Women Trustees View Life Of Carolina Coeds

By Jennie Lynn

For the first time in Carolina's history women Trustees are on campus "rooming" in the girls' dorms, for a get-acquainted visit. The ten ladies:

Mrs. Albert Lathrop, Asheville; Mrs. Charles Tillett, Charlotte; Mrs. Grace Taylor Rodenbough, Walnut Cove; Mrs. J. W. Copeland, Murfreesboro; Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Sr., Greenville; Mrs. B. C. Parker, Albemarle; Mrs. Charles Stanford, Chapel Hill; Mrs. May Tomlinson, High Point; Mrs. Edward M. Anderson, West Jefferson; and Mrs. R. S. Ferguson, Taylorsville, arrived yesterday afternoon looking forward to a busy schedule and informal get-togethers with as many coeds as possible.

They went in pairs to each of the five dorms, to spend the night as roommates. In their rooms awaited handbooks, copies of Pan Hellenic pamphlets, flower arrangements, and corsages made by the Chapel Hill garden club.

Each couple was met by a dorm hostess who accompanied them to dinner in Spencer Hall with students and some members of the University Administration. Wilson Wells introduced the ladies at the dinner.

At 8 o'clock they attended meetings of the Women's Residence Council, Women's Honor Council and the YWCA. The responsibilities and procedures of these groups were presented. These meetings were followed by a short Panhellenic Council discussion at the Alpha Gamma Delta House and a meeting of the Independent Coed Board in Alderman Hall.

In each dorm after closing hours the coeds had a study-break during which refreshments were served and students met and talked with the Trustees. Each was presented with a Southern cookbook.

This morning at 9:40 there will be a press conference in the Dean of Women's office, a trip to the Nurse's Residence and the Gym.

The highlight of today's schedule will be a luncheon in Lenoir at 1 o'clock to which all coeds are invited. Chancellor House will make introductions and Betty Otto Anderson will preside.

The School of Business Administration will be host at 3:30 for the University Women's Club Tea in Carroll Hall.

Debate Team Shares Honors In First Conference Tourney

The negative UNC debate team of Ken Myers and Al Levine shared top honors with Duke and Wake Forest in the Atlantic Coast Conference Meet held at Charlottesville, Va. this past weekend.

The Wake Forest Affirmative Team took first place, with a four-one record, their only loss being at the hands of Myers and Levine. Carolina's negative also had a four-one record.

South Carolina's negative and affirmative teams and Virginia's negative team tied for second place. The topic of debate was a free trade policy for the United States.

The tournament marked the first ACC Conference Debate Meet ever held, and a permanent forensic organization was established.

The second annual contest of six ACC schools is set for Carolina on April 29. Schools in the conference are Maryland, Virginia, Duke, Wake Forest, South Carolina, and North Carolina. Clemons and N. C. State are in the ACC, but did not send debate teams.

The record for the North Carolina Debate Team this year is New York Invitational, at New York; second place.

South Carolina Invitational, at Columbia; second place.

Atlantic Coast Conference; First Place (tie).

Frosh Camp Asks Workers For Next Fall

Plans are already underway for next fall's Freshman Camp, planning committee member Bob Young reported yesterday, and counselors for the encampment are needed.

Young said the planning group started mapping out plans last Friday for the eighth annual camp. "The committee needs good counselors for the camp," said Young, "and anyone who wants to be a counselor should please register at the YMCA."

He said the planning committee will meet again next Friday night at 7 o'clock in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial, and all who are interested in helping with the camp are welcome to attend.

Freshman Camp is usually held three days before freshman orientation, in September, and is sponsored by the YMCA.

May Day Queen Voting Will Be Held Tomorrow

Final voting for the May Queen will be held tomorrow night in all women's dormitories and sorority houses.

The ballot will list twenty coeds, from which eleven will be chosen. The coed who receives the largest number of votes will be the May Queen, and the next ten will be members of her court.

