. Several top sources have expressed doubt that the Administration would approve giving a fixed yearly percentage of the subsidization of athletics.

Lenoir, Y

Paper Sales May Be Cut

The selling of newspapers at Lenoir Hall and the Y may be discontinued if the money boxes continue to check short, according to the students who are in charge of the papers.

Bruce Martindale, Doug Daley and Jim Dinsmore, three of five daily newspaper salesmen on campus, reported yesterday that about $4 a day is being lost among the five. Some of the money has been lost at the Y but most of it has disappeared from Lenoir Hall, the trio said.

When the Lenoir Hall cash boxes were kept locked one quarter the salesmen lost only about 25 or 30 cents a day. However, when the boxes are left unlocked to facilitate making change, the boys are losing several dollars daily.

The salesmen explained the boxes have to be left open for change making because the cigar stand cashier in the dining hall cannot handle the volume of students needing change to buy a paper.

Two students were expelled several years ago after they were found guilty of taking money from the newspaper boxes.

Delegates Needed

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Youth Conference will be held at Bennett College in Greensboro Feb. 7.

Interested students from Carolina have been invited to attend and observe the conference which will stress the part that youth must play in the racial revolution.

Ham Horton has requested that any students who wish to attend this meeting come by the student government office.

Adams Appointed

Student body president Ham Horton announced yesterday that Jimmy Adams, junior from Warren, has been appointed to the president's cabinet.

Adams belongs to Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, is a two time member of the Student Council, and past president of the Carolina delegation to the consolidated university student council.

Horton said that Adams will be in charge of committee work.

Heart Attack Proves Fatal For Gouger

John Lewis Gouger, University utilities accountant, died of a heart attack yesterday morning about 10 o'clock. He was 39 years old.

Mr. Gouger suffered the attack at his office in the Utilities Building. He was taken to his home and died there.

He graduated from the University in 1937 with a degree in commerce and began work in the Utilities Department at that time. He was a member of the First Baptist Church here and the North Carolina Association of Certified Public Accountants.

Mr. Gouger is survived by his wife Jessie Sifford Gouger, and two children, Judy and John. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

NAVY BALL

The annual Navy Ball will be held at the Naval Armory Friday night from 9 until 12 o'clock, featuring the Duke Cavaliers.

There will be a caberet style area set up for refreshment. The queen and her court will be chosen by an outstanding Chapel Hill celebrity and crowned at intermission.

Chairman for the dance is Jake Rountree. He is assisted by June Lovelace, Rufus Sherrill, and Carl Litencenger.

SUAB Calendar Deadline

The deadline for information for the February issue of the SUAB Calendar is 1 o'clock Monday. Information can be sent to Box 30, called in to 5641, SUAB office, or brought in. All organizations are asked to get information in early.