Dr. Bostian Is Installed At N. C. State

RALEIGH, Feb. 22 (AP). With a pledge to help North Carolina State College "achieve its high destiny," Dr. Carey H. Bostian today was formally installed as chancellor of the college.

"Everything we seek to do has a direct bearing on the economic development of our state and the prosperity of our people," The Rowan County native declared after taking the oath succeeding John W. Harrelson.

Dr. Bostian, a member of the college faculty since 1930, has been on the job since Sept. 1. Harrelson retired after heading the college for 20 years.

Gov. Umstead, chairman of the board of trustees of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, formally installed the new chancellor at ceremonies in William Neal Reynolds Coliseum on the college campus. Chief Justice M. V. Barnhill of the State Supreme Court administered the oath.

Dr. Bostian delivered his inaugural address following the charge by President Gordon Gray of the Consolidated University, of which State College is a branch. The University Board of Trustees, which met on the campus here earlier today, attended the ceremonies.

Dr. Bostian declared State College "has unique responsibilities and opportunities not held by any other college in our state." He said these duties include training leaders for agriculture and industry and making known to farmers and industrialists more efficient techniques of production.

In addition to students granted undergraduate and graduate degrees, extension courses and correspondence instruction, Dr. Bostian said the college spreads knowledge through the Agricultural Extension Service, and through its various schools and departments to industry and state government agencies.

A daily radio farm program which will begin March 1 and television operations scheduled to begin next Sept. 1 will increase the college's ability to reach the people of the state, he added.

Dr. Bostian said teaching at the college should be continued with accustomed high standards and "perhaps a little more emphasis on the development of leadership and resourcefulness in our students and a little less on vocational skills and techniques."

For professors with both research and teaching duties, Dr. Bostian warned, "excessive emphasis on research" may result in neglect of teaching. "Our faculty will be encouraged to try new ideas in their teaching, and to introduce values of liberal education in all courses," he promised.

He thanked University trustees for efforts in helping meet the needs of the college. "You are the board of directors of a corporation spending around 12 millions of dollars each year in this campus," he said. "The citizens of the state are stockholders in this corporation, and we who administer, teach, and conduct research are the employees."

Phi To Debate 'Century Bill'

The Phi Assembly will discuss a bill tonight at 8 o'clock supporting the nullification of an act by Congress by the State of South Carolina prior to the Civil War. The topic is the first of several past issues which the Phi has decided to debate.

Dick Iobest, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, called the legislation a "century bill." The bill refers to the famous rebellion in South Carolina against the high tariff act passed in 1828.

Anyone who is interested in the debate is invited to attend the meeting in Phi Hall on the fourth floor of New East.

Edwin Gill Will Speak To Demos

North Carolina's State Treasurer, Edwin Gill, will speak in Gerrard Hall Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the second of a "meet the candidate series" sponsored by the Young Democrats Club.

Gill, who was appointed State Treasurer by Governor Umstead, is a candidate for election to the same office, subject to the Democratic Primary in May. Josh James of Raleigh is Gill's only opposition at the present time.

Prior to his appointment as treasurer, Gill was U. S. Collector of Internal Revenue. He was private secretary to former Governor O. Max Gardner during his term of office and has been both Commissioner of Paroles and Commissioner of Revenue for North Carolina.

"A dinner at the Pines at 6 o'clock will precede Gill's talk," said Al House, Hobgood, YDC president. "All Democrats interested should make reservations at the Pines."

The YDC Executive Committee pointed out yesterday that the YDC as an organization does not support any candidate or faction within the Democratic Party. It is strictly neutral in the primary, but unites behind the Democratic candidates in the general election.

The constitution of the YDC forbids the organization from taking a stand for any particular candidate or faction of the party and pledges the allegiance of the YDC only to the Democratic candidates as selected in the state primaries and national conventions. Individual members of the YDC are free to support whom-ever they please in the primary.

The current program of the YDC is to present the candidates to the voters in a "meet the candidate series" which has already brought senatorial candidate Kerr Scott here, and will bring Senator Alton Lennon here in April.

Talk On Jobs Is Scheduled For Tomorrow

Paul W. Boynton will discuss job opportunities in a talk tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Gerrard Hall before all interested seniors. Mr. Boynton's employment supervisor for Socony-Vacuum Oil Company of New York.

Boynton has had many years experience in interviewing college students for positions with Socony-Vacuum and speaking before student groups on vocational topics. He is the author of a number of books including "Six Ways to Get a Job" and "Selecting the New Employee."

Beginning as a sales trainee with Socony-Vacuum after graduation from Syracuse University, Boynton moved into the personnel department and then to the company's headquarters in New York City in 1930. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi, the American Society for Engineering Education, and the American College Personnel Association.

Di To Debate On J. K. Polk

"That James Knox Polk was a great president of the U.S." will be the resolution presented to the Dialectic Senate tonight at 8 o'clock, third floor, Di Hall.

In April of 1847 the Di declared that the Polk Administration deserved more censure than praise for its course regarding the Mexican War. Senators and guests supporting the present resolution are expected to praise his efforts to avoid the incident.

The public is invited to attend and take part in the debate.

UNC Students At YRC Meet

UNC Young Republicans were represented at the Young Republican State Convention which met in Charlotte over the weekend by Carolina students Jerry Campbell, Lewis Brumfield, Rey Longyear, and David Mundy.

Rep. Glen Lipscomb of California substituted for Rep. Charles R. Jonas, North Carolina's only Republican Congressman, as keynote of the convention. Rep. Jonas was ill in a Washington hospital.

Pointing to a forty per cent increase in the number of Young Republican Clubs in the state, Congressman Lipscomb called for even more political action on the precinct level.

Leonard Hall, Republican Party National Chairman, made a five-hour flying visit to Charlotte for the annual state Lincoln Day Dinner.

New officers for 1954-55 include Jerry Campbell, UNC, elected to a vice-presidency post.

Germany Will Be Subject Of Supper Forum Tonight

"Germany—The New Generation's View" is the topic for discussion at tonight's World Understanding Supper Forum at 6 o'clock in Lenoir Hall, second floor front dining room.

On the panel will be Nikolaus Bruck, Vienna, Austria; Wolfgang Holstein, Konigsburg, East Prussia; Hans K. Kandlbinder, Passau-on-the-Danube, Bavaria; and Rolf Metzner, Marburg, Germany. Miss Alice Hicks will be the moderator.

The forum, sponsored by the YMCA and YWCA, is open to the public. If you wish to have supper with the group, go through the cafeteria line at 5:30 and carry your tray to the second floor. The discussion starts at 6 and ends at 7 o'clock.

No Lost Letters

Those letters students see sticking in the moulding around dormitory mailboxes may, like the carrier pigeon, become extinct.

President Bob Gorham announced yesterday a policy of remaining letters which are not properly addressed or not picked up. The policy is in the form of a poster, to be hung at each dorm postoffice, that states:

"Be considerate of your neighbor. Letters not properly addressed or not picked up please mark: Box 30 and remain."

String Concert Will Be Given In Hill Tonight

The University String Quartet will present a program of string music in Hill Hall tonight at 8 o'clock as part of the bi-weekly series of concerts given by the Music Department.

The quartet is composed of Professor Edgar Alden and Miss Jean Heard on the violins, Dorothy Alden on the viola, and Mary Gray Clarke on the violoncello. They will be assisted by Melvin Bernstein at the piano.

Featured on the program will be Brahams' "Quartet in B Flat" (opus 67), Haydn's "Quartet in G" (opus 76), and Shostakovich's Piano Quintet (opus 57). Mrs. Alden will be featured in the Quartet in B flat in the first movement and the finale.

The quintet by Shostakovich is noted for its duets and trios, with all five instruments at the same time being a rarity. This number had its first performance in Moscow in 1940.

The quartet in G is the first of six quartets written by Haydn around 1797, and was written about the same time as the oratorio "Creation."

All of the members in the quartet are known to music lovers in Chapel Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Alden are well-known locally, having appeared in concerts here before. Miss Heard, a resident of Chapel Hill also, is a member of the University Symphony Orchestra. Miss Clarke is a graduate instructor in the String Department here, while Bernstein is a graduate assistant in piano.

Eviction Notice For Whitehead Is Cleared Up

Despite campus rumor and a notice from the Housing Office, medical and dental students will not have to move out of Whitehead Dorm before their exam session is over in June.

J. E. Wadsworth of the Housing Office said yesterday that notices had been sent out to Whitehead residents saying that they would have to be moved out after June 2, which the University catalog says is the last day of exams and classes.

"Then," Wadsworth continued, "we discovered that medical and dental students didn't finish up until the 5th or 6th." Since then the Housing Office has sent out another notice telling Whitehead dwellers that they can stay until they have finished their exams.

But they can stay no longer because the dorm is going to be used for parents and alumni during graduation week and the Extension Service during summer school.

The Neo-Scholastic discussion group will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Grail Room. GM: Francis Modigan, S. J. will lead a discussion on St. Thomas and modern sociology.

Today Is Our Birthday

Exactly 61 years ago today the University of North Carolina read its first copy of The Tar Heel—a four-page, four-column newspaper, with no pictures or headlines as they are known today.

Since 1893, the student newspaper has lived—and sometimes struggled—through many quarters and one semester of no-news days, vicious opposition, rationed newsprint and frustrated night editors. But it managed to become a bi-weekly in 1909, back to a weekly in 1911 ("Facts are facts and bills can't be paid every day."), and finally became a daily in 1929.

Today, The Daily Tar Heel boasts a circulation of 6,200, four pages (six on Fridays), seven columns and an Associated Press state wire.

RALEIGH, Feb. 22—The Board of Trustees today approved the creation of a new office in the Consolidated University set-up and heard changes outlined for each branch of the University.

The Consolidated University office now held by William D. Carmichael, controller, will be divided into two offices. Carmichael will be retained as finance officer.

The new office of business manager and treasurer will be filled when the State Budget Commission approves the $15,000 salary which will go with the position.

President Gordon Gray, in proposing the changes, asked that the finance officer and the provost be allowed to retain the title of vice president.

Besides the changes in the consolidated offices, Gray outlined certain internal changes at UNC, State College, and Woman's College.

The trustees must act on any changes proposed for the consolidated offices, but not so on the internal changes at each of the branches.

All the proposed changes were the result of a year-long survey conducted by the management firm of Cresap, McCormick and Paget on recommendation by Gray and the three chancellors and on the approval of the executive committee of the Board of Trustees in November, 1952.

"The overall purpose of the survey," said Gray, "was to assist the Woman's College, State College and the University at Chapel Hill in insuring the most productive and beneficial use of all their resources. The survey was not made with any idea of retrenchment."

The proposals for internal changes in the individual branches would bring about a sharp reduction in the number of department heads and other officials reporting to the chancellor. These proposals are "still under study," according to Gray, and few final decisions have been made.

Student affairs, academic affairs, business affairs, and external affairs (extension service, news bureau, and Alumni Association) will be coordinated under four deans or vice chancellors.

The changes would reduce the number of people reporting to the chancellor from 54 to five at Chapel Hill, from 28 to four at Woman's College, and from 22 to four at State College. The main effect of the change would be to place clear responsibility upon the chancellors of UNC, State and WC for all activities on their respective campuses, Gray said.

Although it has not been definitely established yet, it is believed that the General College at UNC will be placed in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Gray said yesterday that the changes for the various branches were "still under study" and that (See TRUSTEES, page 4)
